Cpi Trial Manual:

Trial Manual, 1993 Research Handbook on International Criminal Law Bartram S. Brown, 2011-01-01 This timely valuable and thought provoking contribution to our understanding of the vibrant new subject that is international criminal law is a great addition to the literature and to our understanding Professor Bart Brown deserves real appreciation for bringing it together Philippe Sands QC University College London and Matrix Chambers UK The Research Handbook is a comprehensive up to date guide to one of the youngest yet most dynamic areas of international law It tackles the pertinent challenges and opportunities starting with the classical issues like categories of international crimes and complementarity going on to address the problems ahead including the Guant namo regime crimes against women and the status of private security contractors The Handbook will be a valuable source for both general and advanced international criminal law research James Crawford Cambridge University UK This carefully regarded and well structured handbook covers the broad range of norms practices policies processes and institutional mechanisms of international criminal law exploring how they operate and continue to develop in a variety of contexts Leading scholars in the field and experienced practitioners have brought together their expertise and perspectives in a clear and concise fashion to create an authoritative resource which will be useful and accessible even to those without legal training The Research Handbook on International Criminal Law will appeal to practitioners who may want to defend or prosecute international criminal law cases and academics researching and writing on international criminal law Graduate students studying international criminal law international human rights or international humanitarian law as well as those studying international justice international politics international organization or public policy analysis will also find this book invaluable Treatise on International Criminal Law Kai Ambos, 2021 This is the first volume of an authoritative three volume treatise on international criminal law The text provides comprehensive treatment of issues relevant to the foundations general part of international criminal law and general principles of international criminal justice The Public Defender Service of the District of Columbia: Training materials, 1980

Participation in Crime Falling within the Subject-Matter Jurisdiction of the International Criminal Court Aleksandra Nieprzecka, 2024-06-18 This book centres on the forms of participation in crime set out in the Rome Statute but it is definitely not a simple repetition or summary of the views expressed in the ICC case law Instead the work critically elaborates on the ICC practice and presents a theoretical and dogmatic description of modes of criminal responsibility that might be found in the Statute The element of novelty is however brought about by the methodology which encompasses a normative analysis based on the distinction between the categories of sanctioned and sanctioning norms initially introduced by K Binding in the German doctrine but for the purposes of this book adjusted to the structure of international core crimes and reconciling them with the grounds for criminal responsibility as such Moreover the work does not avoid bold assertions concerning the norms of participation in crime concerning inter alia the concept of spectator or public approval and or direct incitement to genocide This approach should be of particular interest to those who are under the impression that international criminal law is entangled in a multiplicity of labels and the judicial practice sometimes adopts the same requirements without any further thought or analysis The book aims to trigger a broader debate on the merits and rationale of participation in crime and encourages readers to rethink some of the concepts developed within judicial practice The work also takes into consideration the ICC case law in particular some tendencies that might be inferred from the separate and concurring opinions in the Ntaganda case All in all it endeavours to reflect on the content of Article 25 3 and 28 of the Rome Statute and provide an answer on how ICC practice might and perhaps should evolve further Aleksandra Nieprzecka Ph D is a member of the Polish Bar Association in Krak w and worked as a principal researcher in the project concerning the model of participation in crime adopted in the Rome Statute carried out at the Jagiellonian University in Krak w where she finished her doctoral studies according to the co tutelle agreement between the Jagiellonian University in Krak w and the University of Hamburg process standards embraced by the five contemporary international criminal tribunals the author draws conclusions about how the right to a fair trial should be interpreted in international criminal law This volume addresses key conceptual questions on fairness including should international criminal tribunals set the highest standards of fairness or is it sufficient for their practice to be just fair enough To whom does the right to a fair trial attach and can actors such as the prosecution and victims be accurately said to benefit from that right Does fairness require the full realization of a number of guarantees owed to the accused under the statutory frameworks of international criminal tribunals or should we instead be concerned with the fairness of the trial as a whole What is the interplay between domestic and international courts on questions of procedural fairness What are the elements of fairness in international criminal proceedings And what remedies are available for breaches of fair trial rights Through an in depth exploration of the right to a fair trial the author concludes that international criminal tribunals have a role in setting the highest standards of due process protection in their procedures and that in so doing they can have a positive impact on domestic justice systems
