

Herbal Remedies for Postpartum Wellness

Many herbs have powerful healing properties that are especially useful during the postpartum period. We can use these herbs in teas, in sitz baths, in tonics and infusions, and in salves and ointments.

Here are some simple herbal recipes that you can make ahead of time in large batches and use in your postpartum care. Please consult with your doctor, midwife, or herbalist before using any herbs that are new to you.

Womben's Postpartum Tea

Combine equal parts of the following:

Red raspberry leaf

Nettle

Alfalfa

Oat straw

Red clover

Rose hips (slightly less than other ingredients, due to weight)

Combine ¼ cup herbs in 1 quart water. Place herbs in water and allow to soak 8 hours or overnight. Strain (if not using a mesh bag or tea ball) and enjoy!

Sitz Bath Recipe

A sitz bath combines the healing power of herbs and the gentle soothing properties of warm water. You can buy a special sitz tub online or use a deep tub that allows you to sit comfortably while submerging your bottom and yoni.

Equal parts:

Dried calendula

Dried comfrey

Dried yarrow

Combine herbs in a clean, dry, airtight container for storage. You may want to make a large mixture of dry herbs ahead of time so that you have them on hand in the weeks after birth. When ready to use, steep ½ cup of herbal mixture in 2 quarts of water for at least 30 minutes. Allow herb water to cool until it's comfortable to the touch and then pour into a sitz bath or a small tub that you can comfortably sit in. You can also prepare a stronger infusion and add it to a bathtub of water. You may want to place herbs in a mesh bag or a large tea ball to make clean up easier.
