Air Power and the Evacuation of Dunkirk Harry Raffal,2021-07-15 The evacuation of Dunkirk has been immortalised in books prints and films narrated as a story of an outnumbered inexperienced RAF defeating the battle hardened Luftwaffe and protecting the evacuation This book revives the historiography by analysing the air operations during the evacuation Raffal draws from German and English sources many for the first time in the context of Operation DYNAMO to argue that both sides suffered a defeat over Dunkirk This work examines the resources and tactics of both sides during DYNAMO and challenges the traditional view that the Luftwaffe held the advantage The success that the Luftwaffe achieved during DYNAMO including halting daylight evacuations on 1 June is evaluated and the supporting role of RAF Bomber and Coastal Command is explored in detail for the first time Concluding that the RAF was not responsible for the Luftwaffe's failure to prevent the evacuation Raffal demonstrates that the reasons lay elsewhere

Battle for the North Atlantic John Bruning,2013-06-15 The Battle of the North Atlantic was the longest continuous military campaign of World War II running from 1939 until the defeat of Nazi Germany in 1945 though it reached its peak from mid 1940 through the end of 1943 The Battle of the North Atlantic pitted German U boats and other warships of the German navy against Allied merchant shipping Initially convoys of merchant ships were protected for the most part by the British and Canadian navies and air forces Starting in the early fall of 1941 before Pearl Harbor these forces were aided by ships and aircraft of the United States The Battle for the North Atlantic began on the first day of the European war and lasted for six years involving thousands of ships and stretching over hundreds of miles of the vast ocean and seas in a succession of more than a hundred convoy battles and as many as a thousand single ship encounters Tactical advantage switched back and forth over the six years as new weapons tactics and countermeasures were developed by both sides The Allies gradually gained the upper hand driving the German surface raiders from the ocean by the end of 1942 and decisively defeating the U boats in a series of convoy battles between March and May 1943

I Will Run Wild Thomas McKelvey Cleaver, 2020-09-17 In many popular histories of the Pacific War the period from the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor to the US victory at Midway is often passed over because it is seen as a period of darkness Indeed it is easy to see the period as one of unmitigated disaster for the Allies with the fall of the Philippines Malaya Burma and the Dutch East Indies and the wholesale retreat and humiliation at the hands of Japan throughout Southeast Asia However there are also stories of courage and determination in the face of overwhelming odds the stand of the Marines at Wake Island the fighting retreat in the Philippines that forced the Japanese to take 140 days to accomplish what they had expected would take 50 the fight against the odds at Singapore and over Java the stirring tale of the American Volunteer Group in China and the beginnings of resistance to further Japanese expansion In these events there are many individual stories that have either not been told or not been told widely which are every bit as gripping as the stories associated with the turning tide after Midway I Will Run Wild draws on extensive first hand accounts and fascinating new analysis to tell the story of Americans British Dutch Australians and New Zealanders taken by surprise from Pearl Harbor to Singapore that first Sunday of December 1941 who went on to fight with what they had at hand against a stronger and better prepared foe and in so doing built the basis for a reversal of fortune and an eventual victory
