Geopolitics Of The Visible Geopolitics Of The Visible:

Geopolitics of the Visible Roland B. Tolentino, 2000 An anthology of essays about Philippine cinema which seeks to illuminate issues of transparency of power and power relations It lays bare the geopolitics of the visible in order to render the almost invisible working operation that makes both visibility and invisibility possible Great Powers and Geopolitical

Change Jakub J. Grygiel, 2006 Named by Foreign Affairs as a book to read on geopolitics In an era of high technology and instant communication the role of geography in the formation of strategy and politics in international relations can be undervalued But the mountains of Afghanistan and the scorching sand storms of Iraq have provided stark reminders that geographical realities continue to have a profound impact on the success of military campaigns Here political scientist Jakub J Grygiel brings to light the importance of incorporating geography into grand strategy He argues that states can increase and maintain their position of power by pursuing a geostrategy that focuses on control of resources and lines of communication Grygiel examines case studies of Venice the Ottoman Empire and China in the global fifteenth century all great powers that faced a dramatic change in geopolitics when new routes and continents were discovered The location of resources the layout of trade networks and the stability of state boundaries played a large role in the success or failure of these three powers Grygiel asserts that though many other aspects of foreign policy have changed throughout history strategic response to geographical features remains one of the most salient factors in establishing and maintaining power in the international arena

Non-Cinema William Brown, 2018-07-12 Non Cinema Global Digital Film making and the Multitude provides an original film philosophy through which to understand low budget digital filmmaking from around the globe It draws upon a wide range of western and non western philosophers physicists theorists of Third Cinema and contemporary film theorists and film philosophers in order to argue that the future of cinema lies at the margins in the extreme the overlooked and the under funded the sort that distributors exhibitors and audiences would not consider to be cinema at all hence non cinema Analysing numerous films William Brown argues that contemporary low budget digital cinema is also through its digital form a political cinema that suggests that we are not detached observers of the world but entangled participants therewith Non Cinema constructs this argument by looking at work by established filmmakers like Jean Luc Godard Abbas Kiarostami Jafar Panahi and Michael Winterbottom as well as lesser known work from places as diverse as Asia the Middle East Europe the Americas and Africa In/visible War Jon Simons, John Louis

Lucaites, 2017-06-14 In Visible War addresses a paradox of twenty first century American warfare The contemporary visual American experience of war is ubiquitous and yet war is simultaneously invisible or absent we lack a lived sense that America is at war This paradox of in visibility concerns the gap between the experiences of war zones and the visual mediated experience of war in public popular culture which absents and renders invisible the former Large portions of the domestic public experience war only at a distance For these citizens war seems abstract or may even seem to have disappeared altogether due to a relative absence of visual images of casualties Perhaps even more significantly wars can be fought without sacrifice by the vast majority of Americans Yet the normalization of twenty first century war also renders it highly visible War is made visible through popular commercial mediated culture The spectacle of war occupies the contemporary public sphere in the forms of celebrations at athletic events and in films video games and other media coming together as MIME the Military Industrial Media Entertainment Network
