Patel, 2021-11-30 This book Sourcing Land for Urban Development Issues and Options is a compilation of a number of articles written over a period of time with a focus on making optimum use of urban land for rationalizing and promoting planned and orderly development of urban settlements Articles try to define and detail prevailing practices used for sourcing land for meeting the need of housing industry trade and commerce institutions etc of cities and towns Articles also try to detail innovative options which can be leveraged for making available adequate land for meeting the urban needs at the most affordable price using innovatively land as a resource to make cities slum free and promote infrastructure development to ensure appropriate quality of life to all urban residents generating resources for urban local bodies for funding different development projects Environmental Planning in the Netherlands: Too Good to be True Gert de Roo, 2017-03-02 The Netherlands is one of the most prominent and innovative countries in the field of environmental planning Over the past decade its government has introduced such ground breaking schemes as Integrated Environmental Zoning the City Environment Project the Bubble Concept and Policy Concepts and new approaches to coping with noise odours soil pollution air pollution and safety issues

These initiatives and policy tools reflect a rapidly changing and decentralising environmental policy which contrasts with more conventional environmental ideologies. However at present little is known of these policies in the international arena. De Roo shows how and why in recent years the country's planning system has moved away from its traditional top down structure. The resulting changes have had far reaching consequences for the traditional principles of Dutch environmental policy. In addition measures for compensating excessive environmental loads are now open to discussion and environmental quality is a subject of negotiation among stakeholders. All these developments mean that environmental policy making has become more closely integrated with local initiatives that focus on general location specific qualities. In this book this development is referred to as tailor made comprehensive planning which relates closely to the local context is area specific situation dependent and embraces shared governance. Achieving Sustainable Mobility Erling Holden, 2007-01-01

There have been a number of policy attempts at sustainable mobility globally but are any of these policies really successful? Using an interdisciplinary approach which brings together various theories and methodologies this book tests each of these policies or hypotheses as the author sees them with detailed empirical investigations. The book concludes by suggesting fourteen theses of sustainable mobility for the EU and a new model for future best practice. Gated Communities Samer Bagaeen, Ola Uduku, 2010-02-09. Gated Communities provides a historic socio political and contemporary cultural perspective of gated communities. In doing so it offers a different lens through which to view the historical vernacular background of this now global phenomenon. The book presents a collection of new writing on the issue by an international and interdisciplinary group of contributors. The authors review current thinking on gated communities and consider the sustainability issues that these contemporary lifestyle communities raise. The authors argue that there are links that can be drawn between the historic gated homesteads and cities found in much of the world and today's Western style secure complexes. Global examples of gated communities and their historical context are presented throughout the book. The authors also comment on how sustainability issues have impacted on these communities. The book concludes by considering how the historic measures up with the contemporary in terms of sustainability function and aesthetic. The Sustainable City X C.A. Brebbia, W.F. Florez-Escobar, 2015-09-01

Containing the proceedings of the 10th International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability this book addresses the multidisciplinary aspects of urban planning a result of the increasing size of cities the amount of resources and services required and the complexity of modern society. Most of earth's population now lives in cities and the process of urbanisation continues generating many problems deriving from the drift of the population towards them. These problems can be resolved by cities becoming efficient habitats saving resources in a way that improves the quality and standard of living. The process however faces a number of major challenges related to reducing pollution improving main transportation and infrastructure systems. New urban solutions are required to optimise the use of space and energy resources leading to improvements in the environment i.e. reduction in air water and soil pollution as well as efficient ways to deal with waste generation These challenges contribute to the development of social and economic imbalances and require the development of new solutions Large cities are probably the most complex mechanisms to manage However despite such complexity they represent a fertile ground for architects engineers city planners social and political scientists and other professionals able to conceive new ideas and time them according to technological advances and human requirements The challenge of planning sustainable cities lies in considering their dynamics the exchange of energy and matter and the function and maintenance of ordered structures directly or indirectly supplied and maintained by natural systems Topics covered include Urban Strategies Planning Development and Management Urban Conservation and Regeneration The Community and the City Eco town Planning Landscape Planning and Design Environmental Management Sustainable Energy and the City Transportation Quality of Life Architectural Issues Cultural Heritage Issues Intelligent Environment and Emerging Technologies Planning for Risk Disaster and Emergency Response Safety and Security Waste Management Infrastructure and Society Urban Metabolism Compact Cities Rod Burgess, Mike Jenks, 2003-09-01 This collection of edited papers forms part of the Compact City Series creating a companion volume to The Compact City 1996 and Achieving Sustainable Urban Form 2000 and extends the debate to developing countries This book examines and evaluates the merits and defects of compact city approaches in the context of developing countries in Africa Asia and Latin America Issues of theory policy and practice relating to sustainability of urban form are examined by a wide range of international academics and practitioners City of Well-being Hugh Barton, 2016-11-10 City of Well being provides a radical and holistic introduction to the science and art of town planning It starts from the premise that the purpose of planning is the health well being and sustainable quality of life of people Drawing on current and historic examples it offers inspiration information and an integrated perspective which challenges all professions and decision makers that affect the urban environment It is both authoritative and readable designed for students practitioners politicians and civil society The science Summarizing the most recent research the book demonstrates the interrelationships between the huge issues of obesity unhealthy lifestyles inequality mental illness climate change and environmental quality The radical implications for transport housing economic social and energy policies are spelt out The art and politics The book examines how economic development really happens and how spatial decisions reinforce or undermine good intentions It searches for the creative strategies urban forms and neighbourhood designs that can marry the ideal with the real The relationship of planning and politics is tackled head on leading to conclusions about the role of planners communities and development agencies in a pluralistic society Healthy planning principles could provide a powerful logical motivation for all practitioners Urban Regeneration Steffen Lehmann, 2019-02-28 Urban Regeneration A Manifesto for transforming UK Cities in the Age of Climate Change explores and offers guidance on the complex process of how to transform cities continuing the unfinished project of the seminal 1999 text Towards an Urban Renaissance It is a 21st century manifesto of urban principles compiled by a prominent urbanist for the regeneration of UK cities focusing on the characteristics of a good place and the strategies of sustainable urbanism It asks readers to consider how we can best transform the derelict abandoned and run down parts of cities back into places where people want to live work and play The book frames an architecture of re use that translates and combines the complex science of cities and the art of urban and architectural design into actionable and practical guidance on how to regenerate cities Fascinated by the typology and value of the compact UK and European city model Lehmann introduces the concept of high density without high buildings as a solution that will make our cities compact walkable mixed use and vibrant again

Fuzzy Planning Gert de Roo, Geoff Porter, 2016-04-15 Many of the key notions associated with spatial planning are essentially fuzzy in their nature For example while almost everyone accepts sustainability as an important goal of planning the actions of the actors involved can render the achieved sustainability minimal or even counterproductive Putting forward an innovative way of looking at planning problems and policies this volume suggests actor consulting is important in addressing the fuzzy nature of planning A tool to address differences in understanding actor
