neighbouring disciplines which discovered the importance of space through her work Helen Wallis geographer and historian of cartography who for many years had charge of the UK's foremost collection of maps Alice Saunier Set who applied her geographical training and formidable energy to teaching and educational reform in France Isabel Margarida Andr who lived through a turbulent political period in her native Portugal and meticulously investigated its effect on women and political geography and the many women who helped to create the UK's first Geography department the University of Oxford's School of Geography including Fanny Herbertson Nora MacMunn Marjorie Sweeting Mary Marshall Barbara Kennedy and other women geographers who are memorialised in a group article May Sinclair Rebecca Bowler,2016-12-05 May Sinclair was a bestselling author of her day whose versatile literary output including criticism philosophy poetry psychoanalysis and experimental fiction now frequently falls between the established categories of literary modernism In terms of her contribution to dominant modernist paradigms she was until recently best remembered for recasting the psychological novel as stream of consciousness narrative in a 1918 review of Dorothy Richardson's Pilgrimage This book brings together the most recent research on Sinclair and re-contextualises her work both within and against dominant Modernist narratives It explores Sinclair's negotiations between the public and private the cerebral and the corporeal and the spiritual and the profane in both her fiction and non fiction The Man Who Wasn't There Anil Ananthaswamy,2015-08-04 Nominated for the 2016 PEN E O Wilson Literary Science Writing Award An NBC News Notable Science Book of 2015 Named one of Publishers Weekly's Best Books of 2015 A Book of the Month for Brain HQ Posit Science Selected by Forbes as a Must Read Brain Book of 2015 On Life Changes Network's list of the Top 10 Books That Could Change Your Life of 2015 In the tradition of Oliver Sacks a tour of the latest neuroscience of schizophrenia autism Alzheimer's disease ecstatic epilepsy Cotard's syndrome out of body experiences and other disorders revealing the awesome power of the human sense of self from a master of science journalism Anil Ananthaswamy's extensive in depth interviews venture into the lives of individuals who offer perspectives that will change how you think about who you are These individuals all lost some part of what we think of as our self but they then offer remarkable sometimes heart wrenching insights into what remains One man cut off his own leg Another became one with the universe We are learning about the self at a level of detail that Descartes I think therefore I am could never have imagined Recent research into Alzheimer's illuminates how memory creates your narrative self by using the same part of your brain for your past as for your future But wait those afflicted with Cotard's syndrome think they are already dead in a way they believe that I think therefore I am not Who or what can say that Neuroscience has identified specific regions of the brain that when they misfire can cause the self to move back and forth between the body and a doppelgänger or to leave the body entirely So where in the brain or mind or body is the self actually located As Ananthaswamy elegantly reports neuroscientists themselves now see that the elusive sense of self is both everywhere and nowhere in the human brain Narratology beyond the Human David Herman,2018-03-01 To what extent and in what manner do storytelling practices accommodate nonhuman subjects and their modalities of experience and how can contemporary narrative study shed light on interspecies interactions and entanglements In Narratology beyond the Human David Herman addresses these questions through a cross disciplinary approach to post Darwinian narratives concerned with animals and human animal relationships Herman considers the enabling and constraining effects of different narrative media examining a range of fictional and nonfictional texts disseminated in print comics and graphic novels and film In focusing on techniques such as the use of animal narrators alternation between human and nonhuman perspectives the embedding of stories within stories and others the book explores how specific strategies for portraying nonhuman agents both emerge from and contribute to broader attitudes toward animal life Herman argues that existing frameworks for narrative inquiry must be modified to take into account how stories are interwoven with cultural ontologies or understandings of what sorts of beings populate the world and how they relate to humans Showing how questions of narrative bear on ideas of species difference and assumptions about animal minds Narratology beyond the Human underscores our inextricable interconnectedness with other forms of creatural life and suggests that stories can be used to resituate imaginaries of human action in a more than human world

Using Computers in the Translation of Literary Style Roy Youdale, 2019-06-13 This volume argues for an innovative interdisciplinary approach to the analysis and translation of literary style based on a mutually supportive combination of traditional close reading and distant reading involving corpus linguistic analysis and text visualisation The book contextualizes this approach within the broader story of the development of computer assisted translation including machine translation and the use of CAT tools and elucidates the ways in which the approach can lead to better informed translations than those based on close reading alone This study represents the first systematic attempt to use corpus linguistics and text visualisation in the process of translating individual literary texts as opposed to comparing and analysing already published originals and their translations Using the case study of his translation into English of Uruguayan author

Mario Benedetti's 1965 novel Gracias por el Fuego Youdale showcases how a close and distant reading approach CDR enhances the translator's ability to detect and measure a variety of stylistic features ranging from sentence length and structure to lexical richness and repetition both in the source text and in their own draft translation thus assisting them with the task of revision The book reflects on the benefits and limitations of a CDR approach its scalability and broader applicability in translation studies and related disciplines making this key reading for translators postgraduate students and scholars in the fields of literary translation corpus linguistics corpus stylistics and narratology Good Karma How To Find It And Keep It Joan Oliver (Duncan.), 2006
