Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions John Donne, 1923 John Donne's "Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions" John Donne, Elizabeth Savage, 1975 Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions John Donne, 2015-07-15 This classic John Donne text is offered here together with Death's Duel John Donne's Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions John Donne, Elizabeth Savage, 1975 DEVOTIONS UPON EMERGENT OCCASIONS - Together with DEATH'S DUEL John Donne, 2019-12-12 Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions Together with Death's Duel is a 1624 prose work by the English writer John Donne who dedicated it to the future King Charles I. It is a series of reflections that were written as Donne recovered from a serious illness believed to be either typhus or relapsing fever. Donne does not clearly identify the disease in his text. He describes this as a preternatural birth in returning to life from this sickness. The work consists of twenty-three parts: devotions describing each stage of the sickness. Each part is further divided into a Meditation, an Expostulation, and a Prayer. This series of meditations on illness were published following John Donne's sickness during late November and early December of 1623 when he either had typhus or relapsing fever. Each of his ruminations are recorded in groups of three: meditation, expostulation, and prayer. Donne's insights about the variable, therefore miserable, condition of man will always be pertinent as long as humans continue to fall prey to disease. The reading is a little slow at times, but there are some fine pieces in this book, including his famous meditation XVII, "No man is an island," that Hemingway quoted when he wrote FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS. Even if you don't read all of the essays, this book is worth obtaining just to pore over meditation XVII.

Devotions Upon Emergent Occasions and Death's Duel John Donne, 1999-12-07 John Donne (1572-1631) is best known as the greatest English metaphysical poet. But there was another dimension to Donne's life and writing that is less well known: it is no less profound and beautiful. Born into an aristocratic Catholic family, Donne joined the Church of England at the age of twenty-one out of fear of persecution. At the age of forty-three, he gave up his preoccupations with secular prestige and devoted himself utterly to religion. It was eight years later, when battered with fever, the deaths of his beloved wife, several of his children, and many dear lifelong friends, he composed Devotions upon Emergent Occasions. There is both trauma and great drama in this extended meditation on the meaning of mortality, the possibility of salvation, and the true nature of the passage of eternal life. With a new introduction by poet and biographer Andrew Motion, one of the most revered books of Christian devotion speaks to us again of the higher aspirations of man and the always-present possibility of a relationship with God. This long out-of-print edition also contains Donne's last sermon, Death's Duel, as well as the short, colorful biography of him written by his contemporary Izaak Walton.
