

Climate Cultures

The background image is a composite illustration. It depicts a flooded urban landscape. In the foreground, two large, white, stylized statues of people sitting on a ledge are partially submerged in water. Behind them, a large, classical-style building with columns is partially underwater. To the left, a city dome, resembling the U.S. Capitol, is visible in the distance. Several small figures of people are on a boat in the middle ground. The sky is overcast with a bright light source, possibly the sun, creating a lens flare effect.
