Climate Change Research Evaluation And Policy Implications:

Climate Change Research S. Zwerver, R.S.A.R. Rompaey, M.T.J. Kok, M.M. Berk, 1995-11-20 Climate change is more and more considered to be a major global environmental risk The above mentioned conference was the concluding part of a new programme organized in The Netherlands with a view to stimulating participation of Dutch scientists in the international research effort concerning the problem of climate change The proceedings of the Maastricht Conference on Climate Change Research cover a wide range of subjects including key note papers of internationally leading scientists on relevant aspects of the climate problem assessments of NRP research on the climate system the causes of potential change in the system the possible effects and consequences of climate change and alternative responses including technological and or social that are considered within the context of sustainable development short papers of the NRP and related projects with final conclusions per project This book will be of value to anyone professionally interested in the various aspects of climate change research and policy Climate Change Research S. Zwerver, 1995 Climate change research : evaluation and policy implications ; proceedings of the International Climate Change Research Conference, Maastricht, The Netherlands, 6 - 9 December 1994. A

(1995) S. Zwerver, 1995 Climate Change Research S. Zwerver, 1995 Climate Change: An Integrated Perspective Pim Martens, J. Rotmans, 2006-04-11 Global climate change rapid substantial and human induced may have radical consequences for life on earth The problem is a complex one however demanding a multi disciplinary approach A simple cost benefit analysis cannot capture the essentials nor can the issue be reduced to an emissions reduction game as the Kyoto process tries to do It is much more sensible to adopt an integrative approach which reveals that global climate change needs to be considered as a spider in a web a triggering factor for a range of other related problems land use changes water supply and demand food supply energy supply human health air pollution etc But an approach like this which takes account of all items of knowledge known and uncertain does not produce clear cut final and popular answers It does provide useful insights however which will allow comprehensive and effective long term climate strategies to be put into effect Climate Change An Integrated Perspective will appeal to a broad spectrum of readers It is a useful source for the climate change professionals such as policy makers and analysts natural and social scientists It is also suitable for educationalists students and indeed anyone interested in the fascinating world of multidisciplinary research underlying our approach to this global change issue

European Geographic Information Infrastructures Peter A. Burroughs, I. Masser, 2003-05-20 Although it is generally accepted that there is a growing demand for multinational and pan European databases there is little available on the problems encountered in different types of multinational geographic information applications nor has there been much discussion of the broader legal and constitutional issues involved at the supranational

The Climate Fix Roger Pielke Jr., 2010-09-28 Why has the world been unable to address global warming Science policy expert Roger Pielke Jr says it is not the fault of those who reject the Kyoto Protocol but those who support it and the magical thinking that the agreement represents In The Climate Fix Pielke offers a way to repair climate policy shifting the debate away from meaningless targets and toward a revolution in how the world's economy is powered while defanging the venomous politics surrounding the crisis The debate on global warming has lost none of its power to polarize and provoke in a haze of partisan vitriol The Climate Fix will bring something new to the discussions a commonsense perspective and practical actions better than any offered so far Merchants of Doubt Naomi Oreskes,Erik M. Conway,2011-05-31 Documents the troubling influence of a small group of scientists who the author contends misrepresent scientific facts to advance key political and economic agendas revealing the interests behind their detractions on findings about acid rain DDT and other hazards Climate Change, Moral Panics and Civilization Amanda Rohloff,2018-07-17 In recent years interest in climate change has rapidly increased in the social sciences and yet there is still relatively little published material in the field that seeks to understand the development of climate change as a perceived social problem This book contributes to filling this gap by theoretically linking the study of the historical development of social perceptions about nature and climate change with the figurational sociology of Norbert Elias and the study of moral panics By focusing sociological theory on climate change this book situates the issue within the broader context of the development of ecological civilizing processes and comes to conceive of contemporary campaigns surrounding climate change as instances of moral panics civilizing offensives with both civilizing and decivilizing effects In the process the author not only proposes a new approach to moral panics research but makes a fundamental contribution to the development of figuration sociology and the understanding of how climate change has developed as a social problem with significant implications regarding how to improve the efficacy of climate change campaigns This highly innovative study should be of interest to students and researchers working in the fields of sociology environment and sustainability media studies and political science The Potential Effects of Global Climate Change on the United States United States. Environmental Protection Agency,1989 USDA Forest Service Global Change Research Program Highlights, 1991-95 ,1997 Indigenous Knowledge for Climate Change Assessment and Adaptation Douglas Nakashima,Igor Krupnik,Jennifer T. Rubis,2018-10-04 This unique transdisciplinary publication is the result of collaboration between UNESCO s Local and Indigenous Knowledge Systems LINKS programme the United Nations University s Traditional Knowledge Initiative the IPCC and other organisations Chapters written by indigenous peoples scientists and development experts provide insight into how diverse societies observe and adapt to changing environments A broad range of case studies illustrate how these societies building upon traditional knowledge handed down through generations are already developing their own solutions for dealing with a rapidly changing climate and how this might be useful on a global scale Of interest to policy makers social and natural scientists and indigenous peoples and experts this book provides an indispensable reference for those interested in climate science policy and adaptation U.S. Global Change Research Program United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science, Space, and Technology. Subcommittee on Environment,1992 Acid Atmospheric Deposition and its Effects on Terrestrial Ecosystems in The Netherlands G.J. Heij,J.W. Erisman,1997-05-09 The book begins with an overview of the research topics which were addressed in the three different phases of the Dutch Priority Program on Acidification DPPA executed between 1985 and 1994 This chapter is followed by a chapter which deals with the emissions of acidifying substances the concentrations and the deposition to forest and nature conservation areas Prognoses are given for the acid deposition in 2000 and 2010 the deposition in the countries surrounding the Netherlands is also mentioned The differences in the results of the DPPA II are analysed The third chapter deals with the effects of exposure and load on forests The chapter moves from small scale to large scale first the effects in laboratory scale studies are described then the effects in the field both at stand level and on a regional scale In addition the critical thresholds critical level of concentration and critical load of deposition are discussed The fourth chapter covers terrestrial ecosystems or parts thereof as well as weakly buffered surface waters springs and other streams Critical levels and loads are also discussed The most important results are given in chapter 5 In the appendices of the book so called umbrella theme reports on deposition stand modelling and effects on forests are presented which describe in more detail the scientific work performed in the third phase of the DPPA This book will be of interest to anyone involved in research related to acidification and eutrophication i e not only those who perform the research in the causal chain from emissions to effects but also policy makers and students
