Tupper, Keith D. Cicerone, 2012-12-06 For a period of some fifteen years following completion of my internship training in clinical psychology 1950-1951 at the Washington University School of Medicine and my concurrent successful navigation through that school's neuroanatomy course clinical work in neuropsychology for me and the psychologists of my generation consisted almost exclusively of trying to help our physician colleagues differentiate patients with neurologic from those with psychiatric disorders In time experience led all of us from the several disciplines involved in this enterprise to the conclusion that the crude diagnostic techniques available to us circa 1945-1965 had garnered us little valid information upon which to base such complex differential diagnostic decisions It now is gratifying to look back and review the remarkable progress that has occurred in the field of clinical neuropsychology in the four decades since I was a graduate student In the late 1940s such pioneers as Ward Halstead Alexander Luria George Yacorzynski Hans Lukas Teuber and Arthur Benton already were involved in clinical studies that by the late 1960s would markedly have improved the quality of clinical practice However the only psychological tests that the clinical psychologist of my immediate post Second World War generation had as aids for the diagnosis of neurologically based conditions involving cognitive deficit were such old standbys as the Wechsler Bellevue Rorschach Draw A Person Bender Gestalt and Graham Kendall Memory for Designs Test The Survey of Adult Skills Reader's Companion OECD, 2013-10-08 This reader's companion for the Survey of Adult Skills explains what the survey measures and the methodology behind the measurements Evaluating Public Communication Jim Macnamara, 2017-09-05 Evaluating Public Communication addresses the widely reported lack of rigorous outcome and impact oriented evaluation in advertising public relations corporate government political and organizational communication and specialist fields such as health communication This transdisciplinary analysis integrates research literature from each of these fields of practice as well as interviews content analysis and ethnography to identify the latest models and approaches Chapters feature a review of 30 frameworks and models that inform processes for evaluation in communication including the latest recommendations of industry bodies evaluation councils and research institutes in several countries recommendations for standards based on contemporary social science research and industry initiatives such as the IPR Task Force on Standards and the Coalition for Public Relations Research Standards an assessment of metrics that can inform evaluation including digital and social media metrics 10 informal research methods and over 30 formal research methods for evaluating public communication evaluation of public communication campaigns and projects in 12 contemporary case studies Evaluating Public Communication provides clear guidance on theory and practice for students researchers and professionals in PR advertising and all fields of communication

Resources in Technical Communication Cynthia Selfe,2017-03-02 Provides the instructors of introductory technical communication courses with a set of resources for their classrooms
