The Slain God Timothy Larsen,2014-08-28 Throughout its entire history the discipline of anthropology has been perceived as undermining or even discrediting Christian faith Many of its most prominent theorists have been agnostics who assumed that ethnographic findings and theories had exposed religious beliefs to be untenable E B Tylor the founder of the discipline in Britain lost his faith through studying anthropology James Frazer saw the material that he presented in his highly influential work The Golden Bough as demonstrating that Christian thought was based on the erroneous thought patterns of savages On the other hand some of the most eminent anthropologists have been Christians including E E Evans Pritchard Mary Douglas Victor Turner and Edith Turner Moreover they openly presented articulate reasons for how their religious convictions cohered with their professional work Despite being a major site of friction between faith and modern thought the relationship between anthropology and Christianity has never before been the subject of a book length study In this groundbreaking work Timothy Larsen examines the point where doubt and faith collide with anthropological theory and evidence

Democracy at the Ballpark Thomas David Bunting,2021-11-01 What is the relationship between sports and politics Often politics are thought to be serious whereas sports are diversionary and apolitical Using baseball as a case study Democracy at the Ballpark challenges this understanding examining politics as they emerge at the ballpark around spectatorship community equality virtue and technology Thomas David Bunting argues that because spectators invest time and meaning in baseball the game has power as a metaphor for understanding and shaping politics The stories people see in baseball mirror how they see the country politics and themselves As a result democracy resides not only in exclusive halls tread by elites but also in a stadium full of average people together under an open sky Democracy at the Ballpark bridges political theory and sport providing a new way of thinking about baseball It also demonstrates the democratic potential of spectatorship and rethinks the role of everyday institutions like sport in shaping our political lives offering an expanded view of democracy

Manifesting the Spirit Mbanyane Mhango, 2021-09-30 Fewer subjects have generated intense debate in Christian thought and practice than sacraments A reductionist view of the term sacrament often causes this debate and engenders tension between the so called sacramental and non sacramental churches largely based on whether one views the Water Baptism and the Lord's Supper as ordinances or as sacraments means of encountering God Drawing from the theological view that Christ is the primordial sacrament of the encounter with God this book posits that all believers are sacraments of an encounter with God This claim has ecumenical import Conversion Baptism the Lord's Supper the Empowerment Gifts and Fruit of the Spirit Worship Testimonies of Triumphs or Sufferings Eschatological Hope etc enable believers to manifest the Spirit Pentecost inaugurated all believers as both macrocosmic and microcosmic sacraments The notion of sacramentality of believers intersects with the theological triad of Orthodoxy Orthopraxy and Orthopathy

Learning to Love Sonya E Pritzker, 2024-07-10 Learning to Love offers a range of perspectives on the embodied relational affective and sociopolitical project of learning to love at the New Life Center for Holistic Growth a popular mind body spirit bookstore and practice space in northeast China in the early part of the 21st century This intimate form of self care exists alongside the fast moving growing capitalist society of contemporary China and has emerged as an understandable response to the pressures of Chinese industrialized life in the early 21st century Opening with an investigation of the complex ways newcomers to the center suffered a sense of being off both in and with the world at multiple scales Learning to Love then examines how new horizons of possibility are opened as people interact with one another as well as with a range of aesthetic objects at New Life Author Sonya Pritzker draws upon the core concepts of scalar intimacy a participatory discursive process in which people position themselves in relation to others as well as dominant ideologies concepts and ideals and scalar inquiry the process through which speakers interrogate these forms their relationship with them and their participation in reproducing them In demonstrating the collaborative interrogation of culture history and memory she examines how these exercises in physical mental and spiritual self care allow participants to grapple with past social harms and forms of injustice how historical systems of power including both patriarchal and governance structures continue in the present and how they might be transformed in the future By examining the interactions and relational experiences from New Life Learning to Love offers a range of novel theoretical interventions into political subjectivity temporality and intergenerational trauma healing

Growing Young Leaders Donald Smith, 2025-02-14 This book fills in gaps in research on leadership development programs for youth through taking the opportunity to research a long standing leadership development program for young men that has evidenced some success The research question was What factors contribute to the apparent success of the Boys Brigade leadership program Using a grounded theory methodology the program was examined through the lenses of communitas liminality servant leadership masculine spirituality rites of passage and wilderness Research findings are that program is characterized by its uniqueness and the final theory that emerged identified the importance for youth ministry of acceptance imperfection and freedom and empowerment within an overarching spiritual dimension evidenced throughout the study most remarkably through the positive response to worship Staff factors were also critical including the description of the staff team as being multi generational non hierarchical and servant led not placing a high value on differentiation of status and allowing a seamless transition of course graduates into staff roles The religion of Orange politics Joseph Webster, 2020-06-30 The religion of Orange politics offers an in depth anthropological account of the Orange Order in Scotland Based on ethnographic research collected before during and after the Scottish independence referendum Joseph Webster details how Scotland s largest Protestant only fraternity shapes the lives of its members and the communities in which they live Within this Masonic inspired society with secrets Scottish Orangemen learn how transform themselves and their fellow brethren into what they regard to be ideal British citizens For many Scots Orangemen being British means being ultra Protestant and ultra unionist but also frequently comes to be marked by pointedly anti Catholic sentiments and by a wider set of often deliberately sectarian political cultural and footballing loyalties It is from this ethnographic context framed by ritual initiations loyalist marches fraternal drinking and constitutional campaigning that the key questions of the book emerge What is the relationship between fraternal love and sectarian hate Can religiously motivated bigotry and exclusion be part of human experiences of The Good What does it mean to claim that one s religious community is utterly exceptional a literal race apart The Open System Landon Mascareñaz, Doannie Tran, 2023-06-20 A call to action for school and community leaders to reframe educational institutions as open systems that are adaptable and responsive to the needs of students families and communities Landon Mascareñaz and Doannie Tran propose that even as events of this decade have exposed stress points in existing top down closed systems within education and other public institutions they have also created prime opportunities to rethink and redesign those systems in ways that encourage civic participation and invigorate local democracy In The Open System Mascareñaz and Tran argue for a critical revitalization of public education centered in openness an organization design concept in which an entity receives considers and acts on input from the community it serves As they demonstrate open education policy improves information flow increasing opportunity bolstering public trust and making room for cocreation and coproduction driven by community partnerships and family engagement Based on their groundbreaking work with educational coalitions such as the Kentucky Coalition for Advancing Education and Colorado's Homegrown Talent Initiative Mascare az and Tran introduce six key liberatory moves that can bring about open system transformation They highlight real life examples of the types of incremental specific and discrete projects that leaders can use to create openness in educational systems at the school district and state levels providing a blueprint for changemaking

Experiential and Performative Anthropology in the Classroom Pamela R. Frese, Susan Brownell, 2020-07-08 The contributors gathered here revitalize ethnographic performance the performed recreation of ethnographic subject matter pioneered by Victor and Edith Turner and Richard Schechner as a progressive pedagogy for the 21st century They draw on their experiences in utilizing performances in a classroom setting to facilitate learning about the diversity of culture and ways of being in the world The editors themselves both students of Turner at the University of Virginia and Richard Schechner share recollections of the Turners vision and set forth a humanistic pedagogical agenda for the future A detailed appendix provides an implementation plan for ethnographic performances in the classroom
