Dhaka Megacity Dhaka Megacity:

Dhaka Megacity Ashraf Dewan, Robert Corner, 2013-09-09 The book Dhaka Megacity Geospatial Perspectives on Urbanisation Environment and Health presents the use of geospatial techniques to address a number of environmental issues including land use change climatic variability urban sprawl population density modelling flooding environmental health water quality energy resources urban growth modelling infectious diseases and the quality of life Although the work is focused on the Megacity of Dhaka in Bangladesh the techniques and methods that are used to research these issues can be utilized in any other areas where rapid population growth coupled with unplanned urbanization is leading to environmental degradation The book is useful for people working in the area of Geospatial Science Urban Geography Environmental Management and International Development Since the chapters in the book cover a range of environmental issues this book describes useful tools for assisting informed decision making particularly in developing countries Floods in a Megacity Ashraf

Dewan, 2013-03-01 Flooding is one of the most devastating natural hazards in the world Available records suggest that both flood frequency and severity are on the rise and this is likely to worsen in the context of climate change As population infrastructure and poverty grow rapidly in developing countries particularly in urban agglomerations of 10 million people or more floods could cause widespread devastation economic damage and loss of life Assessment of vulnerability and risk from naturally occurring phenomena is therefore imperative in order to achieve urban sustainability This book uses geospatial techniques to evaluate hazards risk and vulnerability at a metropolitan scale in a data scarce country An empirical study was performed using remote sensing GIS and census data This research offers a new approach to mapping population infrastructures and communities at risk which can greatly contribute to the deeper understanding of flood disasters in a rapidly expanding megacity Examples shown in this book are from Dhaka Megacity however the techniques and methods can easily be implemented in medium to large cities of similar characteristics The book is essential reading for hazard researchers geospatial scientists disaster management professionals geographers urban planners and social scientists Ashraf M Dewan is currently a Lecturer in the Department of Spatial Sciences at Curtin University Western Australia on leave from his substantive position as Associate Professor in the Geography Environment Department at the University of Dhaka Bangladesh

Transforming Bangladesh Raquib Ahmed, Abdullah Al-Maruf, J. Craig Jenkins, 2023-11-14 This book focuses on the transformation of Bangladesh in respect to its people geography economy and environment The authors discuss current problems such as vulnerability caused by environmental degradation in Bangladesh but also opportunities of this rapidly changing country The book explains how the country is rapidly transforming from a rural subsistence agrarian based economic system to a new economic partner contributing to global processes Bangladesh is presented as an example for the changes in the Global South where a mismatch is often observed in linking resources and activities with environmental sustainability possibly due to insufficient base line knowledge As faster growth is marginalizing resources to increase the

GDP the sustainability of resource exploitation is being questioned The authors describe the vulnerable situation caused by possible sea level rise soil degradation biodiversity loss climate extremities urbanization and population displacement This volume offers comprehensive knowledge about the geography and environment of Bangladesh and aims to help readers further investigate the issues and work on solutions The book appeals to academics professionals and students at all levels interested in Bangladesh as well as environmental problems and geographical issues in a rapidly transforming country

Health in Megacities and Urban Areas Alexander Krämer, Mobarak Hossain Khan, Frauke Kraas, 2011-07-06 Diverse driving forces processes and actors are responsible for different trends in the development of megacities and large urban areas Under the dynamics of global change megacities are themselves changing On the one hand they are prone to increasing socio economic vulnerability due to pronounced poverty socio spatial and political fragmentation sometimes with extreme forms of segregation disparities and conflicts On the other hand megacities offer positive potential for global transformation e g minimisation of space consumption highly effective use of resources efficient disaster prevention and health care options if good strategies were developed At present in many megacities and urban areas of the developing world and the emerging economies the quality of life is eroding Most of the megacities have grown to unprecedented size and the pace of urbanisation has far exceeded the growth of the necessary infrastructure and services As a result an increasing number of urban dwellers are left without access to basic amenities like clean drinking water fresh air and safe food Additionally social inequalities lead to subsequent and significant intra urban health inequalities and unbalanced disease burdens that can trigger conflict and violence between subpopulations The guiding idea of our book lies in a multi and interdisciplinary approach to the complex topic of megacities and urban health that can only be adequately understood when different disciplines share their knowledge and methodological tools to work together We hope that the book will allow readersto deepen their understanding of the complex dynamics of urban and megacity populations through the lens of public health geographical and other research perspectives

Sustainable Smart Cities and Smart Villages Research

Miltiadis D. Lytras, Anna Visvizi, 2020-03-16 Over the last years, sophisticated policy making propositions for sustainable rural and urban development have been recorded. The smart village and smart city concepts promote a human-centric vision for a new era of technology-driven social innovation. This Special Issue offers a useful overview of the most recent developments in the frequently overlapping fields of smart city and smart village research. A variety of topics including well-being, happiness, security, open democracy, open government, smart education, smart innovation, and migration have been addressed in this Special Issue. They define the direction for future research in both domains. The organization of the relevant debate is aligned around three pillars: Section A Sustainable Smart City and Smart Village Research Foundations; Clustering Smart City Services; Perceptions, Expectations, and Responses; Smart City Development and Residents Well-Being; Analysis of Social Networking Service Data for Smart Urban Planning. Section B Sustainable Smart City and Smart Village Research Case Studies on Rethinking Security, Safety, Well-being, and Happiness; Exploring a Stakeholder-Based Urban Densification and Greening Agenda for Rotterdam Inner City; Accelerating the Transition to a Liveable Low Carbon City; The Impact of the Comprehensive Rural Village Development Program on Rural Sustainability in Korea; Analyzing the Level of Accessibility of Public Urban Green Spaces to Different Socially Vulnerable Groups of People; Consumers' Preference and Factors Influencing Offal Consumption in the Amathole District, Eastern Cape, South Africa; Sustainable Tourism: A Hidden Theory of the Cinematic Image; A Theoretical and Visual Analysis of the Way of St. James; Future Development of Taiwan's Smart Cities from an Information Security Perspective; Towards a Smart and Sustainable City with the Involvement of Public Participation: The Case of Wrocław.
