Contexts In Translating Benjamins Translation Library:

Contexts in Translating Eugene A. Nida, 2002-11-29 Contexts in Translating is designed to help translators understand the varieties of contexts and their importance for understanding a text and reproducing the meaning in another language The contexts include the historical setting of writing a text the cultural components that make a text unique the types of audiences for which the translation is intended and the most efficient and effective ways of producing a satisfactory representation of the source language text The structural levels of language are described and the principal features of text organization are also explained In addition the main features of various books on translation are outlined and a chapter on basic theories of translation is followed by a selective bibliography

Song Translation: Lyrics in Contexts Johan Franzon, Annjo K. Greenall, Sigmund Kvam, Anastasia Parianou, 2021-02-01 Song Translation Lyrics in Contexts grew out of a project dedicated to the translation of song lyrics The book aligns itself with the tradition of descriptive translation studies Its authors scholars from Finland Great Britain Greece Italy Norway and Sweden all deal with the translation of song lyrics in a great variety of different contexts including music and performance settings inter cultural perspectives and historical backgrounds On the one hand the analyses demonstrate the breadth and diversity of the concept of translation itself on the other they show how different contexts set up conditions that shape translational practices and products in different ways The book is intended for translation studies scholars as well as for musicologists students of language and or music and practicing translators in short anybody interested in this creative and fascinating field of translational practice

Translating Scripture for Sound and Performance James A. Maxey, Ernst Wendland, 2012-11-01 The various studies presented in this anthology underscore the foundational matter of translation in biblical studies as understood from the specific perspective of Biblical Performance Criticism If the assumption for the biblical messages being received is not individual silent reading then the question becomes how does this public performative mode of communication affect the translation of this biblical material Rather than respond to this in general theoretical terms most in this collection of articles offer specific applications to particular Hebrew and Greek passages of Scripture Almost all the authors have firsthand experience with the translation of biblical materials into non European languages in communities who maintain a vibrant oral tradition The premise is that the original Scriptures which were composed in and for performance are being prepared again for live audiences who will receive these sacred texts not primarily in printed form but first and foremost in community by means of oral and visual media This volume is an invitation for others to join us in researching more intensely this intersection of sound performance and translation in a contemporary communication of the Word

Telecollaboration in Translator Education

Mariusz Marczak, 2023-11-24 This volume provides a comprehensive treatment of telecollaboration as a learning mode in translator education surveying the state of the art exploring its distinctive challenges and affordances and outlining future directions in both theoretical and practical terms The book begins with an overview of telecollaboration and its rise in prominence in today's globalised world one in which developments in technology have significantly impacted practices in professional translation and translator education The volume highlights basic design types and assessment modes and their use in achieving competence based learning outcomes drawing on examples from seven telecollaboration projects In incorporating real life research Marczak draws readers attention to not only the practical workings of different types of projects and their attendant challenges but also the opportunities for educators to diversify and optimize their instructional practices and for budding translators to build competence and better secure their future employability in the language service provision industry This volume will be a valuable resource for students and researchers in translation studies particularly those with an interest in translator education and translation technology as well as stakeholders in the professional translation industry

Translation in a Postcolonial Context

Maria Tymoczko, 2016-04-08 This ground breaking analysis of the cultural trajectory of England's first colony constitutes a major contribution to postcolonial studies offering a template relevant to most cultures emerging from colonialism At the same time these Irish case studies become the means of interrogating contemporary theories of translation Moving authoritatively between literary theory and linguistics philosophy and cultural studies anthropology and systems theory the author provides a model for a much needed integrated approach to translation theory and practice In the process the work of a number of important literary translators is scrutinized including such eminent and disparate figures as Standish O Grady Augusta Gregory and Thomas Kinsella The interdependence of the Irish translation movement and the work of the great 20th century writers of Ireland including Yeats and Joyce becomes clear expressed for example in the symbiotic relationship that marks their approach to Irish formalism Translation in a Postcolonial Context is essential reading for anyone interested in translation theory and practice postcolonial studies and Irish literature during the 19th and 20th centuries

Systematically Analysing Indirect Translations

James Luke Hadley, 2023-05-11 This volume applies digital humanities methodologies to indirect translations in testing the concatenation effect hypothesis The concatenation effect hypothesis suggests that indirect translations tend to omit or alter identifiably foreign elements and also tend not to identify themselves as translations The book begins by introducing the methodological framework to be applied in the chapters that follow and providing an overview of the hypothesis The various chapters focus on specific aspects of the hypothesis that relate to specific linguistic stylistic and visual features of indirect translations These features provide evidence that can be used to assess whether and to what extent the concatenation effect is in evidence in any given example The overarching aim of the book is not to demonstrate or falsify the veracity of the concatenation effect hypothesis or to give any definitive answers to the research questions posed. Rather the aim is to pique the curiosity and provoke the creativity of students and researchers in all areas of translation studies who may never have considered indirect translation as relevant to their work.

The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics Kaisa Koskinen, Nike K. Pokorn, 2020-12-16 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics offers a comprehensive overview of issues surrounding ethics in translating and interpreting. The chapters chart the philosophical and theoretical underpinnings of ethical thinking in Translation Studies and analyze the ethical dilemmas of various translatorial actors including translation trainers and researchers. Authored by leading scholars and new voices in the field, the 31 chapters present a wide coverage of emerging issues such as increasing technologization of translation, posthumanism, volunteering and activism, accessibility and linguistic human rights. Many chapters provide the first extensive overview of the topic or present new takes on established areas. The book is divided into four parts with the first covering the most influential ethical theories. Part II takes the perspective of agents in different contexts and the ethical dilemmas they face while Part III takes a critical look at central institutions structuring and controlling ethical behaviour. Finally Part IV focuses on special issues and new challenges and signals new directions for further study. This handbook is an indispensable resource for all students and researchers of translation and ethics within translation and interpreting studies, multilingualism and comparative literature.

Agencies in Feminist Translator Studies Elena Castellano-Ortolà, 2024-04-16 This book sets out a new framework for a feminist history of translators drawing on the legacy of Canadian scholar Barbara Godard and her work in establishing the Canadian literary landscape as a means of exploring agency in feminist translation studies and its implications for cross disciplinary debates. The volume is organised in three sections establishing feminist translator studies as its own approach, examining these dynamics at work in a comprehensive portrait of Barbara Godard's scholarly and literary history and looking ahead to future directions. In situating the discussion on Godard and Canadian literary history, Elena Castellano calls attention to a geographic context in which translation and its practice has been at the heart of debates around national identity and intersected with the rise of feminism and feminist literary scholarship. The book demonstrates how an in depth exploration of the agency of an individual stakeholder whose activities spanned diverse communities and oft conflicting interests can engage in key questions at the intersection of nation making, translation and feminism, paving the way for future research and the further development of feminist translator studies as a methodological framework. This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies, feminist literature, cultural history and Canadian literature.

LXX Song of Songs and Descriptive Translation Studies Dries De Crom, 2019-01-21 Dries De Crom intends to stimulate the cross fertilization of Septuagint Studies and Translation Studies, particularly the theoretical framework of Descriptive Translation Studies (DTS). It engages with concepts and theories from DTS in order to demonstrate their applicability to the study of the Septuagint. The aim is not to replace the established methods of Septuagint Studies but rather to show that they are fully compatible with descriptive approaches to translation The greater part of the volume is dedicated to a meticulous verse by verse comparison between the LXX and MT texts of Song of Songs As there is at present no full critical edition of the Greek texts of Song of Songs due attention is given to the most important witnesses to the pre Hexaplaric text The textual study engages with matters of translation technique textual criticism linguistic interference and the interpretation of LXX Song of Songs On the basis of this textual analysis the volume explores the question of Kaige Theodotion and LXX Song of Song s relation to it as well as the peculiar textual linguistic profile of LXX Songs of Songs against the background of translational norms interference interlanguage and literary code
