Community Water Community Management From System To Service In Rural Areas:

Community Water, Community Management Ton Schouten, J. Patrick Moriarty, 2003 Community management has become the leading concept for implementing water supply systems in rural areas In the light of two decades of experience this book considers the opportunities and constraints of community management in providing a service to the millions of people who need it

Community Management of Rural Water Supply Paul Hutchings, Richard Franceys, Stef Smits, Snehalatha Mekala, 2017-07-14 Based on twenty detailed successful case studies from across India this book outlines future rural water supply approaches for all lower income countries as they start to follow India on the economic growth and subsequent service levels transition

Community-based Water Law and Water Resource Management Reform in Developing Countries Barbara C. P. Koppen, Mark Giordano, John Butterworth, 2007 The lack of sufficient access to clean water is a common problem faced by communities efforts to alleviate poverty and gender inequality and improve economic growth in developing countries While reforms have been implemented to manage water resources these have taken little notice of how people use and manage their water and have had limited effect at the ground level On the other hand regulations developed within communities are livelihood oriented and provide incentives for collective action but they can also be hierarchal enforcing power and gender inequalities This book shows how bringing together the strengths of community based laws rooted in user participation and the formalized legal systems of the public sector water management regimes will be more able to reach their goals

Rehabilitating Community Water Systems, 1993 Multiple-use water services to advance the millennium development goals van Koppen, Barbara, Moriarty, P., Boelee, Eline, 2006 This research report presents the findings of the first phase of the action research project Models for implementing multiple use water supply systems for enhanced land and water productivity rural livelihoods and gender equity Multipleuse water services or mus in short is a participatory integrated and poverty reduction focused approach in poor rural and peri urban areas which takes people s multiple water needs as a starting point for providing integrated services moving beyond the conventional sectoral barriers of the domestic and productive sectors

Routledge Handbook of Water and Health Jamie Bartram, 2015-09-25 This comprehensive handbook provides an authoritative source of information on global water and health suitable for interdisciplinary teaching for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students It covers both developing and developed country concerns It is organized into sections covering hazards including disease chemicals and other contaminants exposure interventions intervention implementation distal influences policies and their implementation investigative tools and historic cases It offers 71 analytical and engaging chapters each representing a session of teaching or graduate seminar Written by a team of expert authors from around the world many of whom are actively teaching the subject the book provides a thorough and balanced overview of current knowledge issues and relevant debates integrating information from the environmental health and social sciences

Leading Issues in Competition, Regulation, and

Development Paul Cook, 2004-01-01 The promotion of liberalized and deregulated markets by bilateral and multilateral aid donors and by global institutions such as the WTO has led to significant attention being paid to competition and regulatory reforms in developing economies The process of reform involves the transfer and diffusion of market models derived from practice and theory in developed countries However in developing countries regulation needs to do more than simply promote competitiveness and consumer interests it also needs to ensure that the market nurtures development By rigorously examining the numerous impacts of regulation this book will help to fill a significant gap in the literature on economic and social development The book now available in paperback draws together contributions from leading experts across a range of disciplines including economics law politics and governance public management and business management The authors begin with an extensive overview of the issues of regulation and competition in developing countries and carefully illustrate the important themes and concepts involved Using a variety of country and sector case studies they move on to focus on the problems of applicability and adaptation that are experienced in the process of transferring best practice policy models from developed to developing countries The book presents a clear agenda for further empirical research and is notable for its rigorous exploration of the links between theory and practice Although there is substantial interest in competition and regulation as yet there has been relatively little investigation of these issues in developing economies This book redresses the balance and will be a valuable resource for researchers academics teachers and students interested in development economics and development studies It will also be of great relevance for practitioners and policymakers working in the fields of competition policy and regulatory reform
