Compendium van het staatsrecht, 1992-01-01 The enforceability of the human right to adequate food Bart

Wernaart, 2023-09-04 While the right to adequate food is often discussed in the context of developing countries especially in situations where access to adequate food is a problem on a larger scale this book focusses on the right to food in two Western countries in which theoretically the circumstances allow this right to be enjoyed by each individual Through a legal comparative study the enforceability of the right to food is compared between the Netherlands and Belgium in light of the current UN Human Rights system There seems to be a difference between what the countries do what they say they do and what they should do on the matter As it appears the coincidental constitutional circumstances mainly determine the enforceability of the right to food rather than the content of the human right in itself This book includes a thorough analysis of suitable comparative legal methodology and the embedment of the right to food in the UN human right system Furthermore for both countries an in depth analysis of the case law on the right to food mostly concerning the status of foreigners the constitutional context in which the Judiciary operates and the relevant UN reports and subsequent procedures are outlined Finally recommendations are made to both countries and the relevant UN Committees Human Rights from

Exclusion to Inclusion: Principles and Practice Fons Coomans, Cees Flinterman, Fred Grünfeld, Ingrid Westendorp, Jan Willems, 2021-10-25 Professor Theo van Boven has made his mark in the field of human rights by writing a vast number of scholarly articles reports studies congress papers and the like covering many topics Most of his work has been published in law journals textbooks Festschriften and other sources Since not all of these publications are easily accessible it is the purpose of this anthology to bring together a selection of his writings from 1966 to 1998 The editors have focused on those subjects that played a major part during Theo van Boven's career and that are in their view the most interesting to the reader That is why this volume contains papers on such issues as the United Nations and its role as regards human rights racial discrimination the right to rehabilitation the international criminal tribunals the role of NGOs and many more The papers have been arranged in different groups under general headings Within each group articles dealing with the same subject have been put in chronological order A detailed bibliography covering most of Theo van Boven's publications is included in this book as an annex All through his work Theo van Boven displays his sound theoretical background as well as his enormous practical experience This combination makes his writings so attractive and compelling to read Introduction

Constitutionalism and Civil Liberties Ybema, 2025-02-10 Judicial Review of Legislation Gerhard van der Schyff, 2010-06-16 Constitutionalism is the permanent quest to control state power of which the judicial review of legislation is a prime example Although the judicial review of legislation is increasingly common in modern societies it is not a finished project This device still raises questions as to whether judicial review is justified and how it may be structured Yet judicial review's justification and its scope are seldom addressed in the same study thereby making for an inconvenient divorce of these two related avenues of study To narrow the divide the object of this work is quite straightforward Namely is the idea of judicial review defensible and what influences its design and scope This book addresses these matters by comparing the judicial review of legislation in the United Kingdom the Human Rights Act of 1998 the Netherlands the Halsema Proposal of 2002 and the Constitution of South Africa of 1996 These systems present valuable material to study the issues raised by judicial review The Netherlands is of particular interest as its Constitution still prohibits the constitutional review of acts of parliament while allowing treaty review of such acts The Halsema Proposal wants to even out this difference by allowing the courts also to apply constitutional norms to legislation and not only to international norms The Human Rights Act and the South African Constitution also present interesting questions that will make their study worthwhile One can think of the issue of dialogue between the legislature and the judiciary This topic enjoys increased attention in the United Kingdom but is somewhat underexplored in South African thought on judicial review These and similar issues are studied in each of the three systems to not only gain a better understanding of the systems as such but also of judicial review in general Separating Powers: International Law before National Courts David Haljan, 2012-10-30 The more international law taken as a global answer to global problems intrudes into domestic legal systems the more it takes on the role and function of domestic law This raises a separation of powers question regarding law making powers This book considers that specific issue In contrast to other studies on domestic courts applying international law its constitutional orientation focuses on the presumptions concerning the distribution of state power It collects and examines relevant decisions regarding treaties and customary international law from four leading legal systems the US the UK France and the Netherlands Those decisions reveal that institutional and conceptual allegiances to constitutional structures render it difficult for courts to see their mandates and powers in terms other than exclusively national Constitutionalism generates an inevitable dualism between international law and national law one which cannot necessarily be overcome by express constitutional provisions accommodating international law Valuable for academics and practitioners in the fields of international and constitutional law

Reflections on International Law from the Low Countries Erik M.G. Denters, Nico J. Schrijver, 2023-09-25 This wide ranging series provides expert insights into the most fundamental aspects of public international law and has for many years made a major contribution to the international debate on legal issues affecting the world community Introduction to Dutch Law D. C. Fokkema, 1978 Handbook providing a general introduction to Dutch law in the English language covering the whole system in its different branches such as private law criminal law constitutional law fiscal law economic law labour law and international law Staatsrecht, 2012 Dit boek is door de jaren heen ingrijpend herzien Ook de elfde druk behelst een substantiële herziening van de vorige druk Hierdoor is het boek de afgelopen jaren niet alleen in omvang toegenomen maar is het staatsrecht ook uitvoeriger en diepgaander behandeld Door deze ontwikkeling kan van een compendium niet meer gesproken worden
