Derrida Agnes Czajka, 2016-06-01 Is Europe's crisis merely a financial one Tackling issues ranging from Europe's legal institutional and cultural identity to its border citizenship and integration policies and looking forward to its legacy for the future the contributors to this volume interrogate the various dimensions and contours of the European crisis By revisiting Derrida's diagnosis of the crisis of European identity they simultaneously propose a new direction for Europe and an alternative response to today's crisis Citizenship After Orientalism Engin Isin, 2015-10-14 This collection offers a postcolonial critique of the ostensible superiority or originality of Western political theory and one of its fundamental concepts citizenship The chapters analyse the undoing uncovering and reinventing of citizenship as a way of investigating citizenship as political subjectivity If it has now become very difficult to imagine citizenship merely as nationality or membership in the nation state this is at least in part because of the anticolonial struggles and the project of reimagining citizenship after orientalism that they precipitated If it has become difficult to sustain the orientalist assumption the question arises how do we investigate citizenship as political subjectivity after orientalism This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies      Held in Trust Pascale Ghazaleh, 2011 Waqfs pious endowments long held a crucial place in the political economic and social life of the Islamic world This volume which evolved from papers delivered at the 2005 American University in Cairo Annual History Seminar offers a meticulous set of studies that fills a gap in our knowledge of waqf and its uses      Conflicting Humanities Rosi Braidotti, Paul Gilroy, 2016-06-30 How might we reinvent the humanities This is the question at the heart of this provocative volume It is a difficult mission and definitely one which needs to be addressed with increasing urgency There is no better cast to confront and problematize this question than the contributors to Conflicting Humanities They are world renowned thinkers who can tackle the problem as researchers and teachers but also as prominent public intellectuals Taking the intellectual and political legacies of Edward Said as a point of departure and frame of reference the contributors working in a range of disciplinary settings consider the current condition of humanism and the humanities Said's definition of the core task of the Humanities as the pursuit of democratic criticism remains more urgent than ever though it needs to be supplemented by gender environmental and anti racist perspectives as well as by detailed analysis of the necro political governmentality of our time An innovative piece of scholarship this volume is committed to the refusal of a world riven by new kinds of warcraft injustice and exploitation      Collective Movements and Emerging Political Spaces Angharad Closs Stephens, Martina Tazzioli, 2024-05-31 Collective Movements and Emerging Political Spaces addresses the politics of new forms of collective movements ranging from anti austerity protests to migrant struggles and anticolonial demonstrations Drawing on examples from various countries as well as struggles taking place across borders this book traces the emergence of new practices of being political described as collective movements These represent something looser than a common identity long held as necessary for a political struggle to cohere They also suggest a different understanding of emancipation to the promise of transformation in time By addressing various examples of collective movements the chapters in this book examine other ways of being political together formed through relations carved in cramped spaces or small movements that rearrange our ideas about what is possible Drawing on the temporary and fleeting nature of many migrants struggles the chapters develop concepts and approaches that acknowledge how such mobilisations trouble many standard political sociological categories including nation identity and citizenship In combining an attentiveness to theories of affect emotion and atmosphere they also go beyond a focus on either individuals or collectives to address the ways bodies are moved by the world and by others Overall the chapters propose new questions methods and starting points for addressing collective movements in emerging political spaces and for understanding how what counts as politics is being redrawn on the ground This book will interest students researchers and scholars of international political sociology human geography international relations critical security studies and migration studies      Creating Political Presence Dario Castiglione, Johannes Pollak, 2018-12-28 For at least two centuries democratic representation has been at the center of debate Should elected representatives express the views of the majority or do they have the discretion to interpret their constituents interests How can representatives balance the desires of their parties and their electors What should be done to strengthen the representation of groups that have been excluded from the political system Representative democracy itself remains frequently contested regarded as incapable of reflecting the will of the masses or inadequate for today s global governance Recently however this view of democratic representation has been under attack for its failure to capture the performative and constructive elements of the process of representation and a new literature more attentive to these aspects of the relationship between representatives and the represented has arisen In Creating Political Presence a diverse and international group of scholars explores the implications of such a turn Two broad overlapping perspectives emerge In the first section the contributions investigate how political representation relates to empowerment either facilitating or interfering with the capacity of citizens to develop autonomous judgment in collective decision making Contributions in the second section look at representation from the perspective of inclusion focusing on how representative relationships and claims articulate the demands of those who are excluded or have no voice The final section examines political representation from a more systemic perspective exploring its broader environmental conditions and the way it acquires democratic legitimacy

Data Politics Didier Bigo, Engin Isin, Evelyn Ruppert, 2019-03-13 Data has become a social and political issue because of its capacity to reconfigure relationships between states subjects and citizens This book explores how data has acquired such an important capacity and examines how critical interventions in its uses in both theory and practice are possible Data and politics are now inseparable data is not only shaping our social relations preferences and life chances but our very democracies Expert international contributors consider political questions about data and the ways it provokes subjects to govern themselves by making rights claims Concerned with the things infrastructures of servers devices and cables and language code programming and algorithms that make up cyberspace this book demonstrates that without understanding these conditions of possibility it is impossible to intervene in or to shape data politics Aimed at academics and postgraduate students interested in political aspects of data this volume will also be of interest to experts in the fields of internet studies international studies Big Data digital social sciences and humanities The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.routledge.com/Data+Politics/Worlds+Subjects+Rights/Bigo+Isin+Ruppert/p/book/9781138053267> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Citizens Without Frontiers Engin F. Isin, 2012-11-02 States define who their citizens are and exert control over their life and movements But how does such power persist in a global world where people ideas and products constantly cross the borders of what the states see as their sovereign territory This groundbreaking work sets to examine and interprets such challenges to offer a new way of thinking about citizenship Abandoning the sovereignty principle it develops a new image of citizenship using the connectedness principle To do so it interprets acts of citizenship by following activist citizens across the world through case studies from Wikileaks and the Gaza flotilla to China s virtual world and Darfur Written by a leader in the field this accessible and original work imagines citizens without frontiers as a politics without community and belonging inclusion without exclusion where the frontier becomes a form of otherness that citizens erase or create This unique work brings forth a new and creative way to approach citizenship beyond boundaries that will appeal to anyone studying citizenship social movements and migration      Being Digital Citizens Engin Isin, Professor of International Politics, Queen Mary University of London (QMUL) and University of London Institute in Paris (ULIP), Evelyn Ruppert, 2015-04-09 Developing a critical perspective on the challenges and possibilities presented by cyberspace this book explores where and how political subjects perform new rights and duties that govern themselves and others online      The politics of feeling in Brexit Britain Jonathan Moss, Emily Robinson, Jake Watts, 2024-01-16 During Brexit political questions were continually framed in emotional terms The referendum was presented as a conflict between reason and resentment fear and hope heads and hearts The Leave vote was interpreted as the triumph of passion over rationality and its aftermath triggered concerns about the divisive impact of feelings on political culture This book examines how these stories about feelings shaped public experiences and determined political possibilities The politics of feeling uses first hand accounts to explore how ordinary people understand their own feelings about the referendum and how they reacted to the feelings of others It shows how they drew on public narratives while also rejecting and reworking them The authors highlight a dangerous contradiction whereby feelings were simultaneously understood as dangerous and illegitimate and as an authentic reflection of our inner selves This had its own political consequences      The Political Agency of British Migrants Fiona Ferbrache, Jeremy MacClancy, 2020-12-30 This book offers a comparative analysis of the political agency of British migrants in Spain and France and explores how they struggle for a sense of belonging in the wake of Brexit With the UK's departure from the European Union EU Britons are set to lose EU citizenship as their political rights are redefined This book examines the impacts this is having on Britons living in two EU countries It moves beyond the political agency of underprivileged migrants to demonstrate that those who are relatively well off also have political subjectivities they can enter the political fray if their fundamental values or key interests are challenged This book is based on ethnographic inquiry into the political agency of Britons in the Spanish Province of Alicante and South West France in the twenty first century Themes such as Britons becoming elected as local councillors in their countries of residence migrants reactions to Brexit organisation of anti Brexit campaigners and claims for residency and citizenship are examined The book foregrounds the contemporary practice theory built on the work of Pierre Bourdieu as well as Engin Isin's approach to enacting citizenship to provide empirical insights into the political participation of Britons It does so by demonstrating how the elected councillors stood against gross moral inequity and fought for a sense of local belonging how campaigners emoted digitally in reaction to Brexit and how some migrants keen to remain without worry learnt both to navigate and to contest the policy and practice of national bureaucracies This book makes a first ever contribution to the fields of anthropology and geography in the study of impacts of Brexit on British migrants within Europe

It is also the first study into lifestyle migrants as political agents It will thus appeal to anthropologists human geographers sociologists as well as academics and students of citizenship studies migration studies European studies and political geography International Political Sociology Tugba Basaran,Didier Bigo,Emmanuel-Pierre Guittet,R.
