global Catholicism in the twenty first century Space and Place as a Topic for Public Theologies Thomas Wabel, Katharina Eberlein-Braun, Torben Stamer, 2022 Public theologies reflect on the contextuality of the Christian religion Much of this contextuality is dependent on place place as the culture and the society in which religions are situated place as the position from where a theologian speaks place as the biographical contingencies that shape people's lives Moreover public theologies ask for the contribution of Christian ethics to society thereby shaping the social cultural and religious space to which they belong The contributions in this volume analyse the categories of space and place in order to deepen the understanding of contextuality thereby taking up some of the challenges presented by the so called spatial turn Routledge Handbook of Africa-Asia Relations Pedro Amakasu Raposo, David Arase, Scarlett Cornelissen, 2017-10-30 The Routledge Handbook of Africa Asia Relations is the first handbook aimed at studying the interactions between countries across Africa and Asia in a multi disciplinary and comprehensive way Providing a balanced discussion of historical and on going processes which have both shaped and changed intercontinental relations over time contributors take a thematic approach to examine the ways in which we can conceptualise these two very different yet inextricably linked areas of the world Using comparative examples throughout the chronological sections cover Early colonialist contacts between Africa and Asia Modern Asia Africa interactions through diplomacy political networks and societal connections Africa Asia contemporary relations including increasing economic security and environmental cooperation This handbook grapples with major intellectual questions defines current research and projects future agendas of investigation in the field As such it will be of great interest to students of African and Asian Politics as well as researchers and policymakers interested in Asian and African Studies

Refugees, Prisoners and Camps B. Møller, 2014-12-09 What do refugee and concentration camps prisons terrorist and guerrilla training camps and prisoner of war camps have in common Arguably they have all followed an outside inside model enforcing a dichotomy between perceived desirable and undesirable characteristics This separation is the subject of Møller's multidisciplinary study Immigration Control in a Warming World Johannes Graf Keyserlingk, 2018-08-07 In the course of the twenty first century climate change is projected to significantly increase the already weighty immigration pressures that rich countries in Europe and North America face Estimates vary greatly from 50 to 500 million further migrants until 2050 most of them from developing countries that have contributed little to global warming Meanwhile the willingness of citizens in destination countries to let further foreigners immigrate is unlikely to keep pace with that increase In fact the concern with climate migration is a blurry intricate and pressing one that will turn out to challenge current political and philosophical frameworks It is a blurry one because it will often be impossible to tell whether or to what extent it really was the changing climate that triggered a particular migratory flow rather than say economic social or demographic factors that often interact with the climatic trigger It is an intricate one because although it appears that heavily emitting countries have a particularly strong responsibility toward climate migrants there is little doubt that in times of rising anti immigrant sentiment that moral responsibility cannot be addressed by simply calling for more open borders And it is a pressing one because this latter insight neither absolves us from our obligations toward climate migrants nor will it keep them from moving Immigration Control in a Warming World aims to address these concerns and discusses potential future solutions to the issue of climate migration That such morally appropriate solutions are hardly in sight in today s practice of international politics is a poignant realization and it serves as a starting point for this book s trenchant critique of political inaction and of some philosophical commentators more idealistic perspectives on migration in the 21st Century

Phan,2020-01-13 We are living in the Age of Migration and migration has a profound impact on all aspects of society and on religious institutions While there is significant research on migration in the social sciences little study has been done to understand the impact of migration on Christianity This book investigates this important topic and the ramifications for Christian theology and ethics It begins with anthropological and sociological perspectives on the mutual impact between migration and Christianity followed by a re reading of certain events in the Hebrew Scripture the New Testament and Church history to highlight the central role of migration in the formation of Israel and Christianity Then follow attempts to reinterpret in the light of migration the basic Christian beliefs regarding God Christ and church The next part studies how migration raises new issues for Christian ethics such as human dignity and human rights state rights social justice and solidarity and ecological justice The last part explores what is known as Practical Theology by examining the implications of migration for issues such as liturgy and worship spirituality architecture and education

People on the Move in a Changing Climate Etienne Piguet, Frank Laczko,2013-10-17 Policymakers around the world are increasingly concerned about the likely impact of climate change and environmental degradation on the movement of people This book takes a hard look at the existing evidence available to policymakers in different regions of the world How much do we really know about the impact of environmental change on migration How will different regions of the world be affected in the future Is there evidence to show that migration can help countries adapt to environmental change What types of research have been conducted how reliable is the evidence These are some of the questions considered in this book which presents for the first time a synthesis of relevant research findings for each major region of the world Written by regional experts the book provides a comprehensive overview of the key findings of existing studies on the linkages between environmental change and the movement of people More and more reports on migration and the environment are being published but the information is often scattered between countries and within regions and it is not always clear how much of this information is based on solid research This book brings this evidence together for the first time highlighting innovative studies and research gaps In doing this the book seeks to help decision makers draw lessons from existing studies and to identify priorities for further research

The International Legal Status and Protection of Environmentally-Displaced Persons: A European Perspective Hélène Ragheboom, 2017-07-03 In The International Legal Status and Protection of Environmentally Displaced Persons A European Perspective Hélène Ragheboom addresses the topical issue of displacement caused by environmental factors and analyses in particular whether affected persons who are unable or unwilling to return to their country of origin due to the severe degradation of their living environment could or in the negative should receive some form of international protection within the European Union The author provides a detailed analysis of relevant instruments of refugee law and international human rights law and explores possible future approaches to addressing the phenomenon of environmental displacement ranging from constructive interpretations of existing norms to the allegedly preferable creation of a multidisciplinary sui generis framework
