and the Fiction of National Literature Rosemary Marangoly George,2013-11-21 During the twentieth century at the height of the independence movement and after Indian literary writing in English was entrusted with the task of consolidating the image of a unified seemingly caste-free modernising India for consumption both at home and abroad This led to a critical insistence on the proximity of the national and the literary which in turn led to the canonisation of certain writers and themes and the dismissal of others Examining English anthologies of Indian literature as well as the establishment of the Sahitya Akademi the national academy of letters and the work of R K Narayan and Mulk Raj Anand among others Rosemary Marangoly George exposes the painstaking efforts that went into the elaboration of a national literature in English for independent India even while deliberating the fundamental limitations of using a nation-centric critical framework for reading literary works The Mysore Gazette Mysore (India : State),1960 Between History and Literature Siddharth Satpathy,Girish D. Pawar,2025-06-30 This book explores the value of bhasa literature through the lens of Dipesh Chakrabarty's scholarship offering a nuanced perspective on his passionate engagement with literature at large and with Bengali literature in particular. These essays dedicated to Chakrabarty in different ways extend Chakrabarty's preoccupation with the relationship between history and literature and with the subject of modernity in India. The themes covered in this book are wide ranging from the modern reception of Sarala Das's Mahabharata and a revisionist reading of Ismat Chughtai's Lihaff to studies of agrarian representations in colonial Bengal and the printing cultures of Bareilly including the Hindi translation of Benjamin Franklin's biography from early account of colonial bureaucrats' engagement with Gujarati kavya and itihasa in compiling modern histories to the study of the formation of a sonic theology in early modern Bengal from the genesis and reception history of Vande Mataram to an account of the evolution of a modern Bengali vocabulary which enabled vernacular geographers in the nineteenth century to represent the imperial global world. This volume will be of particular interest to students and researchers in South Asian studies, history, literary theory and postcolonial studies. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of South Asian History and Culture. Asiaweek, 1984
