

Criminological Theory Summaries

Theory	Main Points	Theorists/Researchers
Classical	Crime occurs when the benefits outweigh the costs—when people pursue self-interest in the absence of effective punishments. Crime is a free-willed choice. See also deterrence, rational choice.	Beccaria
Positivist	Crime is caused or determined. Lombroso placed more emphasis on biological deficiencies, whereas later scholars would emphasize psychological and sociological factors. Use science to determine the factors associated with crime.	Lombroso Guerry Quetelet
Individual Trait	Criminals differ from noncriminals on a number of biological and psychological traits. These traits cause crime in interaction with the social environment.	Glueck & Glueck Mednick Caspi Moffitt
Social Disorganization	Disorganized communities cause crime because informal social controls break down and criminal cultures emerge. They lack collective efficacy to fight crime and disorder.	Shaw & McKay Sampson Bursik & Grasmick
Differential Association Social Learning Subcultural	Crime is learned through associations with criminal definitions. These definitions might be generally approving of criminal conduct or be neutralizations that justify crime only under certain circumstances. Interacting with antisocial peers is a major cause of crime. Criminal behavior will be repeated and become chronic if reinforced. When criminal subcultures exist, then many individuals can learn to commit crime in one location and crime rates—including violence—may become very high.	Sutherland & Cressey Sykes & Matza Akers Wolfgang & Ferracuti Anderson
Anomic Institutional-Anomic	The gap between the American Dream's goal of economic success and the opportunity to obtain this goal creates structural strain. Norms weaken and 'anomic' ensues, thus creating high crime rates. When other social institutions (such as the family) are weak to begin with or also weakened by the American Dream, the economic institution is dominant. When such an institutional imbalance exists—as in the United States—then crime rates are very high.	Merton Messner & Rosenfeld
