Climate Change - Arie S. Issar, Mattanyah Zohar, 2007-06-10 This survey of the ancient levels of lakes rivers and the sea as well as changes in the compositions of stalagmites and sediments reveals an astonishing correlation of climate changes with the emergence and collapse of civilizations in the Middle East The authors conclude that climate change has been the decisive factor in the history surrounding the origins of the cradle of civilization

Climate Change - Environment and Civilization in the Middle East Arie S. Issar, Mattanyah Zohar, 2013-04-17 We live in an early stage of an interglacial period which began some fifteen thousand years ago a warming trend which with the extreme ups and downs is still gaining momentum There is little doubt that sometime in the foreseeable future the global climate will inexorably become much warmer and many regions such as the Near East will become much drier We even accelerate this process by recklessly pumping carbon dioxide from fossil fuels into the atmosphere And if that is not enough industrial agricultural and disease ridden human waste unfit for consumption will increasingly pollute the diminishing few remaining water resources By now we fully realize the disastrous consequences of what we do and yet go on doing it So what about the Intelligence of the Homo sapiens about which we read in our books Obviously one of the qualities of intelligence is the capacity to forecast the future on the basis of past experience Since writing was invented and important or mundane matters were recorded in our region many stories about disasters emerging either from shortage or superabundance of water are found The one as well as the other often decided the fate of ancient peoples The inherent historical understanding of the crucial role of water in the fate and thus faith of the human societies faded out when it moved from the semi arid western part of Asia to humid Europe

Climate Change in the Middle East and North Africa William R. Thompson, Leila Zakhirova, 2021-07-04

Environmental factors in the Middle East and North Africa MENA have played a crucial role in the historical and social development of the region The book delves into a broad set of historical literature from the past 15 000 years that neglected to consider environmental factors to their full effect Beyond the broad historic analysis the chapters derive conclusions for today's debate on whether climate change leads to more social conflict and violence Introducing a theoretical framework focused on adaptive cycling this book probes and refines the role of climate in ancient and modern political economic systems in the MENA region It also underscores just how bad the 21st century environment may become thanks to global warming While the MENA region may not survive the latest onslaught of deteriorating climate there is also some interest in how a region that once led the world in introducing all sorts of innovations thousands of years ago has evolved into a contemporary setting characterized by traditional conservatism poverty and incessant strife Emphasizing regional dynamics the book's central question deals with the role of climate change in the rise and decline of the MENA region The book will be a key resource to students and readers interested in global warming including academics and policymakers

Chourou,Czeslaw Mesjasz,Heinz Krummenacher,2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on c mate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world
