Assessing English-medium instruction in German grammar schools Karina Gentgen, 2012-06-01 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2010 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1.0 Justus Liebig University Giessen Language Literature and Culture language English abstract English is everywhere Not only is it the language of science the internet and advertisement for instance but it is the lingua franca that allows communication all over the world Thanks to globalization the increasing importance of the media the changing lifestyles of the younger generations as well as the coalescing Europe we cannot evade its impact Not unnaturally the English language has always been and still is a vital part of the German educational system with a tendency to expand its influence throughout the next years Ever since it has been introduced as a foreign language to German schools new concepts and methods to improve foreign language teaching have evolved Bilingual education is one of those concepts Being used in many countries and educational contexts to enhance second language learning it has also found its way into German school types As a method of instruction that involves a higher number of classes held in English per week and additionally other subjects being taught to a greater extent in that foreign language than in traditional educational programs it was introduced developed and often criticized Due to its success the demand for this more intense form of second language learning has increased and more researchers have investigated the outcomes of bilingual education Is such a program beneficial to children or does it have negative consequences on their overall performance at school Would a higher number of English classes per week be sufficient or do other subjects have to be taught in English and above all what subjects should that be without risking the students to have problems understanding their content And finally do students in bilingual programs have a higher language competence than students in comparable traditional English programs These are all questions that are connected to the research on bilingual programs and what factors contribute to their success or what points to their weaknesses The last of the three questions emphasizes the aspect of bilingual education that will be the focus of this bachelor s thesis namely language competence Due to the fact that an assessment of the actual language competence could not be conducted in the given time period the center of this investigation will be the subjective point of view of teachers and students thus a self assessment based on the categories of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

The Routledge Handbook of German Language Teaching Ruth Whittle,2024-09-16 The Routledge Handbook of German Language Teaching evaluates and addresses multifaceted multilevel needs of students and teachers within teaching German as a foreign as well as a second language through taking a transcultural approach Each contribution starts with the author situating themselves in the geographical and institutional context in which they teach as well as the way in which they teach for example in person or online This acknowledges the Handbook s internationally widespread contributors from countries with different histories in terms of cultural linguistic and educational diversity more generally and the teaching of German in particular The chapters reflect their voices and consider language learners as people who have their own identities Material such as plays poems short literary texts rap singing and drawing are discussed in this book as being influential for language learners from beginner level and beyond This book proposes that learning happens by both the teachers and the learners going on a journey and both changing the outlook on each other and themselves along that journey Alongside this questions are asked with respect to curricula and the relation between speaking German and belonging in a German speaking country This Handbook will primarily appeal to teachers and instructors of German as well as those training to become German language instructors Moreover the book will appeal to researchers interested in the linguistic and theoretical aspects of German language teaching
