Educational Opportunity Rural Contexts Perspectives:

Educational Opportunity in Rural Contexts Sheneka M. Williams, Ain A. Grooms, 2015-11-01 The impetus behind this volume stems from reflections on commemorations of the historic Brown v Board of Education decision. Brown turned 60 in May of 2014 and many special issues of peer reviewed journals were dedicated to that anniversary. Unlike most special issues and volumes we sought to highlight a smaller part of Brown though no less significant. More specifically we thought to develop a volume that focused on rural education in the aftermath of the decision. Most of the education policy and education reform literature caters to urban and suburban contexts and very few academic books and journal articles with the exception of research conducted by Craig Amy and Caitlin Howley and the Journal for Research on Rural Education focus on rural education in the US. Thus we wanted this volume to focus on the politics of educational opportunity in rural contexts. There is a paucity of rigorous research that examines how education policy affects the conditions of rural education. More specifically research is scarce in examining the ways in which students in rural schools and districts have access to educational opportunities although approximately one third of all public schools are located in rural areas. Ayers 2011 Educational opportunity in rural districts has been plagued by geographic isolation, loss of economic bases and lack of capital both financial and political to voice the need for resources. To be clear this volume does not present chapters that detail educational opportunity in rural districts and schools from a deficit perspective. Instead chapters in this volume offer insight into both micro and macro level policies and practices that shape educational opportunities for students in rural schools and districts. As such chapters in this volume investigate the now of educational opportunity for rural students and makes recommendations and suggestions for later. Given that we are reminded of James Coleman's 1975 thesis Education is a means to an end and equal opportunity refers to later in life rather than the educational process itself p 28 This book will be organized into two distinct sections. The first section comprised of chapters that examine educational opportunity in rural districts from a micro level perspective is devoted to chapters that broadly examine the implications of state and federal policy on educational opportunity in rural schools and districts. The second section which includes case studies of rural districts in the American South, Appalachia and the Northeast takes a macro level approach to examining educational opportunity in rural districts. Combined chapters throughout the book provide readers with both an overview and a specific snapshot of educational opportunity in rural schools. Given the breadth and scope of chapters included in this volume we believe the book adds tremendously to the education policy literature as this vantage point has rarely been included in larger education policy discussions.

Handbook of Research on Learner-Centered Approaches to Teaching in an Age of Transformational Change Bromer, Billi L., Crawford, Caroline M., 2022-06-24 Institutions of education are in an age of transformational change in which learning has a wider scope of understanding and long term impact than ever before. Those involved in teaching and learning require additional training and subject matter support towards developing a broader and more profoundly complex understanding of the learners affected by evolving sociological events and associated needs More than ever a broader understanding of the learner is needed inclusive of a learner centered approach to both teaching and learner cognitive engagement The Handbook of Research on Learner Centered Approaches to Teaching in an Age of Transformational Change examines the abundant transformational changes that have occurred and provide strategies to understand and address them It draws from a wide range of experts and provides a burgeoning understanding of the effects of these rapidly moving transformational changes that are occurring in the processes of teaching and learning Exploring a wide range of issues such as community engagement scholarship motivation driven assignment design and trauma informed practices this major reference work is an invaluable resource for educators of K 12 and higher education educational faculty and administration pre service teachers government officials non profit organizations sociologists libraries researchers and academicians

Connected Learning: Origins, Opportunities, and Perspectives of Contemporary Educational Design Henning Schoenenberger, 2024-05-27 This book offers a unique machine generated overview of the current state of research in Connected Learning Networked Learning Digital Badges Micro Credentials and Lifelong Learning The concept of Connected Learning picks up learners where they are and that is no longer just the classroom or seminar room Connected Learning seeks to understand the context of learning and the motivation of learners in order to design a more contemporary and effective learning experience Central to this is the understanding that Connected Learning is collaborative and takes place in peer to peer networks that it is based on participation problem orientation and application and that the more personalised the learning the more interested learners are This volume condenses and synthesizes research from a large variety of English language articles into a concise yet comprehensive overview Readers will benefit from the selection and synthesis of articles that allow them to get a quick understanding of the research area while also being able to click through to the original sources to dive deeper into any particular topic This volume is a key source of information and insight for those interested in the current research as well as serving as an inspiring starting point for their own research

Decolonizing Epistemologies and Worldviews in Education Michael Kariwo, Chouaib El Bouhali, 2025-06-20 This edited volume examines the decolonization of worldviews and ways of knowing in education and educational policy It critically challenges the Western interpretation of epistemology and ontology providing a platform for contributors to demonstrate how concepts of decolonization knowledge and worldviews are understood as well as the impact of these understandings in creation of policies and practices in education and pedagogy It also offers insight into related themes on student resilience English language the internationalization of western knowledge indigenous paradigms and curriculum transformation Chapter authors present new understandings of decolonizing knowledge and diversity analysis of non Western and indigenous epistemologies and worldviews and examples of implementation of equity in policy and education through case studies Creating and initiating a platform for wider debate it will ultimately appeal to scholars researchers policy makers and educational leaders concerned with decolonizing education and policy in North America and beyond and with interests in indigenous education decolonizing education sociology of education and philosophy of education

Perspectives on Multigrade Teaching Linley Cornish, Matshidiso Joyce Taole, 2021-10-25 This book contains the results of research projects carried out in relation to multigrade teaching in Australia and South Africa Research in multigrade contexts is not commonly reported and rarely in book form The research results have implications for multigrade teachers government education personnel and university teacher educators The book also contains chapters with practical advice for multigrade teachers including examples of multigrade teaching used in an Australian seven grade class kindergarten to grade 6 Other chapters contain suggestions for practical strategies a multigrade teacher can use to reduce the workload involved in planning for multiple grades Very little is published in the area of multigrade teaching yet the number of multigrade schools worldwide is huge Developed countries still have a significant proportion of multigrade schools commonly one fifth to one third of all primary schools or classes Despite decades of centralisation of schools and expansion of transport networks the number of these schools remains high mostly in rural areas Developing countries established multigrade schools in rural areas in order to achieve the UN Millennium Development Goal of Universal Primary Education Yet specific training to teach a multigrade class remains virtually non existent in initial teacher education programs worldwide The value of this book is thus to report specific research carried out in multigrade contexts but also to provide practical help for multigrade teachers This help is needed as the teachers strive to achieve the UN Sustainable Development Goal of a quality education through helping their students develop the skills and behaviours required for 21st century learning

Federalism and Education Kenneth K. Wong, Felix Knüpling, Mario Kölling, 2018-04-01 Federalism has played a central role in charting educational progress in many countries With an evolving balance between centralization and decentralization federalism is designed to promote accountability standards without tempering regional and local preferences Federalism facilitates negotiations both vertically between the central authority and local entities as well as horizontally among diverse interests Innovative educational practices are often validated by a few local entities prior to scaling up to the national level Because of the division of revenue sources between central authority and decentralized entities federalism encourages a certain degree of fiscal competition at the local and regional level The balance of centralization and decentralization also varies across institutional and policy domains such as the legislative framework for education drafting of curricula benchmarking for accountability accreditation teacher training and administrative responsibilities at the primary secondary and tertiary levels Given these critical issues in federalism and education this volume examines ongoing challenges and policy strategies in ten countries namely Australia Austria Belgium

Canada Germany Italy Spain Switzerland United Kingdom and the United States These chapters and the introductory overview aim to examine how countries with federal systems of government design govern finance and assure quality in their educational systems spanning from early childhood to secondary school graduation Particular attention is given to functional division between governmental layers of the federal system as well as mechanisms of intergovernmental cooperation both vertically and horizontally The chapters aim to draw out comparative lessons and experiences in an area of great importance to not only federal countries but also countries that are emerging toward a federal system

Living with Vulnerabilities and Opportunities in a Migration Context Guanglun Michael Mu, Yang Hu, 2016-11-25 The book grapples with social inequality inclusivity and diversity through the discussions of wellbeing wellbecoming and resilience of floating children and left behind children It invites families schools communities social organisations and governments to rethink and recognise the qualities of left behind children and floating children The book will be of interest to research students sociologists of education educational studies scholars social workers school professionals and policy makers in and beyond China The past two decades have seen exponential growth of urbanisation and migration in China Emerging from this growth are a myriad population of floating children and left behind children and the ever greater social spatial interpenetration that places these children at risk of undesirable wellbeing The living and schooling of these children are fraught with potholes and distractions in the context of migration and urbanisation Extant work often treats floating children and left behind children as two discrete populations and comes to grips with their wellbeing separately The deficit model and the do gooder approach have prevailed for a long time intending to fix the problems and correct the abnormalities associated with these children This book differs however in its efforts to blur the dichotomy between floating children and left behind children in its transformative view and strength based approach that recast vulnerabilities into opportunities and in its focus on the nurture of enabling ecologies instead of the nature of individual inferiorities
