Dear Appalachia Emily Satterwhite, 2011-10-01 Much criticism has been directed at negative stereotypes of Appalachia perpetuated by movies television shows and news media Books on the other hand often draw enthusiastic praise for their celebration of the simplicity and authenticity of the Appalachian region Dear Appalachia Readers Identity and Popular Fiction since 1878 employs the innovative new strategy of examining fan mail reviews and readers geographic affiliations to understand how readers have imagined the region and what purposes these imagined geographies have served for them As Emily Satterwhite traces the changing visions of Appalachia across the decades from the Gilded Age 1865 1895 to the present she finds that every generation has produced an audience hungry for a romantic version of Appalachia According to Satterwhite best selling fiction has portrayed Appalachia as a distinctive place apart from the mainstream United States has offered cosmopolitan white readers a sense of identity and community and has engendered feelings of national and cultural pride Thanks in part to readers faith in authors as authentic representatives of the regions they write about Satterwhite argues regional fiction often plays a role in creating and affirming regional identity By mapping the geographic locations of fans Dear Appalachia demonstrates that mobile white readers in particular including regional elites have idealized Appalachia as rooted static and protected from commercial society in order to reassure themselves that there remains an authentic America untouched by global currents Investigating texts such as John Fox Jr s The Trail of the Lonesome Pine 1908 Harriette Arnow s The Dollmaker 1954 James Dickey s Deliverance 1970 and Charles Frazier s Cold Mountain 1997 Dear Appalachia moves beyond traditional studies of regional fiction to document the functions of these narratives in the lives of readers revealing not only what people have thought about Appalachia but why

At Home and Abroad La Vinia Delois Jennings, 2010-07-27 Featuring new critical essays by scholars from Europe South America and the United States At Home and Abroad presents a wide ranging look at how whiteness defined in terms of race or ethnicity forms a category toward which people strive in order to gain power and privilege Collectively these pieces treat global spaces whose nation building and identity formation have turned on biological and genealogical exigencies to whiten themselves Drawing upon racialized national practices implemented prior to and during the twentieth century each of the essays enlists literature or performance to reflect the sociopolitical imperatives that secured whiteness in the respective locations they study They range from examinations of whiteness in the literature of Appalachia and contemporary Argentinean poetry to an analysis of performances memorializing the colonial experience in Italy and an exploration into the white rap music of Eminem and contemporary multiracial passing As the contributors show literary and performance representations have the power to chronicle histories that reflect the behaviors and lived realities of our selves Whether whiteness in addition to its physical manifestation presents itself as identity symbol racism culture social formation political imposition legal imposition or pathology it has been outed into the visible even in national spaces where the term whiteness has yet to be translated and entered into the official lexicon The ten essays collected here provide powerful insights into where and how the race for biological and genealogical whiteness persists in various geopolitical realms and the ways in which Nordic whites as well as ethnic whites and nonwhites resecure its ascendance La Vinia Delois Jennings is professor of English at the University of Tennessee Knoxville Her recent critical study Toni Morrison and the Idea of Africa won the 2008 Toni Morrison Society Prize for Best Single Authored Book on the Nobel laureate and Pulitzer Prize winning author Clay's Quilt Silas House,2002 From a new voice in Southern literature comes a heart stirring story of one man s search for family and the people who join him as he shapes a life of his own Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007 ,2008-02 A Parchment of Leaves Silas House,2003 In 1917 a Cherokee woman who leaves her community to marry a white man finds herself isolated and discriminated against as she tries to settle in to her new life By the author of Clay s Quilt NoveList Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2003-04 Library Journal Melvil Dewey,Richard Rogers Bowker,L.
