edition of Edwidge Danticat's unforgettable National Book Award Finalist story collection complete with a new story Arriving one year after the Haitian American's first novel Breath Eyes Memory alerted critics to her compelling voice these 10 stories some of which have appeared in small literary journals confirm Danticat's reputation as a remarkably gifted writer Examining the lives of ordinary Haitians particularly those struggling to survive under the brutal Duvalier regime Danticat illuminates the distance between people's desires and the stifling reality of their lives A profound mix of Catholicism and voodoo spirituality informs the tales bestowing a mythic importance on people described in the opening story Children of the Sea as those in this world whose names don't matter to anyone but themselves The ceaseless grip of dictatorship often leads men to emotionally abandon their families like the husband in A Wall of Fire Rising who dreams of escaping in a neighbor's hot air balloon The women exhibit more resilience largely because of their insistence on finding meaning and solidarity through storytelling but Danticat portrays these bonds with an honesty that shows that sisterhood too has its power plays In the book's final piece Epilogue Women Like Us she writes Are there women who both cook and write Kitchen poets they call them They slip phrases into their stew and wrap meaning around their pork before frying it They make narrative dumplings and stuff their daughter's mouths so they say nothing more These stories inform and enrich one another as the female characters reveal a common ancestry and ties to the fictional Ville Rose In addition to the power of Danticat's themes the book is enhanced by an element of suspense we're never certain for example if a rickety boat packed with refugees introduced in the first tale will reach the Florida coast Spare elegant and moving these stories cohere into a superb collection
