USE/RELATIONSHIP: This report consists of five forms containing data for measuring contractors' cost and schedule performance on Department of Defense acquisition contracts. Form 1 (Sample Form 1) provides data to measure cost and schedule performance by product-oriented Work Breakdown Structure (WBS) elements, the hardware, software, and services the Government is buying. Form 2 (Sample Form 2) provides the same data by the contractor's organization (functional or integrated product team type structure). Form 3 (Sample Form 3) provides the budget baseline plan against which performance is measured. Form 4 (Sample Form 4) provides staffing forecasts for correlation with the budget plan and cost estimates. Form 5 (Sample Form 5) is a narrative report used to explain significant cost and schedule variances and other identified contract problems and topics.

CPR data shall be used by DoD system managers to: (i) integrate cost and schedule performance data with technical performance measures, (ii) identify the magnitude and impact of actual and potential problem areas causing significant cost and schedule variances, and (iii) provide valid, timely program status information to higher management.

The CPR is a management report. It provides timely, reliable summary-level data with which to assess current and projected contract performance. The CPR's primary value to the Government is its ability to reflect current contract status and reasonably predict future program performance. It is important that the CPR be as accurate as possible so it may be used for its intended purpose, which is to facilitate informed, timely decisions. It will be used by the DoD component staff, including program managers, engineers, cost estimators, and financial management personnel, to confirm, quantify, and track known or emerging contract problems and serve as a basis for communicating with the contractor. The CPR data shall accurately reflect how work is being planned, performed, and measured and shall be consistent with the actual contract status.
