Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Institute of Medicine,Board on the Health of Select Populations,Committee on the Assessment of Ongoing Efforts in the Treatment of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder,2014-06-17 Posttraumatic stress disorder PTSD is one of the signature injuries of the U S conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq but it affects veterans of all eras It is estimated that 7 20% of service members and veterans who served in Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom may have the disorder PTSD is characterized by a combination of mental health symptoms re experiencing of a traumatic event avoidance of trauma associated stimuli adverse alterations in thoughts and mood and hyperarousal that last at least 1 month and impair functioning PTSD can be lifelong and pervade all aspects of a service member's or veteran's life including mental and physical health, family and social relationships, and employment. It is often concurrent with other health problems such as depression, traumatic brain injury, chronic pain, substance abuse disorder, and intimate partner violence. The Department of Defense (DoD) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provide a spectrum of programs and services to screen for, diagnose, treat, and rehabilitate service members and veterans who have or are at risk for PTSD. The 2010 National Defense Authorization Act asked the Institute of Medicine to assess those PTSD programs and services in two phases. The Phase 1 study, Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations: Initial Assessment, focused on data gathering. Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations: Final Assessment is the report of the second phase of the study. This report analyzes the data received in Phase 1 specifically to determine the rates of success for each program or method. Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations: Final Assessment considers what a successful PTSD management system is and whether and how such a system is being implemented by DoD and VA. This includes an assessment of what care is given and to whom, how effectiveness is measured, what types of mental health care providers are available, what influences whether a service member or veteran seeks care, and what are the costs associated with that care. This report focuses on the opportunities and challenges that DoD and VA face in developing, implementing, and evaluating services and programs in the context of achieving a high performing system to care for service members and veterans who have PTSD. The report also identifies where gaps or new emphases might be addressed to improve prevention of screening for diagnosis and treatment and rehabilitation for the disorder. The findings and recommendations of Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations: Final Assessment will encourage DoD and VA to increase their efforts in moving toward a high performing, comprehensive, integrated PTSD management strategy that addresses the needs of current and future service members, veterans, and their families. Critical-Care Nurses'

Perceived Leadership Practices, Organizational Commitment, and Job Satisfaction Ngozi I. Moneke, 2016-12-28. My writing of this book has evolved over the past thirty-six years of professional nursing practice. These were my first efforts as an author, which were published in 2013: Promoting a Culture of Safety: Preventing Central Line Infections in Weill Cornell Medical Center, which used a performance improvement process to lower the rate at which critically ill patients in cardiac care developed central line infections; and Factors Influencing Critical Nurses' Perception of their Overall Job Satisfaction: An Empirical Study, which used a correctional approach and was statistically analyzed to determine the perception of critical care nurses of their manager's leadership style and its effect on their job satisfaction. Having been on the receiving end of leadership behaviors gave me a firsthand opportunity to observe these diverse nurse leaders at both extremes of the spectrum, from laissez-faire leadership style to dictatorial leadership style and everything in between. Each encounter has enriched my life immeasurably. My personal and professional experiences, as well as the knowledge I gained from completing my dissertation all compelled me to write this book to share with novice managers and those aspiring for a leadership role an awareness and provide them with some valuable information needed as they forge their career paths into a leadership role knowing that one of the keys to effective leadership is the ability to stay intellectually curious and committed to learning with the understanding that new knowledge can come from variety of sources and to make it a point of duty to be always on a lookout for new knowledge

Breathing Matters Magdalena Górska, 2016-05-16 Breathing Matters introduces this phenomenon as a forceful potentiality for feminist intersectional theories politics and social and environmental justice By analyzing the material and discursive as well as the natural and cultural enactments of breath in black lung disease phone sex work and anxieties and panic attacks Breathing Matters proposes a nonuniversalizing and politicized understanding of embodiment In this approach human bodies are conceptualized as agential actors of intersectional politics Magdalena Górska argues that struggles for breath and for breathable lives are matters of differential forms of political practices in which vulnerable and quotidian corpomaterial and corpo affective actions are constitutive of politics Set in the context of feminist poststructuralist and new materialist and postconstructionist debates Breathing Matters offers a discussion of human embodiment and agency reconfigured in a posthumanist manner Its interdisciplinary analytical practice demonstrates that breathing is a phenomenon that is important to study from scientific medical political environmental and social perspectives
