

eHealth Beyond the Horizon - Get IT There

Proceedings of eHealth 2006

Healthcare is a complex system with many stakeholders and a high degree of complexity. The eHealth community is working to address these challenges by developing a common framework for eHealth. This framework will enable the development of eHealth solutions that are interoperable, secure, and scalable. The eHealth community is also working to develop a common set of standards for eHealth. These standards will enable the development of eHealth solutions that are interoperable, secure, and scalable.
