IS IT A CONFLICT?
ASK YOURSELF ...

COULD MY PERSONAL

DECISIONS I MAKE?

COULD IT LOOK
THAT WAY TO SOMEONE ELSE?

IF YES, IT IS PROBABLY A CONFLICT. SEEK GUIDANCE WHEN YOU ARE NOT SURE.

PROCESS POINT

If you feel you may be getting involved in a possible conflict of interest or the appearance of one, report it immediately to your Local Ethics Officer through the LEO Approval Request Tool or another technology solution approved by the Ethics & Compliance Office. Not disclosing a conflict is serious and could lead to disciplinary action.

Pop the Question

- Q Through my relationship with a supplier to whom I have recently awarded a contract, I became aware that this supplier is expanding and buying a smaller company. Based on the information gathered and the potential growth and opportunity, I would like to purchase stock in the supplier. Can I do this without approval given my current role with the Company?
- A No. Since you have discretionary authority in dealing with the Company as part of your job, you may not have any financial interest in that company without prior written approval from your Local Ethics Officer. Additionally, this investment would be considered insider trading, which is a violation of the Code and the law.
- Q I noticed that a customer's stock is doing well and would be a good personal investment for me and my family. Can I invest in the customer's stock since I have no contact with the customer as part of my job?
- A Yes, if the investment is 1% or greater, you would need prior Local Ethics Officer approval. Since your current position does not involve contact with the customer, your request would likely be approved by your LEO and would require subsequent annual approvals.
- Q I am responsible for planning a big meeting at our facility and need a caterer. Coincidentally, my sister just started a catering business. This event would be a big help to her. I know she would do a great job and offer great pricing. Can I hire her?
- A No, not without approval from your Local Ethics Officer. Even though there may be legitimate reasons for hiring her, it could look to others that she was awarded the job just because she is your sister.
