exercised by some over others Though this meaning is hardly redundant understandings of power have become more multidimensional and nuanced as a result of the spatial turn Much recent writing in human geography for example has rigorously extended use of the term power beyond its typical understanding as a resource that pools up in some hands and some places to a medium of agency that has different effects depending on how it is deployed across space and how actors cooperate or not to give it effect To address this objective the book is organized thematically into four sections that cover the main areas in which much of the contemporary work on geographies of power is concentrated bodies economy environment and energy and war

Berglund,Thomas Lundén,Peter Strandbrink,2015-05-19 Dealing with different regions and cases the contributions in this volume address and critically explore the theme of borders educations and religions in northern Europe As shown in different ways and contrary to popular ideas there seems to be little reason to believe that religious and civic identity formation through public education is becoming less parochial and more culturally open Even where state borders are porous where commerce culture and trade as well as associative personal and social life display stronger liminal traits normative education remains surprisingly national This situation is remarkable and goes against the grain of current notions of both accelerating globalisation and a European regional renaissance The book also takes issue with the foundational tenet that liberal democracies are by definition uninvolved in matters concerning faith and belief Instead an implied conclusion is that secular liberal democracy is less than secular and liberal at least in education which is a major arena for political cultural ethical socialisation as it aims to confer worldviews and frameworks of identity on young people who will eventually become full citizens and bearers sharers of prevailing normative communities Naval Training Bulletin ,1948 Research in
