The Ecopoetics of Entanglement in Contemporary Turkish and American Literatures Meliz Ergin, 2017-10-11 This book foregrounds entanglement as a guiding concept in Derrida's work and considers its implications and benefits for ecocritical thought Ergin introduces the notion of ecological text to emphasize textuality as a form of entanglement that proves useful in thinking about ecological interdependence and uncertainty She brings deconstruction into a dialogue with social ecology and new materialism outlining entanglements in three strands of thought to demonstrate the relevance of this concept in theoretical terms Ergin then investigates natural social entanglements through a comparative analysis of the works of the American poet Juliana Spahr and the Turkish writer Latife Tekin The book enriches our understanding of complicity and accountability by revealing the ecological network of material and discursive forces in which we are deeply embedded It makes a significant contribution to current debates on ecocritical theory comparative literature and ecopoetics

The Cambridge Introduction to Literature and the Environment Timothy Clark, 2011-01-06 The degrading environment of the planet is something that touches everyone This 2011 book offers an introductory overview of literary and cultural criticism that concerns environmental crisis in some form Both as a way of reading texts and as a theoretical approach to culture more generally ecocriticism is a varied and fast changing set of practices which challenges inherited thinking and practice in the reading of literature and culture This introduction defines what ecocriticism is its methods arguments and concepts and will enable students to look at texts in a wholly new way Boxed sections explain key critical terms and contemporary debates in the field with hands on examples and comparisons Timothy Clark s thoughtful approach makes this an ideal first encounter with environmental readings of literature

Eco-Deconstruction Philippe Lynes, David Wood, 2018-03-27 Eco Deconstruction marks a new approach to the degradation of the natural environment including habitat loss species extinction and climate change While the work of French philosopher Jacques Derrida 1930 2004 with its relentless interrogation of the anthropocentric metaphysics of presence has already proven highly influential in posthumanism and animal studies the present volume drawing on published and unpublished work by Derrida and others builds on these insights to address the most pressing environmental issues of our time The volume brings together fifteen prominent scholars from a wide variety of related fields including eco phenomenology eco hermeneutics new materialism posthumanism animal studies vegetal philosophy science and technology studies environmental humanities eco criticism earth art and aesthetics and analytic environmental ethics Overall eco deconstruction offers an account of differential relationality explored in a non totalizable ecological context that addresses our times in both an ontological and a normative register The book is divided into four sections Diagnosing the Present suggests that our times are marked by a facile flattened out understanding of time and thus in need of deconstructive dispositions Ecologies mobilizes the spectral ontology of deconstruction to argue for an originary environmentality the constitutive ecological embeddedness of mortal life Nuclear and Other Biodegradabilities examines remains including such by products and disintegrations of human culture as nuclear waste environmental destruction and species extinctions Environmental Ethics seeks to uncover a demand for justice including human responsibility for suffering beings that emerges precisely as a response to original differentiation and the mortality and unmasterable alterity it installs in living beings As such the book will resonate with readers not only of philosophy but across the humanities and the social and natural sciences

Keller, 2010-03-15 Through a series of multidisciplinary readings Environmental Ethics The Big Questions contextualizes environmental ethics within the history of Western intellectual tradition and traces the development of theory since the 1970s Includes an extended introduction that provides an historical and thematic introduction to the field of environmental ethics Features a selection of brief original essays on why to study environmental ethics by leaders in the field Contextualizes environmental ethics within the history of the Western intellectual tradition by exploring anthropocentric human centered and nonanthropocentric precedents Offers an interdisciplinary approach to the field by featuring seminal work from eminent philosophers biologists ecologists historians economists sociologists anthropologists nature writers business writers and others Designed to be used with a web site which contains a continuously updated archive of case studies environmental ethics info From Mastery to Mystery Bryan E. Bannon, 2014-01-15 From Mastery to Mystery is an original and provocative contribution to the burgeoning field of ecophenomenology Informed by current debates in environmental philosophy Bannon critiques the conception of nature as a substance that he finds tacitly assumed by the major environmental theorists Instead this book reconsiders the basic goals of an environmental ethic by questioning the most basic presupposition that most environmentalists accept that nature is in need of preservation Beginning with Bruno Latour's idea that continuing to speak of nature in the way we popularly conceive of it is ethically and politically disastrous this book describes a way in which the concept of nature can retain its importance in our discussion of the contemporary state of the environment Based upon insights from the phenomenological tradition specifically the work of Martin Heidegger and Maurice Merleau Ponty the concept of nature developed in the book preserves the best antihumanistic intuitions of environmentalists without relying on either a reductionistic understanding of nature and the sciences or dualistic metaphysical constructions Environmental Philosophy Michael E.
