Learning and Work Charles N. Darrah, 2013-04-11 This volume examines how employees in two manufacturing concerns perceive and perform their jobs and how the workplace influences employees' thinking. Based on extensive fieldwork, the book describes and explores the experiences of daily work. Workers are observed as they interpret instructions and deal with often contradictory expectations.

and ambiguous information The study shows that this process is far more complex than the one portrayed in discussions of skill requirements by managers expert analysts and many educators The book demonstrates that workplaces impart lessons that are at least as powerful as those conveyed in training programs and other official activities It explores how people acquire an organizational world view that enables them to interpret the rules of the workplace and to perform appropriately The book also examines how the new worker becomes part of a dynamic community of co workers Ethnographic descriptions document variations in the experiences of different workers and the strategies they adopt The picture that emerges challenges widely held assumptions about the importance of skill requirements at work and the presumed inadequacy of ordinary people to work effectively This book is especially timely as the nation seeks to reform education to better meet the demands of increased competition and to address domestic concerns about preparing people for employment A bibliography of references is included

Success Formula Andrew Kakabadse,2015-03-12 What do successful organizations and smart leaders have in common They deliver outstanding value to their stakeholders Interviews with over 80 leading organizations in private public and third sectors from all over the world have led Andrew Kakabadse to a fascinating insight organizations where stakeholder engagement was highest were not those led by charismatic and visionary leaders but by a culture of delivering outstanding value Through his research he found two different approaches at work In strategy led organizations senior management has a clear notion of how value can be created and enacts a strategy to achieve it with the support of key managers and board members Value delivery led organizations approach value creation differently In these organizations the leadership gathers evidence from internal and external stakeholders to determine the value the organization is delivering today and can deliver in the future A strategy is then put in place to support those findings and is deliberately exposed to challenges from stakeholders to create engagement The Success Formula demonstrates how value delivery led organizations are outperforming their strategy led counterparts and how the world's best organizations deliver value to their stakeholders with examples drawn from Anglo American Deutsche Bank Citibank Jaguar Landrover Microsoft BMW and Alfa Bank This authoritative guide shows leaders how to improve the way they gather meaningful evidence to create a value delivery culture
