Ehrlich Gretel Islands The Universe Home:

Islands, the Universe, Home Gretel Ehrlich, 1992-10-01 Gretel Ehrlich's world is one of isolation and wonder of pain and grace and these elements ignite her vivid imagination. She writes of ravens and elk and prairie dogs and eagles falling out of the sky. She tells of a voyage of discovery in northern Japan where she finds her bridge to heaven. She captures a light moving down a mountain slope. One evening there is a contrapuntal dance of death: a calf she has tried to save and a friend and mentor both die. She remembers what a painter once told her when she was twelve years old as he was painting her portrait: "You have to mix death into everything. Then you have to mix life into that. If they are not there I try to mix them. Otherwise the painting won't be human." Through these explorations in prose that is supple and muscular and evocative, Ehrlich begins to understand her own longings, her own nature and the relatedness of her life to the universe. A volume of ten deep wandering essays that at times are so point blank vital you nearly need to put down the book to settle yourself. Peter Stack San Francisco Chronicle. Her essays delicately combining interior and exterior exploration are as spare and beautiful as the landscape from which they've grown. Each one is a pilgrimage into the secrets of the heart. Andrea Barrett The Cleveland Plain Dealer. Islands, the Universe, Home Gretel Ehrlich, 2017-02-21 Ten essays on nature, ritual and philosophy that are so point blank vital you nearly need to put the book down to settle yourself. San Francisco Chronicle. Gretel Ehrlich's world is one of solitude and wonder, pain and beauty and these elements give life to her stunning prose. Ever since her acclaimed debut The Solace of Open Spaces she has illuminated the particular qualities of nature and the self with graceful precision. In Islands, the Universe, Home Ehrlich expands her explorations, traveling to the remote reaches of the earth and deep into her soul. She tells of a voyage of discovery in northern Japan where she finds her bridge to heaven. She captures a light moving down a mountain slope. She sees a ruined city in the face of a fire-scarred mountain. Above all she recalls what a painter once told her about art when she was twelve years old as she sat for her portrait: "You have to mix death into everything. Then you have to mix life into that." In this unforgettable collection Ehrlich mixes life and death, real and sacred to offer a stunning vision of our world that is both achingly familiar and miraculously strange. According to National Book Award-winning author Andrea Barrett, these essays are as spare and beautiful as the landscape from which they've grown. Each one is a pilgrimage into the secrets of the heart. Talking on the Water Jonathan White, 2016-09-19 During the 1980s and 90s the Resource Institute headed by Jonathan White held a series of floating seminars aboard a sixty-five foot schooner featuring leading thinkers and writers from an array of disciplines. Over ten years White conducted interviews gathered in this collection with the writers, scientists and environmentalists who gathered on board to explore our relationship to the wild. White describes the conversations as the roots of an integrated community. While at first these roots may not appear to be linked, a closer look reveals that they are sustained in common ground. Beloved fiction writer Ursula K. Le Guin discusses the nature of language, microbiologist Lynn Margulis contemplates Darwin's career and the many meanings of evolution and anthropologist Richard

Nelson sifts through the spiritual life of Alaska's native people. Rounding out the group are writers Gretel Ehrlich, Paul Shepard, and Peter Matthiessen; conservationists Roger Payne and David Brower; theologian Matthew Fox; activist Janet McCloud; Jungian analyst James Hillman; poet Gary Snyder; and ecologist Dolores LaChapelle. By identifying the common link between these conversations, Talking on the Water takes us on a journey in search of a deeper understanding of ourselves and the environment.

Radical Joy for Hard Times Trebbe Johnson, 2018-09-25 In a time of uncertainty and devastation from pandemics to environmental catastrophe, a call to action for finding beauty, creating art, and healing in community. When a beloved place is decimated by physical damage, many may hit the donate button or call their congressperson. But award-winning author Trebbe Johnson argues that we need new methods for coping with these losses and invites readers to reconsider what constitutes worthwhile action. She discusses real wounded places ranging from weapons testing grounds at Eglin Air Force Base to Appalachian mountain tops destroyed by mining. These stories, along with tools for community engagement, ceremony, vigil, apology, and the creation of art with on-site materials, show us how we can find beauty in these places and discover new sources of meaning and community.

Water Library Basia Irland, 2007 Water Library is a tribute to ecology expressed through art. Irland's art projects explore practical ways to conserve water through rain harvesting systems, how to foster dialogue and cooperation along the entire length of a river, and the dangerous impact of waterborne diseases on human health. By offering thought-provoking information presented poetically, Water Library inspires in readers a broader appreciation of water's importance in their everyday lives.

Conserving Words Daniel J. Philippon, 2004 Conserving Words looks at five authors of seminal works of nature writing who also founded or revitalized important environmental organizations: Theodore Roosevelt and the Boone and Crockett Club; Mabel Osgood Wright and the National Audubon Society; John Muir and the Sierra Club; Aldo Leopold and the Wilderness Society; and Edward Abbey and Earth First. These writers used powerfully evocative and galvanizing metaphors for nature metaphors that Daniel J. Philippon calls "conserving words": frontier, Roosevelt garden, Wright park, Muir wilderness, Leopold and utopia, Abbey. Integrating literature, history, biography, and philosophy, this ambitious study explores how "conserving words" enabled narratives to convey environmental values as they explained how human beings should interact with the nonhuman world.

The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Ecology Roger S. Gottlieb, 2006-11-09 The last two decades have seen the emergence of a new field of academic study that examines the interaction between religion and ecology. Theologians from every religious tradition have confronted world religions' past attitudes towards nature and acknowledged their own faith's complicity in the environmental crisis. Out of this confrontation have been born vital new theologies based in the recovery of marginalized elements of tradition, profound criticisms of the past, and ecologically oriented visions of God, the Sacred, the Earth, and human beings. The proposed handbook will serve as the definitive overview of these exciting new developments. Divided into three main sections, the book's essays will reflect the three dominant dimensions of the field. Part one will explore traditional religious concepts of and attitudes towards nature and how these have been changed by the environmental crisis Part II looks at larger conceptual issues that transcend individual traditions Part III will examine religious participation in environmental politics The Solace of Open Spaces Gretel Ehrlich, 2017-02-21 These transcendent lyrical essays on the West announced Gretel Ehrlich as a major American writer Wyoming has found its Whitman Annie Dillard Poet and filmmaker Gretel Ehrlich went to Wyoming in 1975 to make the first in a series of documentaries when her partner died Ehrlich stayed on and found she couldn't leave The Solace of Open Spaces is a chronicle of her first years on the planet of Wyoming a personal journey into a place a feeling and a way of life Ehrlich captures both the otherworldly beauty and cruelty of the natural forces the harsh wind bitter cold and swiftly changing seasons in the remote reaches of the American West She brings depth tenderness and humor to her portraits of the peculiar souls who also call it home hermits and ranchers rodeo cowboys and schoolteachers dreamers and realists Together these essays form an evocative and vibrant tribute to the life Ehrlich chose and the geography she loves Originally written as journal entries addressed to a friend The Solace of Open Spaces is raw meditative electrifying and uncommonly wise In prose as expansive as a Wyoming vista as charged as a bolt of prairie lightning Ehrlich explores the magical interplay between our interior lives and the world around us Newsday

Literature and the Environment George Hart, Scott Slovic, 2004-07-30 The phrase literature and environment only achieved popularity in recent decades yet writers dating back to the explorers of the 1500s and later such 19th century Romanticists as Thoreau have long been addressing environmental issues through literary expression This volume introduces students and educators to the field by tracing the evolution of environmental writing in the United States Chapters written by distinguished scholars offer new perspectives on important environmental issues guiding readers through 11 carefully selected literary works Each chapter provides brief biographical information on the author discussions of the work's structural thematic and stylistic components and insights into the historical context that relates the work to relevant environmental issues Each chapter concludes with information on works cited The analyzed works cover a wide spectrum of literature and span nearly 100 years Included are early writings such as Mary Austin's 1903 The Land of Little Rain and famous groundbreaking works such as Rachel Carson's Silent Spring 1962 and Gary Snyder's Turtle Island 1974 Also included are frequently assigned works of special interest to students such as The Monkey Wrench Gang 1975 The Earthsea Trilogy 1977 and Ceremony 1977 A list of selected further suggested readings completes the volume Students of literature as well as educators looking for new ways to present social issues will find many ideas and much inspiration in this volume

The ISLE Reader Michael P. Branch, Scott Slovic, 2003 This volume gathers nineteen of the most representative and defining essays from the journal ISLE Interdisciplinary Studies in Literature and Environment over the course of its first ten years Following an introduction that traces the stages of ecocriticism's development The ISLE Reader is organized into three sections each of which reflects one of the general goals the journal has sought to accomplish The section titled Re evaluations provides new readings of familiar environmental writers and new environmental perspectives on authors or literary traditions not usually considered from a green perspective The writings in Reaching Out to Other Disciplines promote cross pollination among various disciplines and methodologies in the environmental arts and humanities The writings in the final section New Theoretical and Practical Paradigms are especially significant for the conceptual and methodological terrain they map The ISLE Reader documents the state of research in ecocriticism and related interdisciplinary fields provides a survey of the field and points to new methodologies and possibilities for the future
