Grammaticalization Paths of English and High German Existential Constructions Simone E. Pfenninger, 2009 Existential constructions are a fundamental feature of many Indo European languages and constructions with non referential subjects have developed in all of the latter albeit at different stages in their histories High German does not feature a prototypical existential construction that is equivalent in syntactic and pragmatic function and semantic meaning to the English existential there construction How did a prototypical existential structure originate in English Why is it that High German has never developed such a construction Has it ever shown a tendency towards developing one How did two closely related languages such as English and High German come to differ so much with respect to these constructions By means of investigating a variety of historical and contemporary data this study shows that not only semantic pragmatic and syntactic factors are involved which decide the choice of a certain construction but also very much the more general different linguistic development that the two
