Development provides a comprehensive statement and reference point for local and regional development. The scope of this Handbook's coverage and contributions engages with and reflects upon the politics and policy of how we think about and practise local and regional development encouraging dialogue across the disciplinary barriers between notions of local and regional development in the Global North and development studies in the Global South. This Handbook is organized into seven inter-related sections with an introductory chapter setting out the rationale, aims and structure of the Handbook. Section one situates local and regional development in its global context. Section two establishes the key issues in understanding the principles and values that help us define what is meant by local and regional development. Section three critically reviews the current diversity and variety of conceptual and theoretical approaches to local and regional development. Section four addresses questions of government and governance. Section five connects critically with the array of contemporary approaches to local and regional development policy. Section six is an explicitly global review of perspectives on local and regional development from Africa, Asia, Pacific, Europe, Latin America and North America. Section seven provides reflection and discussion of the futures for local and regional development in an international and multidisciplinary context. With over forty contributions from leading international scholars in the field, this Handbook provides critical reviews and appraisals of the current state of the art, conceptual and theoretical approaches and future developments in local and regional development.

Metropolitan Economic Development Alejandra Trejo Nieto, José L. Niño-Amézquita, 2019-08-28

Metropolitan areas are home to a significant proportion of the world's population and its economic output. Taking Mexico as a case study and weaving in comparisons from Latin America and developed countries, this book explores current trends and policy issues around urbanisation, metropolitanisation, economic development and city/region governance. Despite their fundamental economic relevance, the analysis and monitoring of metropolitan economies in Mexico and other countries in the Global South under a comparative perspective are relatively scarce. This volume contains empirical analysis based on comparative perspectives with relation to international experiences. It will be of interest to advanced students, researchers and policymakers in urban policy, urban economics, regional studies, economic geography and Latin American studies.

Managing the City Economy Le-Yin Zhang, 2015-03-24 In a world increasingly organised as networks of cities, this book offers the first full-length treatment of the subject of managing the city economy. It explores key challenges and strategies, particularly in developing countries where developmental deficits are greatest and almost all urban growth up to 2050 will take place. Adopting a practitioner's perspective, theoretically grounded and international in scope, this book is unique in its focus and endeavours to connect theory with practice. Through an interdisciplinary and strategic approach, this book explores the challenges and options in managing the contemporary city economy. It aims to illustrate the extent to which appropriate policy interventions in the city economy could offer effective solutions to some of the most difficult social and environmental challenges facing cities. The book comprises five main parts. Part I sets the scene and examines contemporary processes that affect cities and explains the challenges they pose for city managers Part II presents a selection of conceptual frameworks commonly used in urban economic analysis Part III examines the management of sectoral growth covering manufacturing exports of services transport and logistics and real estate Part IV addresses urban poverty low carbon transition and the informal economy Part V focuses on laying the foundation for long term city development exploring the roles of city development strategies municipal finance investment in people and appropriate infrastructure This book is designed for graduate courses in urban economic development urban planning urban policy and public administration and for professionals who are involved in the management of city economies or and conducting research consultancy or policy advocacy for cities Through critical review of relevant debates and a dozen case studies this book will equip city managers with the knowledge required to strengthen the performance of their city economy while delivering authentic and sustainable development

Baldwin, Robin King, 2018-05-15 Urban communities around the world face increased stress from natural disasters linked to climate change and other urban pressures They need to grow rapidly stronger in order to cope adapt and flourish Strong social networks and social cohesion can be more important for a community's resilience than the actual physical structures of a city But how can urban planning and design support these critical collective social strengths This book offers blue sky thinking from the applied social and behavioural sciences and urban planning It looks at case studies from 14 countries around the world including India the USA South Africa Indonesia the UK and New Zealand focusing on initiatives for housing public space and transport stops and also natural disasters such as flooding and earthquakes Building on these insights the authors propose a gold standard a socially aware planning process and policy recommendation for those drawing up city sustainability and climate change resilience strategies and urban developers looking to build climate proof infrastructure and spaces This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of urban studies resilience studies and climate change policy as well as policymakers and practitioners working in related fields

Economic Strategies for Mature Industrial Economies Peter Karl Kresl, 2010-01-01 The global economy has transformed during the last few decades Though the changes have benefited some many mature industrial economies MIEs have not been treated well by the changes they have seen and have been forced to adapt to dramatically changed circumstances In this collection of original papers economists and geographers from Asia North America and Europe examine the policy initiatives that have succeeded in their countries The analyses address issues such as local state and federal governance aging populations inter city cooperation and loss of dominant firms Additionally the authors discuss policy issues such as industrial tourism the roles of education knowledge and culture and repositioning a regions place in the global economy The volume also includes an empirical estimation of the competitiveness of major cities The contributors to this book hold that it is possible for the overwhelming majority of MIEs to shape their policy in such a way that many of the objectives that will yield the most prosperity will fall within their reach In that spirit this book offers the elements for generating economic strategies for mature industrial economies Suggesting frontier polices to help cities chart a course for future developmental success this stimulating work is ideally suited to economists policymakers city planners students and scholars of business economics urban studies and public policy and all those concerned with creating equity for the cities of tomorrow

Metropolitan Regions Johan Klaesson, Börje

Johansson, Charlie Karlsson, 2013-06-05 Metropolitan growth has been dramatic in the past several decades and today metropolitan regions are recognized as the main driving forces in national growth and development as well as in national and global innovation processes The purpose of this book is to contribute to a better understanding of how metropolitan regions and their subsystems interact and compete why they differ in their capacity to nurture innovation and growth and how metropolitan policies must be designed to secure the region's long term vitality To that end it presents new contributions on theories of urban growth institutions and policies of urban change and case studies of urban growth prepared by international experts

Leveraging the Potential of Argentine Cities Elisa Muzzini, Beatriz Eraso Puig, Sebastian Anapolsky, Tara Lonnberg, Viviana Mora, 2016-12-16 Argentina s path to economic prosperity is through efficient sustainable and economically thriving cities Not only are cities a spatial concentration of people but also they generate agglomeration economies by concentrating ideas talent and knowledge Argentina is one of the most urbanized countries in Latin America with 90 percent of Argentine people currently living in cities Argentina s cities are geographically and economically diverse and its largest urban area Metropolitan Buenos Aires is one of Latin America s urban giants Argentine cities need to address three main challenges to leverage their economic potential Argentina's current patterns of urban development are characterized by a high primacy and unbalanced regional development b limited global economic footprint of urban economies with employment concentrated in nontradable and resource intensive sectors and c unplanned low density urban expansion Argentine cities thus face the challenges of moving toward a more balanced regional development transitioning from local to global cities and from urban sprawl to articulated densities to take full advantage of the benefits of agglomeration economies To address these challenges Argentina needs the leadership of the federal government the coordinating power of provinces and the capacity of empowered financially sound municipalities Argentine cities also need system wide policy reforms in areas such as territorial planning municipal finance housing urban transport and local economic development Leveraging the Potential of Argentine Cities A Framework for Policy Action aims to deepen our empirical understanding of the interplay between urbanization and agglomeration economies in Argentina by asking the following a What are the main trends and spatial patterns of Argentina's urbanization that underlie agglomeration economies b Are urban policies leveraging or undermining the benefits of agglomeration economies and c Are Argentine cities fully reaping the benefits of agglomeration economies to deliver improvements in prosperity and livability By addressing such questions and exploring their implications for action this study provides a conceptual framework empirical data and strategic directions for leveraging the potential of Argentine cities

Bangladesh Elisa Muzzini, Gabriela Aparicio, 2013-04-11 Bangladesh seeks to attain middle income status by 2021 To accelerate growth enough to do so Bangladesh needs to build a competitive urban space that is innovative connected and livable This book identifies what is unique about Bangladesh's process of urbanization and examines the implications for economic growth Financing Africa's Cities Thierry Paulais, 2012-07-05 This volume addresses the issues of financing urban growth of the African continent which has the highest urban growth rate on the planet in the next decades Considerable investment will be needed to sustain this level of growth and to clear up accumulated backlogs At the same time decentralization has resulted in increased responsibilities for local government but in most cases institutional reforms were carried out without the transfer of a sufficient level of resources and local capacities in governance and project management are weak Which mechanisms will finance these extensive needs and how will African local governments meet these needs Specifics on how to finance African cities have not been studied The actual scale of this market has not been fully grasped A systemic approach to this market is difficult because of its diversity country size institutional context characteristics of urban network availability of capital market currency etc and a lack of data Donors assistance methods in the sector are disparate marked by disputes between different schools of thought special purpose vehicles created by donors operate according to a variety of methods and with wide ranging and sparsely disseminated results What is the best way to transform these systems often antiquated in many respects into modern financing systems that facilitate access to domestic markets mobilize local savings and reinforce local government autonomy There is no single answer to this question in regard to such a variety of institutional and economic contexts The main objective of the study is to clarify the debates and to enlighten the choices of African decision makers at local and national level
