Sayer,2022-11-01 A sweeping history of a twentieth century Prague torn between fascism communism and democracy with lessons for a world again threatened by dictatorship Postcards from Absurdistan is a cultural history of Prague from 1938 when the Nazis destroyed Czechoslovakia's artistically vibrant liberal democracy to 1989 when the country's socialist regime collapsed after more than four decades of communist party rule Derek Sayer shows that Prague's twentieth century far from being a story of inexorable progress toward some end of history whether fascist communist or democratic was a tragicomedy of recurring nightmares played out in a land Czech dissidents dubbed Absurdistan Situated in the eye of the storms that shaped the modern world Prague holds up an unsettling mirror to the absurdities and dangers of our own times In a brilliant narrative Sayer weaves a vivid montage of the lives of individual Praguers poets and politicians architects and athletes journalists and filmmakers artists musicians and comedians caught up in the crosscurrents of the turbulent half century following the Nazi invasion This is the territory of the ideologist the collaborator the informer the apparatchik the dissident the outsider the torturer and the refugee not to mention the innocent bystander who is always looking the other way and Vclav Havel's greengrocer whose knowing complicity allows the show to go on Over and over Prague exposes modernity's dreamworlds of progress as confections of kitsch In a time when democracy is once again under global assault Postcards from Absurdistan is an unforgettable portrait of a city that illuminates the predicaments of the modern world Passionate

Kinik,2018-07-20 The 1920s and 1930s saw the rise of the city symphony an experimental film form that presented the city as protagonist instead of mere decor Combining experimental documentary and narrative practices these films were marked by a high level of abstraction reminiscent of high modernist experiments in painting and photography Moreover interwar city symphonies presented a highly fragmented oftentimes kaleidoscopic sense of modern life and they organized their urban industrial images through rhythmic and associative montage that evoke musical structures In this comprehensive volume contributors consider the full 80 film corpus from Manhatta and Berlin Die Sinfonie der Grosstadt to lesser known cinematic explorations The Making of Visual News Thierry Gervais, Gaëlle Morel, 2020-09-23 The Making of Visual News sets out to show how photography has changed the way we read report and sell the news It investigates how photographs first became news images at the end of the nineteenth century and how magazines in the USA the UK France and Germany have put them to use ever since Drawing on a wide selection of images author Thierry Gervais in collaboration with Gaëlle Morel analyses news photographs in the context of their original presentation in print Highly illustrated the book contains 85 full colour magazine layouts and spreads offering the reader a view of how photographs were and are used in print publications including Life Picture Post the Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung and VU It examines how photographs were employed to attract new readers throughout the twentieth century arguing that photography was the main tool by which news editors sought to communicate the news and attract a broader readership Looking beyond the roles of photographer and journalist this study also highlights the contributions of picture editors and artistic directors by commissioning photographs and incorporating images into magazine layouts these figures played critical but often overlooked roles in the construction of visual news even as they crafted unique styles for their publications Charting changes in technology and reportage as well as broader social and political histories The Making of Visual News offers new insight into the history of photojournalism making this an essential resource for students and scholars of photojournalism and the history of photography media and culture A New History of Photography Michel Frizot, 1998 A collection of entries that help chronicle the history of photography explaining the different techniques that have been used and defining the common terms used in the field Germaine Krull Michel Frizot, 2015 Photographier c'est un métier Un métier d'artisan Un métier qu'on apprend qu'on fait plus ou moins bien comme tous les métiers Le photographe est un témoin Le témoin de son époque Le vrai photographe c'est le témoin de tous les jours c'est le reporter Germaine Krull 1930 City Gorged with Dreams Ian Walker, 2002 The author analyses how the Surrealists utilised the tactics of documentary and how Surrealist ideas in turn influenced the development of documentary photography This is a study of what Louis Aragon called surrealist realism the exploration of the real life surreality of the city

Photographs, Museums, Collections Elizabeth Edwards, Christopher Morton, 2015-05-19 The status of photographs in the history of museum collections is a complex one From its very beginnings the double capacity of photography as a tool for making a visual record on the one hand and an aesthetic form in its own right on the other has created tensions about its place in the hierarchy of museum objects While major collections of art photography have grown in status and visibility photographs not designated art are often invisible in museums Yet almost every museum has photographs as part of its ecosystem gathered as information corroboration or documentation shaping the understanding of other classes of objects and many of these collections remain uncatalogued and their significance unrecognised This volume presents a series of case studies on the historical collecting and usage of photographs in museums Using critically informed empirical investigation it explores substantive and historiographical questions such as what is the historical patterning in the way photographs have been produced collected and retained by museums How do categories of the aesthetic and evidential shape the history of collecting photographs What has been the work of photographs in museums What does an understanding of photograph collections add to our understanding of collections history more broadly What are the methodological demands of research on photograph collections The case studies cover a wide range of museums and collection types from art galleries to maritime museums national collections to local history museums and international perspectives including Cuba France Germany New Zealand South Africa and the UK Together they offer a fascinating insight into both the history of collections and collecting and into the practices and poetics of archives across a range of disciplines including the history of science museum studies archaeology and anthropology
