Contested Ground Australian Aborigines Under The British Crown:

Contested Ground Ann McGrath, 2020-08-12 Contested Ground provides a comprehensive and up to date account of the processes and experiences which shaped the lives of Aboriginal Australians from 1788 to the present. It integrates eye witness accounts, oral histories and historical research to present the first colony by colony state by state history of Aboriginal white relations. Contested Ground tells a story of dispossession and denial but it is also a positive account revealing the persistent struggles of Aboriginal communities for a better future. Clearly written and generously illustrated, this book demonstrates why Australian Aboriginal history like the very land itself remains contested ground. Both indigenous and non indigenous Australians have a lot to learn about each other before reconciliation between the two peoples can be realised. This book will go a long way towards achieving that end. Paul Behrendt The Aboriginal People, Parliament and "protection" in New South Wales, 1856-1916 Anna Doukakis, 2006 This lecture describes South Africa's current attempts to accommodate traditional leadership within the new constitution and system of government.

English and the Discourses of Colonialism Alastair Pennycook, 2002-09-11 English and the Discourses of Colonialism opens with the British departure from Hong Kong marking the end of British colonialism. Yet Alastair Pennycook argues that this dramatic exit masks the crucial issue that the traces left by colonialism run deep. This challenging and provocative book looks particularly at English language teaching and colonialism. It reveals how the practice of colonialism permeated the cultures and discourses of both the colonial and colonized nations, the effects of which are still evident today. Pennycook explores the extent to which English is as commonly assumed a language of neutrality and global communication and to what extent it is by contrast a language laden with meanings and still weighed down with colonial discourses that have come to adhere to it. Travel writing, newspaper articles and popular books on English are all referred to as well as personal experiences and interviews with learners of English in India, Malaysia, China and Australia. Pennycook concludes by appealing to postcolonial writing to create a politics of opposition and dislodge the discourses of colonialism from English.

Broken Circles Anna Haebich, 2000-11-01 This major work reveals the dark heart of the history of the Stolen Generations in Australia. It shows that from the earliest times of European colonization, Aboriginal Australians experienced the trauma of loss and separation as their children were abducted, enslaved, institutionalized and culturally remodeled. Providing a moving and comprehensive account of this tragic history, this study covers all Australian colonies, states and territories. The analysis spans 200 years of white occupation and intervention from the earliest seizure of Aboriginal children through their systematic state removal and incarceration and on to the harsh treatment of families under the assimilation policies of the 1950s and 1960s. The resistance, struggle and achievements of Aboriginal people in defending their communities, regaining their rights and mending the broken circles of family life provides a compelling parallel story of determination and courage.

The Black Grapevine Linda Briskman, 2003 The Black Grapevine tells the extraordinary story of Indigenous efforts to stop children becoming part of the stolen generations and to end the government policies and practices which destroyed their families Linda Briskman uses the story of the Secretariat of National Aboriginal and Island Child Care SNAICC to centre her book Indigenous people involved tell how they came together to form a national organisation for child care how they found similar experiences from one end of Australia to the other how they pooled experience and emotion to provide support for one another how they lobbied for a national inquiry And they campaigned Indigenous activists fought with astonishing resilience for recognition of past and present practices for the right to have Indigenous viewpoints to the forefront and for resources Briskman's story goes beyond the contest with the state to give a convincing portrait of the ways in which Indigenous groups worked There are connections with international action educational and fund raising projects and the much vaunted annual Aboriginal and Islander Children's Day She concludes by reflecting on the successes of campaigns and actions to date and the extent of unfinished business Her strong academic background combines with the oral testimony of the activists to produce a fast moving book that is both entertaining and rigorous

In the Eye of the Beholder Barbara Dawson, 2014-11-19 This book offers a fresh perspective in the debate on settler perceptions of Indigenous Australians It draws together a suite of little known colonial women apart from Eliza Fraser and investigates their writings for what they reveal about their attitudes to views on and beliefs about Aboriginal people as presented in their published works The way that reader expectations and publishers requirements slanted their representations forms part of this analysis All six women write of their first hand experiences on Australian frontiers of settlement The division into adventurers Eliza Fraser Eliza Davies and Emily Cowl and longer term settlers Katherine Kirkland Mary McConnel and Rose Scott Cowen allows interrogation into the differing representations between those with a transitory knowledge of Indigenous people and those who had a close and more permanent relationship with Indigenous women even encompassing individual friendship More pertinently the book strives to reveal the aspects largely overlooked in colonial narratives of Indigenous agency authority and individuality

Building Better Britains? Cecilia Morgan, 2016-09-16 The impact of empires and the lingering presence of colonialism continue to be major preoccupations for scholars in the twenty first century This concise text explores the spread of settler colonies within the British Empire over the course of the nineteenth century specifically those in New Zealand Canada South Africa and Australia In Building Better Britains Cecilia Morgan examines how imperial powers reshaped the lives and landscapes of millions through colonial relationships with Indigenous peoples and the processes of migration and settlement that facilitated the British Empire's global expansion Identity and culture in geographically diverse settler societies are compared highlighting shared histories and the nuances that differentiated them Morgan encourages readers to consider settler societies from multiple perspectives including those of the colonists themselves Eight maps and eight illustrations enhance the text along with a bibliography and index

Historical Representation and the Postcolonial Imaginary John Hartnett, 2011-01-18 Historical Representation and the Postcolonial Imaginary Constructing Travellers and Aborigines endeavours to provide an overview of the role which oral history plays in the documentation representation and subsequent empowerment of neglected and long marginalised social groups in this case the cultural minorities that are the Irish Travellers and the Australian Aborigines Oral history has proved paramount in enabling such groups to document their pasts which until recently had been occluded and often ignored This work explores the genre that is oral history through the prism that is the construction of the Other in society and with particular reference to two minorities whose histories share a range of similar characteristics In examining this process it is possible to trace the transformation of folklore and storytelling into documented historical narrative

Empires of Religion H. Carey, 2008-11-13 A sparkling new collection on religion and imperialism covering Ireland and Britain Australia Canada the Cape Colony and New Zealand Botswana and Madagascar Bursting with accounts of lively characters and incidents from around the British world this collection is essential reading for all students of religious and imperial history

Van Diemen's Land Murray Johnson, Ian McFarlane, 2015-03-01 The history of Aborigines in Van Diemen's Land is long The first Tasmanians lived in isolation for as many as 300 generations after the flooding of Bass Strait Their struggle against almost insurmountable odds is one worthy of respect and admiration not to mention serious attention This broad ranging book is a comprehensive and critical account of that epic survival up to the present day Starting from antiquity the book examines the devastating arrival of Europeans and subsequent colonisation warfare and exile It emphasises the regionalism and separateness a consistent feature of Aboriginal life since time immemorial that has led to the distinct identities we see in the present including the unique place of the islanders of Bass Strait Carefully researched using the findings of archaeologists and extensive documentary evidence some only recently uncovered this important book fills a long time gap in Tasmanian history

Philanthropy and Settler Colonialism A. O'Brien, 2014-12-15 This book the first long range history of the voluntary sector in Australia and the first internationally to compare philanthropy for Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples in a settler society explores how the race and gender ideologies embedded in philanthropy contributed to the construction of Australia's welfare state

Equal subjects, unequal rights Julie Evans, Patricia Grimshaw, David Philips, Shurlee Swain, 2013-07-19 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This book focuses on the ways in which the British settler colonies of Australia Canada New Zealand and South Africa treated indigenous peoples in relation to political rights commencing with the imperial policies of the 1830s and ending with the national political settlements in place by 1910 Drawing on a wide range of sources its comparative approach provides an insight into the historical foundations of present day controversies in these settler societies

The Cambridge Economic History of the Modern World: Volume 1, 1700 to 1870 Stephen Broadberry, Kyoji Fukao, 2021-06-24 The first volume of The Cambridge Economic History of the Modern World traces the emergence of modern economic growth in eighteenth century Britain and its spread across the globe Focusing on the period from 1700 to 1870 a team of leading experts in economic history offer a series of regional studies from around the world as well as thematic analyses of key factors governing the differential outcomes in different parts of the global economy Topics covered include population and human development capital and technology geography and institutions living standards and inequality international flows of trade and labour the international monetary system and war and empire

Rethinking the Racial Moment Barbara Brookes, Alison Holland, 2011-05-25 In recent years race has fallen out of historiographical fashion being eclipsed by seemingly more benign terms such as culture ethnicity and difference This timely and highly readable collection of essays re energises the debate by carefully focusing our attention on local articulations of race and their intersections with colonialism and its aftermath In Rethinking the Racial Moment Essays on the Colonial Encounter Alison Holland and Barbara Brookes have produced a collection of studies that shift our historical understanding of colonialism in significant new directions Their generous and exciting brief will ensure that the book has immediate appeal for multiple readers engaged in critical theory as well as those more specifically involved in Australian and New Zealand history Collectively they offer new and invigorating approaches to understanding colonialism and cultural encounters in history via the interpretive not merely temporal frame of the moment

Aboriginal Customary Law: A Source of Common Law Title to Land Ulla Secher, 2014-12-01 Described as ground breaking in Kent McNeil s Foreword this book develops an alternative approach to conventional Aboriginal title doctrine It explains that aboriginal customary law can be a source of common law title to land in former British colonies whether they were acquired by settlement or by conquest or cession from another colonising power The doctrine of Common Law Aboriginal Customary Title provides a coherent approach to the source content proof and protection of Aboriginal land rights which overcomes problems arising from the law as currently understood and leads to more just results The doctrine s applicability in Australia Canada and South Africa is specifically demonstrated While the jurisprudential underpinnings for the doctrine are consistent with fundamental common law principles the author explains that the Australian High Court s decision in Mabo provides a broader basis for the doctrine a broader basis which is consistent with a re evaluation of case law from former British colonies in Africa as well as from the United States New Zealand and Canada In this context the book proffers a reconceptualisation of the Crown s title to land in former colonies and a reassessment of conventional doctrines including the doctrine of tenure and the doctrine of continuity With rare exceptions the existing literature does not probe as deeply or question fundamental assumptions as thoroughly as Dr Secher does in her research She goes to the root of the conceptual problems around the legal nature of Indigenous land rights and their vulnerability to extinguishment in the former colonial empire of the Crown This book is a formidable contribution that I expect will be influential in shifting legal thinking on Indigenous land rights in progressive new directions From the Foreword by Professor Kent McNeil to read the Foreword please click on the sample chapter link

Violations of Trust Judith Bessant, Richard Hil, Rob Watts, 2005 The past few decades have brought to light increasing evidence of systemic and repeated institutional abuse of children and young people in many western nations This book documents
