Community-based Health Care Jon E. Rohde, Harvard School of Public Health, 2002-01-01 Achieving Health for All David Bishai, Meike Schleiff, 2020-09-15 How did seven low and middle income countries inspired by the landmark Alma Ata Declaration dramatically improve citizen health by focusing on primary health care The Alma Ata Declaration of 1978 marked a potential turning point in global health signaling a commitment to primary health care that could have improved the safety of air food water roads homes and workplaces in all 180 countries that signed it Unfortunately progress in many countries stalled in the 1980s The declaration was however embraced by a number of countries where its implementation led to substantial improvement in citizen health Achieving Health for All reveals how inspired by Alma Ata the governments of seven countries executed comprehensive primary health care systems deploying new cadres of community based health workers to bring relevant services to ordinary households Drawing on a set of narrative case studies from Bangladesh Indonesia Ethiopia Nepal Ghana Sri Lanka and Vietnam the book explains how a primary health care focus succeeded in improving population health The book also conclusively demonstrates that comprehensive multisector community controlled and population level primary health care is a viable strategy that against the odds has led to sustainable scalable good health at lower cost Bringing together a group of experts to analyze the forty year legacy of the Alma Ata Declaration Achieving Health for All is a fascinating look at the work needed to transform nations from places that make people sick to places where they stay healthy An inspiring array of lessons learned along the way shows how readers can make policies that support the health of all people Contributors Onaopemipo Abiodun Vinya Ariyaratne John Koku Awoonor Williams Kedar Prasad Baral Ayaga A Bawah Pedro M s Bermejo Fred N Binka David Bishai Carolina Cardona Dennis Carlson Chala Tesfaye Chekagn Hoang Khanh Chi Svea Closser Luc Barri re Constantin Zufan Abera Damtew Marlou de Rouw Nadia Diamond Smith Philip Forth Mignote Solomon Haile Nguyen Thanh Huong Taufique Joarder Alice Kuan Seblewengel Lemma Sasmira Matta Ahmed Moen Rituu B Nanda Frank K Nyonator Ferdous Arfina Osman Claudia Pereira Henry B Perry James F Phillips Meike Schleiff Melissa Sherry Rita Thapa Kebede Worku Setting Up Community Health and Development Programmes in Low and Middle Income Settings Ted Lankester, Nathan J. Performance-based Contracting for Health Services in Developing Countries Benjamin Loevinsohn,2008-01-01 Despite the existence of effective interventions there are many developing countries which are not on track to achieve the Millennium Development Goals MDGs for health In many countries the delivery of health services is inadequate and one way of improving the situation is to contract with non state providers Contracting is a mechanism for a financing entity to procure a defined set of services from a non state provider Performance based contracting is a type of contracting with a a clear set of objectives and indicators b systematic efforts to collect data to judge contractor performance and c some consequences for the contractor either rewards or sanctions based on performance Effective contracting for health services can be facilitated by using a systematic approach described in this toolkit that addresses key issues including how to 1 have a constructive dialogue with all stakeholders 2 define the health services in terms of what services are to be delivered where the quantity of beneficiaries to be served equity and quality of care 3 design the monitoring and evaluation to judge the performance of contractors 4 select the contractors in a fair and transparent way 5 arrange for effective contract management 6 draft the contract and bidding documents and 7 carry out the bidding process and successfully manage the contracts The toolkit also includes a review of 14 evaluated examples of contracting in developing countries which concludes that the current weight of evidence indicates that contracting improves the coverage and quality of services rapidly The six cases with controlled before and after evaluations demonstrated large impact with the median double difference follow up minus baseline in the experimental group minus follow up minus baseline in the control ranging from 9 to 26 percentage points

Measuring Effectiveness in Humanitarian and Development Aid Andre M. N. Renzaho, 2007 Donor countries are currently scaling up their aid programmes in response to strategies proposed through the Millennium Development Goals Recent positive research on the impact of foreign development aid has led to increased expectations on the part of donor countries Research suggests that per capita income growth over the last decade would have been lower in the absence of aid and also that public sector expenditure on health and education in developing countries would not have been as great without aid inflows However there still remain many significant gaps in knowledge on aid allocation and effectiveness This book addresses a number of these gaps and provides many new and important analytical insights into aid Among the topics covered are the interface between aid allocation and perceptions of aid effectiveness the inter recipient concentration of aid from non government organizations the year on year volatility of aid impacts of aid on public sector fiscal aggregates and evaluation of the country level impacts of aid The book is an essential companion for professionals engaged in aid policy reforms and also for scholars in the areas of development economics international finance and economics

Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2002-04 Global Health Challenges for Human Security Lincoln C. Chen, Jennifer Leaning, Vasant Narasimhan, 2003 This volume explores the evolving relationship between health and security in today's interdependent world and offers policy guidelines for effective global health action The 15 chapters in this volume represent invited contributions from distinguished leaders in global health commissioned by Harvard University's Global Equity Initiative a research unit supporting the work of the international Commission on Human Security

Maternal and Perinatal Health in Developing Countries Julia Hussein, Affette McCaw-Binns, Roger Webber, 2012 The promotion of maternal health and mortality reduction is of worldwide importance and constitute a vital part of the UN Millennium Development Goals The highest maternal mortality rates are in developing countries where global and regional initiatives are needed to improve the systems and practices involved in maternal care and medical access Taking a practical policy approach this book covers the background and concepts underlying efforts to improve maternal and perinatal mortality the current global situation and problems that prevent progress It includes case studies and examples of successful strategies recommends good practices and provides a critical analysis of knowledge gaps to inform areas for future research
