Stretching the Federation Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 1999 There are strong movements in Canada to decentralize the design and delivery of many programs and to clarify federal and provincial responsibilities This book presents contributions from practitioners and observers of this trend

Rethinking Subnational Taxes Mr. Richard Miller Bird, 1999-12-01 The assignment of revenues in most developing and transitional countries to the central government has arguably facilitated irresponsible behavior by some subnational governments One way to relieve this problem is to strengthen subnational tax regimes The paper proposes two approaches to accomplish such strengthening in developing countries The first most applicable to large countries with important regional governments is to establish subnational value added taxes VATs the second is to replace the various unsatisfactory state and local taxes imposed on business by a low rate value added tax levied on the basis of income production origin rather than consumption destination

Canadian Tax Papers, 1982

Toward a New Mission Statement for Canadian Fiscal Federalism Harvey Lazar, 2000 Canada State of the Federation 1999-2000 identifies and explains major threads in Canadian fiscal federalism Set against the cacophony over domineering and arrogant centralization from supporters of Quebec sovereignty session on the one hand and fears that excessive decentralization is fuelling an obsessively neo liberal agenda on the other these essays replace much of this heat with new light The authors begin with an examination of recent developments in the theoretical literature surrounding fiscal federalism They then examine some of the major issues facing the federation Is there a vertical imbalance between federal and provincial governments Does Ottawa collect more revenues than are needed relative to its spending responsibilities while the provinces are under funded How do federal provincial struggles over money and jurisdictional power affect local government or the para public sector emerging aboriginal governments and citizens Federal government actions in 1999 suggest that Ottawa has not lost all of its interest in social outcomes It is however seeking to influence the well being of citizens by transferring money to them directly rather than through transfers to provinces The authors suggest that if this trend continues the approach to the millennium will be seen as a watershed in public policy given that current trends in Canadian fiscal federalism are as much about re balancing the federation as they are about decentralization
