Teaching Research Methods in the Social Sciences Mark Garner, Claire Wagner, Barbara Kawulich, 2016-04-01 How can excellence in the teaching of research methods be encouraged and ensured This question has become increasingly important following the adoption of research methodology as a core part of many postgraduate and undergraduate courses There has however been little discussion about the aims and methods of teaching the subject In this volume a number of authors from a variety of countries and disciplines employ their knowledge and experience towards the development of a pedagogical culture in research methods Their aim is to establish the extent of common concerns and challenges and to demonstrate ways in which these are being met Intended to provide both a stimulus and source materials for the development of a more substantial and systematic literature in the field the book will be of great interest to all those teaching research methods courses within social science disciplines

Wilderness or Home? Asebe Regassa Debelo, 2016 This book critically probes into the politics of nature conservation and commodification Building on political ecology the book argues that conservation is used by state and non state actors as an instrument of controlling multidimensional spaces of indigenous communities The study creates a nexus between the hegemonic discourse of wilderness conservation in colonial Africa and Ethiopia s appropriation of this narrative and how it internally exported it to its peripheries It found out that the successive Ethiopian regimes the imperial military and developmental state share commonalities in using nature conservation both for political control of societies and their territories and as a means of economic extraction through commodification Asebe Regassa Debelo is a graduate of the Bayreuth International Graduate School of African Studies BIGSAS Series Contributions to African Research Beitrage zur Afrikaforschung Vol 66 Subject Sociology African Studies
