Edwin Lutyens Country Houses:

Edwin Lutyens Gavin Stamp, 2001 Presenting a stunning collection of the architectural designs of Edward Lutyens throughout the many phases of his acclaimed career this beautifully presented study includes examples of his Surrey vernacular style early arts and crafts houses and his carefully composed classical houses Sir Edwin Lutyens Daniel O'Neill, 1980 The Architecture of Sir Edwin Lutyens, 1950 Edwin Lutyens Gavin Stamp, 2009-06-16 Edwin Lutyens 1869 1944 perhaps the greatest British architect of the twentieth century was introduced by garden designer Gertrude Jekyll his celebrated collaborator to Edward Hudson the founder of the great British magazine Country Life in 1889 Hudson thereafter did all he could to promote the work of a man he admired without reservation commissioning Lutyens to design the magazine's offices in Covent Garden in 1904 as well as three country houses Country Life published articles about virtually all his buildings shortly after their completion recording them as the architect intended creating an unparalleled visual archive which is the source for this selection of outstanding photographs of Lutyens's domestic architecture Gavin Stamp's authoritative introduction places Lutyens firmly among the giants of architecture an architect of rare genius and humanity His selection of twenty two houses representative of all the phases of Lutyens's career illustrates the architect's dual achievements as a renewer of both vernacular tradition and of the Classical language of architecture Debate continues about Lutyens's place in modern architecture but his legacy of some of the most inventive and romantic examples of British domestic architecture is unquestionable There are superb examples of his Surrey vernacular style with its gables timber and sweeping planes of tiled roof such as Fulbrook House one of his earliest masterpieces Deanery Garden designed with the garden in mind for Hudson early Arts and Crafts houses such as Goddards and Little Thakeham his carefully composed Classical houses such as Heathcote and his grandest country house of all Middleton Park built between the two World Wars Here too are examples of his brilliant enlargements and alterations to existing buildings such as Lindisfarne Castle and his creation of the epitome of castle style Castle Drogo This pictorial survey culminates in Lutyens's most famous creation Viceroy's House in New Delhi one of the greatest buildings in the world Founded in 1897 Country Life from the outset published remarkable photographs and the huge influence the magazine exerted was nowhere more apparent than in its unprecedented championship of Edwin Lutyens whose buildings it promoted for almost fifty years For this book two hundred photographs have been beautifully reproduced from the Country Life archive and combined with Gavin Stamp's illuminating essay provide a unique survey of one of Britain's foremost architects The Architecture of Sir Edwin Lutyens: Country-houses Arthur Stanley George Butler, 1984 The Architecture of Sir Edwin Lutyens A.S.G. Butler, 2023-04-28 The quality of the reprint is nearly perfect with a good selection of papers for the three sequential parts of the book the texts the drawings and the black and white photographs Text and drawings are on matte heavyweight pages while the photos are on glossy paper The inks make everything read well in particular the drawing reproductions are exquisite Archidose Edwin

Lutyens one of the most famous architectural names of the 20th century died in 1944 As a memorial three large volumes of his drawings and photographs were commissioned from the thousands found in his office and were published by Country Life All three volumes will be republished in 2023 The first volume contains his own plans elevations and copious details of the finest examples of his domestic buildings on which his huge reputation principally rests The book embodies the quintessence of the man and his work the variety of style and design seen in the houses brings together in one volume the many strands of Lutyens's fertile mind Two further volumes will include his corporate and public buildings The genius of Lutyens is now universally recognized In the work featured in this book we can now see not just the professionalism of a great architect but also the loving care with which he set down the most minute detail with the result that this is one of the few books in existence that can be used to provide working drawings

Houses & Gardens by Sir Edwin Lutyens, R.A. Sir Lawrence Weaver, 1913 How the Country House Became English Stephanie Barczewski, 2023-07-22 The story of how the country house historically a site of violent disruption came to symbolize English stability during the eighteenth century Country houses are quintessentially English not only architecturally but also in that they embody national values of continuity and insularity The English country house however has more often been the site of violent disruption than continuous peace So how is it that the country house came to represent an uncomplicated nostalgic vision of English history This book explores the evolution of the country house beginning with the Reformation and Civil War and shows how the political events of the eighteenth century which culminated in the reaction against the French Revolution led to country houses being recast as symbols of England's political stability

The Story of the Country House Clive Aslet, 2021-09-14 The fascinating story of the evolution of the country house in Britain from its Roman precursors to the present The Story of the Country House is an authoritative and vivid account of the British country house exploring how they have evolved with the changing political and economic landscape Clive Aslet reveals the captivating stories behind individual houses their architects and occupants and paints a vivid picture of the wider context in which the country house in Britain flourished and subsequently fell into decline before enjoying a renaissance in the twenty first century The genesis style and purpose of architectural masterpieces such as Hardwick Hall Hatfield House and Chatsworth are explored alongside the numerous country houses lost to war and economic decline We also meet a cavalcade of characters owners with all their dynastic obsessions and diverse sources of wealth and architects such as Inigo Jones Sir John Vanbrugh Robert Adam Sir John Soane and A W N Pugin who dazzled or in some cases outraged their contemporaries The Story of the Country House takes a fresh look at this enduringly popular building type exploring why it continues to hold such fascination for us today

Houses and Gardens by Sir Edwin Lutyens, R.A. Lutyens, 1925 The Country Houses of John F. Staub Stephen Fox, 2007 This ambitious study of Staub's work by architectural historian Stephen Fox goes beyond a description of Staub's houses Fox analyzes the roles of space structure and decoration in creating defining and maintaining social class structures and expectations and shows how Staub was able to incorporate these elements and understandings into the elegant buildings he designed for his clients In the process he contributes greatly to a fuller understanding of Houston s emergence as a premier American city

BOOK JACKET Country houses and the British Empire, 1700-1930 Stephanie Barczewski,2017-02-01 Country houses and the British empire 1700 1930 assesses the economic and cultural links between country houses and the Empire between the eighteenth and twentieth centuries Using sources from over fifty British and Irish archives it enables readers to better understand the impact of the empire upon the British metropolis by showing both the geographical variations and its different cultural manifestations Barczewski offers a rare scholarly analysis of the history of country houses that goes beyond an architectural or biographical study and recognises their importance as the physical embodiments of imperial wealth and reflectors of imperial cultural influences In so doing she restores them to their true place of centrality in British culture over the last three centuries and provides fresh insights into the role of the Empire in the British metropolis

The Country House Revealed Dan Cruickshank, 2012-07-31

Spanning the architectural history of the country house from the disarming Elizabethan charm of South Wraxall the classical rigour of Kinross in Scotland the majesty and ingenuity of Hawksmoor's Easton Neston the Palladian sweep of Wentworth Woodhouse with over 300 rooms and frontage of 600 feet the imperial exuberance of Clarendon through to the ebullient vitality of Lutyens Marshcourt the stories of these houses tell the story of our nation All are the buildings of the greatest architectural interest each with a fascinating human story to tell and all remain private homes that are closed to the public But their owners have opened their doors and allowed Dan Cruickshank to roam the corridors and rummage in the cellars as he teases out the story of each house who built them the generations who lived in them and the families who lost them Along the way he has uncovered tales of excess and profligacy tragedy comedy power and ambition And as these intriguing narratives take shape Dan shows how the story of each house is inseparable from the social and economic history of Britain Each one is built as a wave of economic development crests or crumbles Each one's architecture and design is thus expressive of the aims strengths and frailties of those who built them Together they plot the psychological economic and social route map of our country's ruling class in a rich new telling of our island story
