Teaching and Learning Elementary Social Studies Arthur K. Ellis, 1977 Social Studies in Elementary Education Walter C. Parker, 2015-03-20 The author wrote this new edition of the most popular elementary social studies methods text on the market with the following three goals in mind to present the most powerful social studies content and pedagogy for children in elementary school to offer the material in simple and accessible ways and to write in a first person active voice. The purpose of this book is to introduce new teachers to the world of social studies teaching and learning in elementary and middle schools. Geography, history, government, and the other social sciences are delivered into the palm of the new teacher's hand along with a suite of tools for bringing social studies to life in the classroom. The book is organized into three sections: the first orients the reader to the mission of social studies education to the increasingly diverse children we teach; the second concentrates on the curriculum; and the third deals with instruction: how we plan and teach this curriculum. Three central themes continue to pervade the book: democratic citizenship, diversity, and the social sciences to ultimately encourage teachers to excite their students about closing the gap between social realities and democratic ideals. An exceptionally strong chapter on multicultural issues. Chapter 2 helps future teachers truly understand the changing demographics of the American classroom. Making Connections in Elementary and Middle School Social Studies Andrew P. Johnson, 2009-10-15 Making Connections in Elementary and Middle School Social Studies Second Edition is the best text for teaching primary school teachers how to integrate social studies into other content areas. This book is a comprehensive reader-friendly text that demonstrates how personal connections can be incorporated into social studies education while meeting the National Council for the Social Studies' thematic, pedagogical, and disciplinary standards. Praised for its wealth of strategies that go beyond social studies teaching, including classroom strategies, pedagogical techniques, activities, and lesson plan ideas, this book examines a variety of methods both novice and experienced teachers alike can use to integrate social studies into other content areas. Social Studies Methods in Elementary Education Abalo Adewui, 2016-12-22 Social Studies Methods in Elementary Education is based on the belief that effective social studies education is a necessary step in promoting understanding of and participation in democratic societies. The material in the text prepares future elementary school teachers to provide their students this effective education. This unique text addresses three fundamental questions to be considered when making instructional planning and delivery decisions: the question of what knowledge base students possess in order to approach varying levels of knowledge; the question of why social studies should be taught and learned; which helps to select relevant teaching materials and learning activities; and the question of how students should be taught which is the essence of a method course The book provides samples examples unit plan assignments and reading resources as models for students to follow Social Studies Methods in Elementary Education is thought provoking insightful and user friendly The book is an excellent resource for students who plan to teach at the elementary level and who will be responsible for educating the next generation about the relevance of social studies in their lives and the importance of their participation in civil society Abalo Adewui earned his Ph D in curriculum instruction and educational leadership at Oklahoma State University He is a professor of elementary social studies methodology and curriculum theory and development in the College of Education and Human Services at Central Michigan University Dr Adewui has taught English and American Studies in both middle and high school and served as a teacher trainer and administrator in Africa His research interests include teaching in non traditional settings service learning critical thinking and global connections and interdependency in social studies He has presented and published on topics related to classroom teaching social studies and global issues Megan Elizabeth Angeli is a B S in elementary education candidate at Central Michigan University Her teaching and research interests include science social studies and language arts instruction and assessment in the elementary and middle grades

Wise Social Studies in an Age of High-Stakes Testing Elizabeth Anne Yeager, O. L. Davis, 2005-08-01 The chapters in this volume illustrate how teachers are bringing creativity higher order thinking and meaningful learning activities into particular school settings despite pressures of standards and testing We chose the word wise for the title of this book and we use it frequently to describe the pedagogical practices we have identified The words powerful and ambitious are used as well The larger point as Keith C Barton makes in his chapter is that there is no necessary connection between content standards and high stakes tests on the one hand and lowlevel rote instruction on the other He reminds us as Thornton 1991 and Wiggins 1987 previously have argued that teachers play a crucial role in mediating educational policy and their intentions and interpretations have at least as much influence on classroom practice as does the content of standards and highstakes tests Barton also asserts that this makes it all the more crucial to identify the wisdom of practice that enables teachers to engage students in powerful educational experiences

E-Pedagogy for the Digital Age Dr. P. C. Nagasubramani, Adult learners have more options for enrolling in postsecondary education than ever before and they are able to use their learning style preference in deciding which program best meets their needs For some of these students those programs are fully online and for others there is minimal use of technology As technology grows and become more integrated into individual lives the unique learning styles and preferences of adults need to learn to be incorporated into instructional design Drawing on a regional sample of US colleges 545 adult learners in a graduate programs were surveyed about how to effectively build community in their online classes Results indicated some agreement with these instructional tools Mature adult learners however were found to have stronger agreement with strategies that included work outside of the formal online class These results suggest perhaps a greater comfort for adults in working in spaces where there is less likelihood of being judged or graded and that they might value relational work with other students in different ways than younger adults
