Taylor, Miriam, 2014-03-01 This book weaves together the experience of trauma neuroscience and Gestalt theory and applies these to clients The Impact of Touch in Dance Movement Psychotherapy Katy Dymoke, 2021-10-22 This book explores the therapeutic use of touch focusing on an in depth case study of work in an NHS setting with a client with learning disabilities and situating this within a wide theoretical context This is a unique and influential study illustrating the impact of touch in dance movement psychotherapy and laying the ground for a theory on the use of touch in Dance Movement Psychotherapy DMP The case study illustrates the impact of touch upon the therapeutic relationship with the use of video transcription and descriptive reflexive accounts of the session content The case analysis sections establish the ground for a paradigm shift and for emergent theory and methods in support of the use of touch in Dance Movement Psychotherapy and other contexts The role touch takes is beyond its affect which expands our understanding of its potency as an intervention
The writing is embedded in many years of practice led research in the field of dance and somatic practices in particular Body Mind Centering and Contact Improvisation in which touching and being touched is met with curiosity as a place of insight and revelation beyond the bounds of taboo and social diktat The study considers the philosophical landscape of both touch and non touch This book explores and reflects upon the use of touch considering the wider context and socially imposed perceptions that would prevent touch from taking place including philosophical and social discourses Through telling the story of a client case the book offers a wealth of thought provoking content to inspire continued dialogue Key strengths of this book are the depth warmth and perceptiveness of the case history and the way in which this is successfully linked with theory Particular attention is paid to embodied cognition and exosystemic theory the two leading developments of current thinking With the ethical practical and philosophical content the book will be of interest to psychotherapists health and social care practitioners as well as arts in health practitioners and beneficiaries in educational programs and settings Primary readership will be among DMP psychotherapists body psychotherapists drama therapists Body Mind Centering practitioners arts in health practitioners people working with clients with learning disabilities and any practitioner and researcher interested in understanding the role touch may play in the psychotherapeutic encounter Emotional Neglect and the Adult in Therapy: Lifelong Consequences to a Lack of Early Attunement Kathrin A. Stauffer, 2020-11-17 A clinical examination of the ways in which early neglect can impact adults throughout their lives and suggestions for therapists on how to help People who have experienced emotional neglect in the first months and years of life suffer negative consequences into adulthood As adult psychotherapy clients they require long term work and delicate emotional attunement as well as a profound understanding of the experiences that have shaped their inner worlds This book provides therapists with an in depth view of the subjective experience of such ignored children and a range of possible theoretical models to help understand key features of their psychological functioning Kathrin A Stauffer presents do s and don t s of psychotherapy with such clients She draws on broad clinical experience to help psychotherapeutic professionals deepen their understanding of ignored children and outlines available neurobiological and psychological data to assist therapists in designing effective therapeutic interventions

Trauma Therapy and Clinical Practice: Considerations of Neuroscience, Gestalt and the Body, 2nd Edition Miriam Taylor, 2024-10-02 This book now in its second edition has become a classic in clinical studies of trauma Its informed content deeply humane style numerous clinical examples flowing narrative and ethical clarity make it an essential contribution to all contemporary clinicians and psychotherapists in training of any approach Margherita Spagnuolo Lobb Director of the Italian Gestalt Therapy Institute Italy This book calls us to think critically about the language we use to regularly examine our cherished theories and ways of working and to embrace multiple perspectives I would recommend it to all therapists wherever they are in their careers Dr Sue Wright Integrative and Sensorimotor Psychotherapist UK Working with traumatised clients can present challenges and complexities for therapists as they navigate what are often highly specific deep rooted issues Trauma Therapy and Clinical Practice has been fully updated to reflect the changes that have impacted therapy research over the past decade and represents a major advancement in how trauma is perceived While staying true to her premise of trauma as an embodied experience and retaining the book s popular three part structure in this new edition trauma is repositioned as a social justice issue and reconsiders the emphasis on neuroscience taking trauma theory further into a relational view This new edition Thoroughly explores the role of fear helplessness dissociation and shame Offers valuable insights into restoring continuity of self and of time Contains updated diverse references and intersectional analyses Uses refreshed pedagogy to help deepen learning Critically discusses concepts such as mindfulness in relation to trauma therapy Written in her trademark accessible and personal writing style Miriam Taylor examines the application of both neuroscience and Gestalt theory in recovery presenting a considered theoretical basis for working with highly traumatised people The new edition of Trauma Therapy and Clinical Practice is at the cutting edge of contemporary trauma thinking and is essential reading for trainees and practitioners in counselling and therapy Miriam Taylor is a semi retired Gestalt psychotherapist supervisor and international trainer With over 30 years experience of working with trauma her approach is embodied and relational in the widest possible sense She is the author of Deepening Trauma Practice and is on the

Leadership Team of Relational Change UK Creative Ethical Practice in Counselling & Psychotherapy Patti Owens, Bee Springwood, Michael Wilson, 2012-03-22 Can I be a creative therapist without overstepping boundaries and risking complaints Can I practise safely and ethically whilst remaining true to my humanistic values This book answers Yes by offering a safety net to trainees and therapists working in the context of today's complaints culture Exploring what safe and creative practice means in relation to the key cornerstones in therapy the authors offer practical guidance to assist the reader in reflecting on and negotiating the challenges of boundaries legalities and defensive practice Creative Ethical Practice for Counselling Psychotherapy considers the necessary structures and processes that must inform creative humanistic practice for it to be a safe ethical therapeutic framework Packed with reflective exercises summaries case examples and step by step guidance this book takes the reader from establishing the therapeutic relationship to worst case scenarios like complaints procedures and legal action It is essential reading for legal ethical modules on all counselling courses Patti Owens Michael Wilson and Bee Springwood are all humanistic and integrative therapists and members of the UK Association of Humanistic Psychology Practitioners UKAHP as well as the United Kingdom Council for Psychotherapy UKCP Verbal and Non-Verbal Communication in Psychotherapy Gill Westland, 2015-08-24 Implicit communications analyzed alongside verbal communication in therapy Body language facial expression and tone of voice are key components in therapeutic interactions but for far too long psychotherapists have dismissed them in favor of purely verbal information In Verbal and Non Verbal Communication in Psychotherapy Gill Westland examines the interrelation of the verbal and the non verbal in the context of clients and therapists working together The physiology of communication is also discussed from overwhelming emotions that make it difficult to speak to breath awareness that makes it easier Therapists will be able to cultivate non verbal communication through mindfulness practices and right brain to right brain communication It is not just the client's actions and emotions that are significant it is important that therapists relate in a way that makes it clear to their clients that they are receptive and inviting and Westland expertly depicts the bodily dimensions of this encounter between client and therapist The book brings together insights from a range of psychotherapeutic traditions including psychoanalysis arts psychotherapies humanistic psychotherapy and in particular body psychotherapy for clinicians who want to expand their communication abilities Drawing on 30 years of clinical experience and providing illustrative clinical vignettes Westland has written a guide both for those who might not have any experience in the theory of non verbal communications and for lifelong psychotherapy practitioners She lays as groundwork recent research into the neurobiology of interaction and the foundations of non verbal communication in babyhood continuing throughout from a bodymind perspective that pays due attention to the physicality of the body Westland urges therapists to learn how to leave their comfort zone and try new ways of helping their clients Writing in a richly evocative lucid language Westland seeks to bring about change in both psychotherapist and client as they navigate both the verbal and non verbal aspects of embodied relating Trauma in the Creative and Embodied

Time and Space in the Neoliberal University Maddie Breeze, Yvette Taylor, Cristina Costa, 2019-06-13 This book offers new interdisciplinary analyses of borders and blockages in higher education and how they can be inhabited and reworked. Amidst stratified inequalities of race gender class and sexuality across time and space contributors explore what alternative academic futures can be claimed. While higher education institutions are increasingly concerned with internationalization diversity and widening access and participation the sector remains complicit in reproducing entrenched inequalities of access and outcomes among both students and staff. Boundaries of who does and does not belong are continually drawn enacted contested and redrawn. In the contemporary neoliberal entrepreneurial and post colonial educational context contributors critically examine educational futures as these become more uncertain. This wide ranging collection serves as a call to action for those concerned with the future of higher education and how alternative futures can be reimagined.
