Pilgrims of the Vertical Joseph E. Born to Climb Zofia Reyck, 2022-06-16 Climbing is one of the world's fastest growing sports exciting addictive and arguably much more fun than going to the gym In 2021 it made its long awaited Olympic debut but its journey to Tokyo has been anything but traditional And the traditionalists would argue that it's not even a sport at all In Born to Climb anthropologist and climber Zofia Reyck shares with us the fascinating cultural history of rock and competition climbing Zofia offers a fresh perspective on some of the pivotal moments and outstanding individuals of the sport from eighteenth century exploratory forays on rock via the rise of climbing legends such as Emilio Comici Wolfgang G. While the writing is engaging and often funny Zofia is not afraid to broach sensitive and often overlooked topics including gender divide capitalism and the tension between aesthetic and athletic approaches to climbing in what is a must read for all climbers

William Bill Katra describes himself as not a great climber but a persistent one. In his memoir the author details his climbs in vivid detail describing some of the world's most popular routes while emphasizing that scenic beauty is as important to a hike as technical difficulty. From his early partner belayed adventures to his more recent unassisted solo scamper climbs, Bill's techniques have evolved but his love for the experience remains steadfast. Within recent years Bill has again summited a few climbs from his younger days, often reflecting on where senior climbers fit in the sport's changing social and environmental landscape. This memoir is a relatable and nostalgic account of a life well spent in nature as the author muses on his long past adventures enriched and nurtured by the wisdom of the present.

All and Nothing Jeff Smoot, 2022-08-25 an excellent resource for anyone interested in the history and psychology of free soloing. Steve Potter Climbing Magazine An insider's perspective on free soloing. From the author of the critically acclaimed Hangdog Days Examines what motivates people to climb without a rope. Once considered a fringe activity, climbing without a rope has entered the mainstream consciousness largely because of the Oscar-winning documentary Free Solo featuring professional climber Alex Honnold. Yet climbers have been free soloing all along, motivated by reasons as varied as the climbers themselves. All and Nothing delves into the cultural history of free soloing ranging across the storied climbing cultures of the Alps, Rocky Mountains, Sierra Nevada, Joshua Tree, Yosemite, the Gunks, Eldorado Canyon, and several other locales. Writer and climber Jeff Smoot explores the interplay of climbing and risk as well as psychological theories, evolving ethics, the effect of media coverage, particularly the portrayal of extreme sports, and shares original interviews with dozens of free soloists. Smoot also recounts his personal experiences climbing without a rope in the same era as talented climbers like Mark Twight and Peter Croft. From inside his complex connection to free soloing, he examines our relationship with risk, how we perceive our sense of control, and our perspective on mortality.

Sportswomen in Cinema Nicholas Chare, 2015-03-17 Sportswomen in Cinema considers both documentary and fiction films from a variety of periods and cultures by directors including Kathryn Bigelow, Gurinder Chadha, Im Soon-rye, George Kukor, Ida Lupino, and Leni Riefenstahl. Drawing from psychoanalytic and phenomenological theories, the book presents a series of landmark close readings of films featuring a variety of different forms of athletic activity, including baseball, basketball, bodybuilding, boxing, climbing, football, roller derby, surfing, tennis, and track and field. In focusing on themes such as gesture, screen space, and sound, it moves beyond a purely narrative analysis of sports films. What's more, as well as building on existing scholarship in sports studies, to argue that sport should always be conceived of as more than simply competitive, the book also contributes to ongoing efforts in film theory to foster new feminist discourses on sexual difference. The ideas of thinkers such as Judith Butler, Bracha Ettinger, Griselda Pollock, and Michel Serres are employed to explore how films featuring female athletes reflect changing perspectives on femininity and sexuality and also potentially contribute to transforming our perceptions about sportswomen and cinema. Sportswomen in Cinema is an important addition to the literature of film studies, gender studies, and sports studies.
