Ways in Which Constitutional Amendments and Supreme Court Cases Influence Decision-making

It is true to say that constitutional amendments during a constitution-making process are a key determinant that affects the legal provisions. The people who draft constitutional amendments target a sustainable legal future for the Americans, which is integrated with the US Supreme Court decisions concerning various issues (Trantidis, 2017). Amending the constitution is important because it enables judges of the Supreme Court to have reference points concerning various issues that affect the government's welfare. For example, the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments allowed the judges to have a staunch stand concerning slavery and equal protection under the law in the US, respectively. Under the same amendments, the key issues were how to end the Civil War in the US (Trantidis, 2017). When major amendments are made in the US constitution, the decision-making process on the legal ground becomes easy since the judicial minds press on a certain clause under the constitution that guides the making a legal choice.

During that process of Supreme Court decision-making, the judges always make sure they have a ratification perspective guiding their verdicts in courts. Matters presented in Supreme Court are of major interest to the people of the US, and thus, the judges ensure that there is no conflict of interest between the defendants and plaintiffs (Reardon, 2017). In a given case, the law clerks, solicitor general and the media usually play a key role in the decision making of the Supreme Court. The cases may be a contested battle between the civilians and the government. Therefore, those cases influence judges to apply their legal, ideological, personal and political perspectives when making verdicts so that all the matters are equally weighed for the concerned parties. For example, the Supreme Court case of Marbury v. Madison (1803) influenced judges' decisions on who can ultimately choose what the law is (Reardon, 2017). Through the case, the Court was influenced by the ability to integrate laws on the ground of whether to be constitutional or not under the judicial power to review laws.
