host of fresh insights about the influences that shaped the man      Sweden and National Liberation in Southern Africa Tor Sellström, 1999 In 1969 the Swedish parliament endorsed a policy of direct assistance to the liberation movements in Southern Africa Sweden thus became the first Western country to enter into a relationship with organizations that elsewhere in the West were shunned as Communist or terrorist This book the first in a two volume study on Sweden the regional struggles for majority rule national independence traces the background to the relationship Presenting the actors factors behind the support to MPLA of Angola FRELIMO of Mozambique SWAPO of Namibia ZANU ZAPU of Zimbabwe ANC of South Africa it addresses the question why Sweden established close relations with the very movements that eventually would assume state power in their respective countries The second volume later this year will discuss how the support was expressed covering the period from 1970 until the democratic elections in South Africa in 1994      British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa Matthew P. Llewellyn, Toby C. Rider, 2024-11-25 The transnational anti apartheid sport boycott of South Africa represented the most prominent extended and controversial anti racism campaign in the history of sport Spearheaded by prominent British religious and anti colonial figures and exiled South Africans emboldened by communist and Global South support and legitimised by supranational political bodies such as the United Nations the Organisation of African Unity and the Commonwealth the sport boycott helped propel anti apartheid out of relative obscurity and struck at the very heart of a cultural practice that served an explicitly ideological function in Afrikaner society Britain held a dichotomous even paradoxical role as both prosecutor and defender of white South Africa This book utilises sport as a critical lens for understanding the dynamics and dichotomies of British attitudes towards the apartheid regime Debates over whether to continue or to cut sporting links with apartheid South Africa proved bitterly divisive The considerable weight the subject carried and the degree to which it saturated British political and social discourse for four decades speaks to its impact and importance British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa represents the first archival based historical examination of Britain's sporting relations with South Africa throughout the apartheid era 1948 1994 Situating the analysis within the shifting multiracial and multicultural landscapes of postcolonial Britain and within global political cultural sporting and ideological debates the authors trace the origins and evolution of the transnational sport boycott and examine what inspired Britons to energise anti apartheid sport campaigns and in contrast what drove many others to vehemently oppose them at every turn      Deadlines Mike Curtis, 2017-08-15 A book about life and death stories and skies An engaging memoir of being a local news reporter in an era before mobile phones and social media Also the story of one crew of a WW2 Bomber and the night it was shot down Colin Curtis failed to return from his third mission in 1942 His Wellington bomber was shot down over the North Sea The aircraft and the six man crew have never been found There was no search no inquiry no inquest no funeral and no grave A photograph of the 22 year old wartime pilot who was training to be a teacher helped inspire a life long love of aviation in the nephew he never met Over the years Mike Curtis unpicked the short life of his uncle his brief time in the RAF

and his final few hours alive The project prompted him to revisit his own youth as a young reporter in newspapers and BBC local radio living a life that war denied to his father's brother As well as the trawl of local news in places like Lincolnshire Cornwall and Oxford Mike Curtis witnessed air crashes flew in fast jets and was on both sides of the fence at Greenham Common This is an evocative memoir of a time when typewriters clattered in smoky newsrooms and razor blades were used to edit radio interviews It is an affectionate look back at local journalism with national exclusives protests and tragedies to report mishaps to manage and deadlines to be met Snapshots of stories about family famous airfields and airshows Cold War jets comedians entertainers footballers musicians Royalty press magnates pilots politicians heroic seamen ghosts racehorse trainers and exotic dancers share the pages with poignant tales of young lives shaped by war among them the crews of Bomber Command who were shot out of the night sky by deadly lines of machine gun fire

Amnesty International and Human Rights Activism in Postwar Britain, 1945-1977 Tom Buchanan, 2020-04-30 Demonstrates how activists worked together during the post war decades to transform public attitudes towards violations of human rights

Reading Bibles, Writing Bodies Timothy K. Beal, David Gunn, 2002-06 The Bible is often said to be one of the foundation texts of Western culture The present volume shows that it goes far beyond being a religious text The essays explore how religious political and cultural identities including ethnicity and gender are embodied in biblical discourse Following the authors we read the Bible with new eyes as a critic of gender ideology politics and culture We ask ourselves new questions about God's body about women's role about racial prejudices and about the politics of the written word Reading Bibles Writing Bodies crosses boundaries It questions our most fundamental assumptions about the Bible It shows how biblical studies can benefit from the mainstream of Western intellectual discourse throwing up entirely new questions and offering surprising answers Accessible engaging and moving easily between theory and the reading of specific texts this volume is an exciting contribution to contemporary biblical and cultural studies

Patterns of Harassment in African Journalism Lungile Augustine Tshuma, Trust Matsilele, Mbongeni Jonny Msimanga, Sadia Jamil, 2024-06-14 This volume examines the trends and patterns of journalists harassment in Africa and assesses the policy interventions and protection mechanisms that are put into place in the region Drawing from case studies from selected African countries an international team of authors offer a broad insight into the state of harassment across the continent while building new theoretical perspectives that are also context specific The chapters bring previous theories and research up to date by addressing the continual change and development of new discourses including the use of big data and artificial intelligence in harassing and intimidating journalists and mental health issues affecting journalists in their line of duty More so the authors argue that the state and form of harassment is not universal as location and context are some of the key factors that influence the form and character of harassment Offering new theoretical insights into the scope of journalism practices in Africa this book will interest students and scholars of journalism African studies political science media and communication studies journalism practice and gender studies

The Oxford History of Anglicanism Anthony Milton, Jeremy Gregory, Rowan Strong, Jeremy Morris, William L. Sachs, 2017

The Oxford History of Anglicanism is a major new and unprecedented international study of the identity and historical influence of one of the world's largest versions of Christianity. This global study of Anglicanism from the sixteenth century looks at how Anglican identity was constructed and contested at various periods since the sixteenth century and what was its historical influence during the past six centuries. It explores not just the ecclesiastical and theological aspects of global Anglicanism but also the political, social, economic, and cultural influences of this form of Christianity that has been historically significant in western culture and a burgeoning force in non-western societies today. The chapters are written by international experts in their various historical fields, which includes the most recent research in their areas as well as original research. The series forms an invaluable reference for both scholars and interested non-specialists.

Volume four of The Oxford History of Anglicanism explores Anglicanism in the twentieth century. It examines the history of Anglicanism in North America, Britain and Ireland, and Australasia. A historiographical introduction provides insight into changing historical interpretation. The volume explores perspectives on secularization, decolonization, mission, and the theological identity of Anglicanism. It highlights the global communion's movement away from an Anglo-centric leadership and a British imperial legacy towards greater diversity and greater influence for the global south. Ten themed chapters open up complementary aspects of the history of Western Anglicanism, including theological development, social justice, women, human sexuality, ecumenical relations, mission and decolonization, war and peace, liturgical revision, sociological analysis, and the relationship of the church, state, and nationalism. A further section on institutional development looks at the history of communion-wide institutions in the twentieth century and at changing ideas of Anglican identity. Later chapters survey the regional history of Western Anglicanism in three substantial chapters examining extensively Australia and New Zealand, North America, and the British Isles.
