Discourse Markers and Modal Particles Liesbeth Degand, Bert Cornillie, Paola Pietrandrea, 2013-11-14 Discourse markers and modal particles are fuzzy linguistic categories that are difficult to describe The contributions in this volume go beyond this statement They discuss the intersection between modal particles and discourse markers and examine whether or not it is possible to draw a line between these two types of linguistic expressions On the basis of new synchronic and diachronic data from speech and writing from European and Asian languages or cross linguistically the authors answer the question whether discourse markers and modal particles are distinct categories whether they form a cline or whether modal particles are a subcategory of discourse markers This common question shows up throughout all chapters which makes the book to a coherent whole By disentangling the complexity of categorizing multifunctional expressions this book also sheds new light on the processes of meaning extension The traditional discourse and modal functions are complemented by interactional and textual ones A must read for functional linguists

Partitive Cases and Related Categories Silvia Luraghi, Tuomas Huumo, 2014-08-29 Argument marking morphological partitives have been the topic of language specific studies while no cross linguistic or typological analyses have been conducted Since individual partitives of different languages have been studied there exists a basis for a more cross linguistic approach The purpose of this book is to fill the gap and to bring together research on partitives in different languages

Subjects in Constructions - Canonical and Non-Canonical Marja-Liisa Helasvuo, Tuomas Huumo, 2015-01-14 This volume analyzes constructions with non canonical subjects in individual languages and cross linguistically drawing on insights from cognitive and discourse functional linguistics Prototypical subjects have often been characterized in terms of their semantic syntactic and discourse features such as animacy agentivity topicality referentiality definiteness and autonomy of existence of the subject referent A non canonical subject is one that lacks some of these features This may be reflected in its meaning grammatical coding and or discourse function In discussing non canonical subjects in individual languages and cross linguistically the chapters in the volume address the following more general topics What kinds of grammatical semantic and discourse criteria can be used to distinguish subjects from non subjects To what extent are subject criteria construction specific What kinds of constructions have non canonical subjects What are the semantic and discourse functions of constructions with non canonical subjects Are subjects which are grammatically non canonical also atypical in terms of their discourse features Word-Formation Peter O. Müller, Ingeborg Ohnheiser, Susan Olsen, Franz Rainer, 2016-03-07 This handbook comprises an in depth presentation of the state of the art in word formation The five volumes contain 207 articles written by leading international scholars The XVI chapters of the handbook provide the reader in both general articles and individual studies with a wide variety of perspectives word formation as a linguistic discipline history of science theoretical concepts units and processes in word formation rules and restrictions semantics and pragmatics foreign word formation language planning and purism historical word formation word formation in language acquisition and aphasia word formation and language use tools in word formation research The final chapter comprises 74 portraits of word formation in the individual languages of Europe and offers an innovative perspective These portraits afford the first overview of this kind and will prove useful for future typological research This handbook will provide an essential reference for both advanced students and researchers in word formation and related fields within linguistics Eesti keele ressurside loomine ja kasutamine keeletehnoloogilises arendustöös Heiki-Jaan Kaalep, 1999 Negation in Uralic Languages Matti Miestamo, Anne Tamm, Beáta Wagner-Nagy, 2015-06-24 The grammaticalized expression of negation is a linguistic universal This volume deals with negation in the Uralic language family in a typological perspective As in no other major language family before a comprehensive typological questionnaire provides the basis for the chapters documenting negation in 17 languages Most of them are endangered The chapters highlight negative auxiliary verbs the special Uralic feature and their ways of combining with the rich inventory of other negators in different types of clauses as well as negative replies negative indefinites abessives caritives privatives scope polarity and emphatic negation Selected aspects of negation such as negative indefinites negation of non verbal predicates and information structure are discussed in more detail in five further chapters The book brings new typologically informed perspectives on negation in the Uralic family and it provides valuable data and insights for any linguist working on negation Development in Prosodic Systems Paula Fikkert, Haike Jacobs, 2011-09-27 This book brings together papers on various aspects of prosodic development from a generative linguistic perspective It addresses issues such as the relationship between tone stress and quantity the evidence for prosodic change from metrics and discusses the role of analogy language contact and language acquisition in change The unique combination of different methodologies and perspectives investigating development in prosodic systems provides a new and broader scope on historical linguistics Case, Animacy and Semantic Roles Seppo Kittilä, Katja Västi, Jussi Ylikoski, 2011 The chapters of this volume scrutinize the interplay of different combinations of case animacy and semantic roles thus contributing to our understanding of these notions in a novel way The focus of the chapters lies on showing how animacy affects argument marking Unlike previous studies these chapters primarily deal with lesser studied phenomena such as animacy effects on spatial cases and the differences between cases and adpositions in the coding of spatial relations In addition theoretical and diachronic issues related to case and semantic roles are also discussed for example what is case how do cases develop and what are the functional differences between cases and adpositions The chapters deal with a variety of different languages including Uralic languages Indo European languages Basque Korean and Vaeakau Taumako The book is appealing to anyone interested in case animacy and or semantic roles Complementizer Semantics in European Languages Kasper Boye,Petar Kehayov,2016-07-11 Complementizers may be defined as conjunctions that have the function of identifying clauses as complements In recent years it has become increasingly clear that they have additional functions Some of these functions are semantic in the sense that they represent conventional contributions to the meanings of the complements The present book puts a focus to these semantic complementizer functions Uralic Essive and the Expression of Impermanent State Casper de Groot,2017-11-15 This volume is the first book length study into the essive a relatively unknown case marker like English as a child It focuses on the distribution of the essive in contemporary Uralic languages with special attention to the opposition between permanent and impermanent state The volume presents large sets of new data and insights into the use of the essive in nineteen Uralic languages on the basis of a typological linguistic questionnaire The typological variation is discussed within the linguistic domains of non verbal main predication secondary predication complementation and manner temporal and circumstantial adverbial phrases The descriptions and analyses are presented in such a way that they are accessible to linguists in general descriptive and theoretical linguists and specialists in Uralic and or linguistic typology The data and approach offer many starting points for further investigations within but also outside the Uralic language family Uralic and Altaic Series ,1968 Strict Negative Concord in Slavic and Finno-Ugric Gréte Dalmi,Jacek Witkoś,Piotr Ceglowski,2024-06-04 Expressing negation is a universal property of all human languages There is considerable variation however in the exact ways negation materializes cross linguistically Strict Negative Concord differs both from the Negative Polarity Item strategy and the Asymmetric Negative Concord strategy in that the sentence becomes negative only if the sentence negator is overtly expressed in it irrespective of how many negative expressions are used The central aim of this book is to describe Strict Negative Concord in some Slavic and Finno Ugric languages In particular the volume gives an insight into the forms Strict Negative Concord manifests itself in Russian Polish Czech Slovenian Slavic Finnish Hungarian Mari Finno Ugric and the closely related Selkup Samoyedic to a wide linguistic community It aims to create a platform for comparison with similar phenomena in well described European languages

Copies Versus Cognates in Bound Morphology Lars Johanson,Martine Robbeets,2012-07-05 Copies versus Cognates in Bound Morphology puts genealogical and areal explanation for shared morphology in a balanced perspective Lars Johanson and Martine Robbeets provide nothing less than the foundations for a new perspective on diachronic linguistics between genealogical and areal linguistics Language Contact in the Territory of the Former Soviet Union Diana Forker,Lenore A. Grenoble,2021-06-15 The former Soviet Union USSR provides the ideal territory for studying language contact between one and the same dominant language Russian and a wide range of genealogically and typologically diverse languages with varying histories of language contact This is the first book that bundles different case studies and systematically investigates the impact of Russian at all linguistic levels from the lexicon to the domains of grammar to discourse and with varying types of outcomes such as relatively rapid language shift structural changes in a relatively stable contact situation pidginization and super variability at the post pidgin stage The volume appeals to linguists studying language contact and contact induced language change from a broad range of perspectives who want to gain insight into how one of the largest languages in the world influences other smaller languages but also experts of mostly minority languages in the sphere of the former Soviet Union

Robinson, 2014-11-06 This volume seeks to advance and popularise the use of corpus driven quantitative methods in the study of semantics The first part presents state of the art research in polysemy and synonymy from a Cognitive Linguistic perspective The second part presents and explains in a didactic manner each of the statistical techniques used in the first part of the volume A handbook both for linguists working with statistics in corpus research and for linguists in the fields of polysemy and synonymy

Languages of the USSR W. K. Matthews, 2013-09-19 Originally published in 1951 this book analyzes the phonology and morphology of the six major language groups most used in the Soviet Union

Motion Encoding in Language and Space Mila Dimitrova-Vulchanova, Emile van der Zee, 2013 This book brings together researchers in linguistics computer science psychology and cognitive science to investigate how motion is encoded in language Part I considers the parameters of the field while part II looks at the way in which spatial scale or granularity plays a role in the encoding of motion in language

Linguistica Uralica, 2005 Chinese Middle Constructions Jiajuan Xiong, 2017-11-14 This book defines Chinese middle constructions as generic constructions with their highest syntactically saturated argument always understood as an arbitrary one This working definition sets middle construction apart from middle voice in that it can be instantiated by various constructions in Chinese By scrutinizing these constructions in the framework of Generative Syntax the book concludes that their formation takes place at the lexical level without resorting to any syntactic mechanisms and thus that Chinese falls into the category of lexical middle languages which are in contrast to syntactic middle languages
