Cesti Iulius Africanus, 2012-07-04 Iulius Africanus 3rd cent is a fascinating writer in a period of transition. Widely travelled, he belongs to the intellectual life of the second sophistic. His two main works present a similar encyclopedic approach but very different contents. He can be considered the father of Christian chronography since he authored the first Christian world chronicle Chronographiae. However, he also wrote a comprehensive and multifaceted manual of many fields of knowledge where the religious character is open to debate. The preserved fragments of the Cesti treat military, technical, medical, and many other topics. These texts are presented in an entirely new critical edition. The transmission of the texts as well as questions of authenticity are highly complex. Compared to the previous edition (Vieillefond 1970), considerable progress has been reached in terms of both quantity and quality of the material. Hitherto unknown texts have been included, and in the case of dubious authorship, all necessary information is provided for a realistic picture of the transmission. In the introduction, all relevant channels of transmission are discussed. The edition is accompanied by notes and a new English translation. A

Byzantine Encyclopaedia of Horse Medicine Anne Elena McCabe, 2007-04-26 How were Greek texts on the care and medical treatment of the horse transmitted from antiquity to the present day? Using the evidence of Byzantine manuscripts of the veterinary compilation known as the Hippiatrica, Anne McCabe traces the journey of the texts from the stables to the medieval scriptorium and ultimately to the printed edition. Surviving manuscripts include both magnificent presentation copies and plain ones intended for use in the field. The Hippiatrica is a rich and little-known source of information about horses, medicine, and magic. This book provides a guide to its complex history as well as a host of fascinating details and includes colour illustrations of a number of manuscript pages. De Geoponicorum Codicibus Manuscriptis, Vol. 1

Written in Latin, this work delves into the history, transmission, and textual variations of the Geoponica across various manuscripts. Beckh's study offers valuable insights into the classical and post-classical knowledge of agriculture, botany, and rural life as preserved and transmitted.
