China's New Urbanization Strategy China Development Research Foundation, 2013-04-02 Urbanization is one of the major challenges facing China Of China's 1.3 billion people around half still live in rural areas There has been huge migration from rural areas to cities in recent years a trend that is likely to continue strong for some time The strains that this vast migration puts on China's cities are enormous This book makes available for the English speaking reader the results of a large group of research projects undertaken by CDRF one of China's leading think tanks into the details of rural urban migration the resulting urban growth and the problems associated with all this The book goes on to put forward a new strategy which aims to ensure that China's urbanization proceeds in an orderly manner and that people and their needs are put at the centre of the strategy Key parts of the strategy include that city clusters should become the main form of urbanization that these should be arranged geographically in a pattern of two horizontal lines and three vertical lines that industrial and employment structures should highlight regional features and diversity that urban public services should be more equitably distributed that there should be new forms of urbanization management and city governance to accelerate urbanization and ensure harmonious social development and that the whole process should be conducted in an ecological green way

Facets of Globalization Shahid Yusuf, Simon J. Evenett, Weiping Wu, 2001-01-01 Since 1985 national economies have become increasingly integrated into a global network At the same time both population and production in developing countries are becoming concentrated in urban regions This in turn has generated demands for more local autonomy shifting more decision making to sub national levels Globalization is expected to continue leading to greater openness and international mobility of capital and people There are few reasons to believe that these trends will abate if anything they are likely to intensify the focus on cities and sharpen competition among these for international and local resources This volume underscores the transformative role of globalization and urbanization and shows the interplay between the two forces

Shanghai Rising Xiangming Chen, 2009 Until around 1990 Shanghai was China's premier but sluggish industrial center Now at the beginning of the twenty first century the joint impact of global forces and state power has turned Shanghai into a dynamic megacity

This collection places the city's unprecedented rise in a rare comparative examination of U.S. cities as well as with Asian megacities Singapore and Hong Kong providing a nuanced account of how Shanghai's politics economy society and space have been transformed by macro and micro level forces The Sustainable City IV C. A. Brebbia, Enzo Tiezzi, 2006 Urban areas produce a series of environmental problems arising from the consumption of natural resources and the consequent generation of waste and pollution These problems contribute to the development of social and economic imbalances All these problems which continue to grow in our society require new solutions This book addresses the many inter related aspects of the urban environment from transport and mobility to social exclusion and crime prevention Publishing papers from the Fourth International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability the volume includes topics such as Strategy and Development Planning Development and Management Environmental Management Planning Issues Socio economic Issues The community and the City Cultural Heritage Architectural Issues Traffic and Transportation Land Use and Management Public Safety Conservation of Resources Sustainable Transportation and Transport Integration Depleted Ecological Resources Environmental Pollution Energy Resources Systems Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels, Kong Chong Ho, Thomas A. Hutton, Tom Hutton, 2005-04 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization However at the beginning of the twenty first century services in particular finance information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth In Asia Pacific the rise of service industries has led to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts Also there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical conceptual and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries
