Tunisian Women's Writing in French Sonia Alba,2018-11-21 Tunisian women s literary production in French published or set between the years 1987 and 2011 from Tunisia s second president Zine El Abidine Ben Ali s rise to power to the eve of the Tunisian Revolution reveals the role of women their political engagement and their resistance to patriarchal oppression A great deal of media and scholarly attention has focused on the role of women during the Tunisian Revolution itself yet few studies have considered women s literary and active engagement prior to the uprising By contrast this book focuses specifically on the time period leading to the Revolution The book is structured around three chapters each focusing on a different form of writing and on a number of contemporary Tunisian writers who have chosen to express themselves in French Sonia Alba explores the complex ways in which the authors have attempted to deal with those issues cultural social and political most relevant to them This is the first study of Tunisian women s writing in French to compare and contrast key themes in three different genres within a single study and within the conceptual framework of subaltern counterpublics The work is enhanced by the inclusion of extracts from previously unpublished authors interviews Tunisian Women s Writing in French is essential reading for all Francophone and Postcolonial scholars and for scholars and students working in Contemporary Women s Writing

Thomas Hardy's Short Stories Juliette Berning Schaefer,Siobhan Craft

Brownson,2016-11-18 Thomas Hardy penned nearly fifty short stories but in spite of this impressive number his contributions to the genre have been relatively understudied Bringing together an international group of scholars this is the first edited collection devoted solely to Hardy s works of short fiction The contributors take up topics related to their publication in periodicals gender and community relationships and narrative techniques Taken together the essays show that Hardy s short stories are important not only for what they tell us about Hardy as a writer who straddles the divide between the traditionalist and the modernist but also for how they reflect and inform the period in which he wrote

The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature Lokangaka Losambe, Tanure Ojaide, 2024-05-16 The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature introduces world literature readers to the transnational multivocal writings of immigrant African authors. Covering works produced in Europe, North America, and elsewhere in the world, this book investigates three major aesthetic paradigms in African diasporic literature: the Sankofan wave (late 1960s–early 1990s), the Janusian wave (1990s–2020s), and the Offshoots of the New Arrivants (those born and growing up outside Africa). Written by well-established and emerging scholars of African and diasporic literatures from across the world, the chapters in the book cover the works of well-known and not so well-known Anglophone, Francophone, and Lusophone writers from different theoretical positionalities and critical approaches, pointing out the unique innovative artistic qualities of this major subgenre of African literature. The focus on the diasporic consciousness of the writers and their works sets this handbook apart from others that solely emphasize migration, which is more of a process than the community of settled African people involved in the dynamic acts of living reflected in diasporic writings. This book will appeal to researchers and students from across the fields of Literature, Diaspora Studies, African Studies, Migration Studies, and Postcolonial Studies.
