

Reasoning from Evidence Rules (over all !)

Here's what we mean by these terms:

Claim: one-sentence statement relating two things. For example:
"The height of the balloon is a quadratic function of time."

Evidence: stuff to which you will refer when explaining why your claim is true. For example:
Data tables, graphs, fitted equations, and previous claims that you have verified.

Reasoning: explanation of how your evidence supports your claim. For example:
The plot of height vs. time data appeared to be quadratic and when we fit a quadratic to it using LoggerPro we found the resulting curve closely matched the data points.

How-To Tips:

Use a blank piece of paper to sketch a chain of claims leading from raw data to the resulting symbolic model. Use the chain to structure your writing.

1. We go from raw data to symbolic model... so narrate that trip.
2. Think of that trip as a sequence of steps... each step is a claim supported by evidence explained by reasoning.
3. For some claims, the reasoning will involve calculations.
4. Good Form:
 - Show your calculations, don't just give a numerical result.
 - Explain your calculations, don't just put numbers on a page.
 - Sequence reads like a story line, with a plot. Not a random walk.

George Fisher Evidence Problem Answers:

Evidence George Fisher, 2002 Inspired by problems that spring from real life Evidence presents the intricacies of evidence law in a way that law students will find both intellectually compelling and enjoyable The author covers materials in detail including relevance reliability and privileges Whenever possible problems are based on facts quoted from cases or news articles complete with citations This fact based approach piques student interest causing them to ask How would a good lawyer attack this problem rather than What is the professor driving at Written with the belief that students typically prefer to look at the courtroom world through the criminal law lense the casebook emphasizes the criminal context while using civil cases when illustrating rules that apply mainly in the civil context Teaching Evidence ,2006 HC 401 - Managing the Care of People with Long-Term Conditions Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee, 2014-07-03 15 million NHS patients in England with long term conditions such as diabetes arthritis and asthma account for 70% of the annual expenditure of the NHS in England One projection estimating that the bill for treatment of long term conditions will require the NHS to find 4 billion more each year by 2016 Increasingly patients do not have a single long term condition but live with two or more conditions complicating treatment and adding to its cost The Committee strongly supports the development of individual care planning for people with long term conditions based on the principles successfully demonstrated in the NHS House of Care programme Care planning approaches will involve GPs community health services and specialists sitting down with the patient to draw up a personalised plan for the care required which includes the support needed to help the patient manage his or her own condition The challenge though of introducing personalised care planning for 15 million people is substantial The Committee looked at the prevailing view that services to treat long term conditions should be moved out of hospitals and into primary and community care To provide effective care for these conditions services have to be maintained across all settings from support in the home through to acute specialist care and many conditions will continue to require specialist services delivered in hospital Effective management of long term conditions also requires collaboration with other government providers such as housing and transport services Reports and Minutes of Evidence ... Great Britain. Royal Commission on Coal Industry 1919, 1919 When Law Fails Charles J. Ogletree, Austin Sarat, 2009 Essays that view wrongful convictions not as random mistakes but as organic outcomes of a misshaped larger system that is rife with faulty eyewitness identifications false confessions biased juries and racial discrimination Together the contributors reveal the dramatic consequences as well as the daily realities of breakdowns in the law s ability to deliver justice swiftly and fairly and calls on us to look beyond headline grabbing exonerations to see how failure is embedded in the legal system itself Consumption and the World of Goods John Brewer, Roy Porter, 2013-06-17 The study of past society in terms of what it consumes rather than what it produces is relatively speaking a new development The focus on consumption changes the whole emphasis and structure of historical enquiry While human beings usually work within a single trade or industry as producers as say farmers or industrial workers as consumers they are active in many different markets or networks And while history written from a production viewpoint has by chance or design largely been centred on the work of men consumption history helps to restore women o the mainstream The history of consumption demands a wide range of skills It calls upon the methods and techniques of many other disciplines including archaeology sociology social and economic history anthropology and art criticism But it is not simply a melting pot of techniques and skills brought to bear on a past epoch Its objectives amount to a new description of a past culture in its totality as perceived through its patterns of consumption in goods and services Consumption and the World of Goods is the first of three volumes to examine history from this perspective and is a unique collaboration between twenty six leading subject specialists from Europe and North America The outcome is a new interpretation of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries one that shapes a new historical landscape based on the consumption of goods and services The Accountant

,1926 Pamphlets on the Liquor Problem ,1928 Evidence Stories Richard O. Lempert,2006 The ideal book to complement a problem based evidence course this new title brings to life some of Evidence Law s most important and interesting cases and the principles they represent This publication contains essays by leading evidence scholars discussing the stories behind landmark cases and illuminating principles and materials across the evidence curriculum The seldom told stories behind cases where evidence plays a significant role are now told with important illustrations of the development application and importance of the rules of evidence Problems in Labor Relations Benjamin Morris Selekman,1964 Textbook on labour relations in the USA in the form of a collection of case studies of factual issues includes examples of 1 the organising stage 2 internal relations problems in the shop 3 institutional relations problems at the collective bargaining table and 4 labour relations and public policy as well as some examples in respect of the UK France Germany Federal Republic and Italy and covers legal aspects grievances restrictive practices labour disputes etc Clinical Research in Complementary Therapies George Thomas Lewith,Wayne B.
